JUSTICE BARS COURT DOORS IN VANDERBILT SUIT

Maid's Story Ends Public Hearing.

New York, Oct. 2.—[Special.]—After a French maid had testified today concerning the friendship of Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt and Lady Milford-Haven, Justice Joseph Carew barred reporters and spectators from the courtroom and continued the taking of evidence in private.

The issue at stake is the moral fitness of Mrs. Vanderbilt to bring up her 10 year old daughter, who was recently taken into custody by her aunt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney.

The maid, Marie Caillot, told of five years in Mrs. Vanderbilt's services, during which she observed that her mistress either stayed out late at night or gave all night parties at home, after which she slept late next day and left her child entirely to the nurse.

Tells of Champagne Parties.

The maid remembered Mrs. Vanderbilt's rising on occasion at 6 o'clock in the evening and having champagne served in her bedroom, which she shared occasionally with "a man." She could tell nothing more because it was the butler who poured the champagne.

At the outset, the maid declared she had never discussed the case with anybody; that she had simply received a subpena by mail at her new place of employment on Park avenue, and had come to court in a taxicab, paying her own fare. She said no one was going to repay her and that she expected nothing for testifying.

Nathan Burkan, attorney for Mrs. Vanderbilt, eventually forced the maid to admit, however, that she had gone to the office of Herbert C. Smyth, Mrs. Whitney's lawyer, last Saturday in response to a telephone call, and had rehersed her story.

Mr. Burkan next explored the testimony the maid had already given about Mrs. Vanderbilt's preference for European society rather than American and was told "there was something funny" about her friendship for Lady Milford-Haven, daughter of the late czar's cousin, Grand Duke Michael Michaelovitch and wife of the grandson of Queen Victoria, a cousin to the present king.

Asks Reason for Hurry.

The name of Lady Milford-Haven had been brought into the maid's direct testimony by Mr. Smyth's questions concerning the reason why Mrs. Vanderbilt had been in such a hurry to get back to Europe in 1932, after a hurried trip to America when Gloria was in a hospital for an operation.

"We want to know why a mother left a sick child in New York," said Justice Carew. "Can you tell?"

The maid said she could not, but proceeded to tell how they had rushed back to England to stay with Lady Milford-Haven at Maidenhead, and how she had accompanied Mrs. Vanderbilt to Cannes, where they stayed at the Hotel Miramar.

Mr. Burkan then took the matter under corss-examination.

Q.—Did you ever see Lady Milford-Haven drunk? A.—No, sir.

Q.—Was Mrs. Vanderbilt running about with people there? A.—Yes, with Lady Milford-Haven.

Tells of Strange Scene.

Q.—No, I don't mean that; I mean with men. A.—Well, I saw her go out with Lady Milford-Haven.

Q.—You saw nothing improper there?

The witness took a long time as if reflecting on the words she was going to use and then replied: "I remember something very funny."

Q.—What was it? A.—I came into Mrs. Vanderbilt's room to bring her clothes. She was sitting in the bed with her negligee on and Lady Milford-Haven was sitting there, too, kissing her.

Q.—How would you say she was kissing her? [Mr. Burkan's tone was ironic.] Would you say it was like a lover? A.—Yes, I would.

The courtroom was silent for a moment. Mr. Burkan himself seemed to require a few moments to digest the answer. Then he continued:

Q.—Did that change your opinion of Lady Milford-Haven, that she was a nice, lovely lady as you have told us? A.—Well, she was nice to me.

Q.—Did you tell anybody about this

48,000 WILL SEE CARDS AND TIGERS BATTLE TODAY

The opening game of the world series will be played in Detroit today before a crowd of 48,000. Frankie Frisch, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, and Mickey Cochrane of the Detroit Tigers had not decided yesterday who would be their pitchers.

Jerome [Dizzy] Dean hopes to be nominated by the Cardinals, although he was overworked in the last week of the National league pennant race. If he is not chosen, Bill Hallahan might be selected.

Either Alvin Crowder or Lynwood [Schoolboy] Rowe will be the Detroit starting pitcher, it is expected. If the Cardinals use J. Dean, it will be Crowder for Detroit, but if Hallahan starts, Rowe probably will be called on to work for Detroit.

MOTHER TELLS TRAGEDY GIRL'S LAST DAY ALIVE

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—A story told some thirty years ago in Herkimer county, N. Y., and resurrected in a story called "An American Tragedy" is being told again in the Luzerne county courthouse here. Only the locale and the personalities have changed.

Here is a 21 year old boy on trial for his life for the murder of a childhood sweetheart who, according to the state, stood between him and marriage with a girl a rung higher on the social ladder.

Robert Allen Edwards, a young man with jutting chin, deep set eyes and hair as black as the anthracite his family has mined for generations, is the youth on trial. He is accused of blackjacking Freda McKechnie in Harvey's lake and leaving her there to drown last July 30, a few days after she learned from a doctor that she was about to become a mother.

Girl's Mother on Stand.

To prove his thesis that Edwards wished to be rid of this girl so he might marry Miss Margaret Crain, a music teacher of East Aurora, N. Y., whom he had met at Teachers' college in Mansfield, Pa., District Attorney Thomas M. Lewis, today called twenty-two witnesses, among them the victim's mother, to the stand before Judge W. A. Valentine and a jury of working men. Moments of melodrama impinged upon testimony dealing with the humdrum, homely details of life in the little mining community of Edwardsville, across the Susquehanna river.

Throughout the day the young defendant showed no emotion and sat quietly, although tensely attentive to every word that was uttered against him. Behind him sat his father, paymaster in the mine of the Kingston Coal company, where the son worked as an assistant to the surveyor. Another row behind sat the parents of the slain girl, Mr. and Mrs. George McKechnie.

McKechnie, a foreman in the mine where Edwards and his father, an American of Welsh descent, were employed, is of Scottish descent. He sat in dour silence until toward the end of the day, when descriptions of the discovery of his daughter's body in Harvey's lake caused his wife to break into tears. He put his arm around her and whispered comforting words in her ear, glaring intermittently at the back of the defendant's head.

Grief Overcomes Her.

Finally, however, his wife's grief overcame her as the dress her daughter wore on the night she was killed, the red pocketbook Edwards had given her for Easter, and the blood stained bathing cap she had worn were put in evidence with the new dresses the state implies she bought for her trousseau. Then the white haired man, his lips compressed into a thin, straight line, helped her from the courtroom.

Three phases of the tragedy were presented to the jurors. The first was the courtship between Edwards and Freda McKechnie, described by relatives and friends. The second consisted of observations of witnesses on the behavior of the couple on their last night together. The third had to do with the discovery of the body the day after the slain girl's disappearance, by a 15 year old girl and two boy companions.

Mrs. McKechnie, her married daughter, Mrs. Robert Patton Jr., Mrs. Helen Goeringer and Rosetta Culver, friends of the slain girl, aided by doctors U. G. Bickel of White Haven and E. L. Meyers of Wilkes-Barre, supplied the first phase of the tragic story. Mrs. McKechnie, sad-faced and pale in her black dress and silver fox scarf was the first witness called to the stand.

Tells of Long Friendship.

She told of the friendship which had existed between her family and the Edwardses, whose property adjoined theirs in Edwardsville, a suburb of Wilkes-Barre.

Until he went away to Teachers' college, Mrs. McKechnie said, "Bobby" was back and forth between his house and hers all the time. The first year he was away, she said, he and Freda corresponded regularly. The second year, it seemed to her, the budding romance "just dwindled way."

Then when young Edwards came home after two years it blossomed again and he was spending four or five nights a week "just sitting" in her parlor with an occasional trip to the movies with Freda.

Last Christmas Edwards gave Freda a set of lingerie clasps, Mrs. McKechnie said. For an Easter gift he

THE WORRIED BUSINESS MAN

City Employes to Be Paid in Full by Nov. 1

Mayor Kelly announced last night that by Nov. 1 the salaries of city employés would be brought up to date for the first time in four years and that henceforth the pay checks would be distributed on a regular schedule. The restoration of the city's credit through rigid economies, the mayor declared, has resulted in the end of payless pay days for policemen, firemen and other workers.

When the mayor went into office on April 13, 1933, the salaries of city employés were five and a half months in arrears. It was recalled also that at that time the teachers were owed nine and a half months' back pay. The school workers have been paid up to date by the $22,300,000 loan obtained by Mayor Kelly from the Federal Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Plans Sale of Tax Warants.

Mayor Kelly made his announcement after a conference with City Controler Upham. The mayor said the $12,000,000 required to finance the pay rolls up to Jan. 1 would be obtained by selling 1934 corporate fund tax warants.

With heavy debts and with city funds tied up in tax warants or otherwise earmarked, there are only two sources of cash to look to for the pay rolls. They are the sale of additional warants and collection of miscellaneous revenue. A statement by Controler Upham sets forth the funds that will be made available for salaries as follows:

Unsold 1934 warants	$10,292,000
Miscellaneous receipts	1,310,000
Foreign fire insurance tax	275,000
Cash on hand, Sept. 28	223,000
Total	$12,100,000

The program mapped out by the mayor and controler starts with a pay day tomorrow for the first two weeks of September and a pay day next week for the last two weeks of September.

In order to have the city budget ready for adoption by the council early in January, thus making 1935 tax warants available for financing pay rolls, Mayor Kelly has already called for estimates of proposed expenditures and contemplated revenue from the department heads.

G.O.P. Club Votes Boycott of Blue Eagle Businesses

Waynesboro, Va., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Expressing "deep disapproval" of both the NRA and the AAA, the Waynesboro Industrial Employés Republican club today voted to boycott, so far as feasible, all business houses displaying the Blue Eagle or adhering to NRA code prices.

FISH SHATTERS GLASS IN AQUARIUM; FLEES ACROSS FLOOR, HIDES

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 2.—(AP)—A Brazilian running fish ran right through the glass side of its aquarium in Horticultural hall today, dropped six feet to the floor, and ran 75 feet more to a hidden corner.

After a frantic two hour search, Fairmount park guards and the owner of the fish, Franklin Barrett, found it still alive but panting for water.

The finny native of the Amazon river is a rare specimen, six inches long and resembles a catfish. It was on display with 150 other rare species in the Golden Tropical Fish society's annual show.

POLITE ROBBERS TAKE WOMAN'S CAR, GAS MONEY

If their manners were a criterion, the robbers who took the automobile of Mrs. Rosella Hancock of the Belmont hotel last night are gentlemen.

Mrs. Hancock was parking the car near the hotel when the bandits opened the door and stepped in. One said he was sorry, but that they needed the automobile. When Mrs. Hancock suggested that they release her and take the car the offer was refused, but she was assured she would not be harmed.

Her captors drove only a few blocks before letting her out. They asked her to let them have some money to buy gasoline with. Mrs. Hancock handed over $2.50, but retained her purse, which contained $30 and her jewelry.

The kindliness record of the robbers was somewhat marred by the fact that a half hour later they entered the delicatessen store of Mrs. Jean Cameron at 6040 West North avenue and at the point of a pistol compelled her to surrender $10.

Day of Gabby Barber Is Past, Convention Told

The garrulous barber is passe and the artist-scientist who has taken his place should be too busy professionally to talk his customer to sleep. This was the view expressed yesterday by Henry J. Walker of Lincoln, Neb., secretary-treasurer of the National Association of Barber Boards, which met in convention in the Palmer house. Members of the examining boards of the forty-one states having barbers' license laws are attending the sessions, held to raise the standards of barber colleges.

King Fuad of Egypt Calls Off Throne Celebration

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 2.—(AP)—King Fuad, who recently suffered a touch of influenza, today canceled his usual receptions scheduled for Oct. 9, the anniversary of his accession. The reason, unstated, was assumed to be the condition of his health.

Strange Alias Solves Murder; Three Confess

Robert Evans, colored, 21 years old, 19 East 37th street, adopted the alias Arthur Cohn last Friday. The incongruity of this name for a Negro aroused suspicion and set marching a train of events that resulted last night in confessions by Evans and two other Negroes, that they slugged and killed Police Lieutenant James F. Day, 71 years old, on Sept. 20.

The others who confessed are William Randolph, 21 years old, 222 East 35th street, and Matina Johnson, 22 years old, 1032 North 8th street, Milwaukee. After the three made their admissions at the Gresham station they were taken to the scene of the killing, at 85th and Green streets, to re-enact the crime. Randolph and Johnson showed how Evans had struck the elderly lieutenant on the head with a rubber hose loaded with iron.

Robs Body; Divides Loot.

From Lieut. Day, who was on his way to work at the Gresham station when he was attacked, the Negroes took $25. Johnson, who made the search of his pockets, kept $11 of this and gave his companions $7 each. The body of the lieutenant was left on a prairie, only a short distance from Gresham station, and it was found several hours later when the police made a search.

Evans' error in picking an alias was made after he had driven a stolen car against another automobile at 46th street and Lake Park avenue. To the second driver he showed a card bearing the name Arthur Cohn, which he had taken in a robbery. The suspicion caused the driver to follow the Evans car to 31st and Dearborn streets and then to notify the Stanton avenue police.

Arrests Solve Murder.

Policeman John Williams found Evans and Johnson in the stolen car and arrested them. They implicated Randolph in the theft of the car. Later the three were viewed by witnesses who said they resembled men who had been in the vicinity of Green and 85th streets the night Lieut. Day was killed.

Questioning by Assistant State's Attorney John S. Boyle, Capt. William O'Brien, and Lieut. Otto Erlanson brought from Randolph a confession that he drove the stolen car and that he looked on while Evans and Johnson killed and robbed Lieut. Day. The others finally joined in the confession.

The day after the killing the police arrested a suspect, William Duba, 26 years old, of Oaklawn, who confessed. Later it was determined that Duba was a mental defective and that his confession was false.

Army Bomber Crashes; Three Flyers Killed

Bishop, Cal., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Three army flyers were killed when an army bombing plane crashed and caught fire today in the rugged mountain country eight miles north of the Mammoth ranger station in the Inyo national forest. A fourth member of the crew bailed out.

Those who were killed were:

CAPT. ROBERT E. SEIFF, 39, commander of the 11th bombardment squadron, comprising six of the planes in the flight. His home was in Worcester, Mass. He was a world war flyer.

SECOND LIEUTENANT CLIFFORD L. UFFMAN, 25, of Fort Collins, Colo., member of army air reserve corps.

PRIVATE LEROY HITCHCOCK, 21, son of Mrs. Ethel Knight, Bakersfield, Cal. He was trained at Chanute field, Illinois.

Cadet Fay W. Olmsted, son of Mrs. G. M. Olmsted, Santa Barbara, Cal., was the one who bailed out of the plane. He landed near the edge of a cliff and barely escaped sliding over it.

One of Fast Bombers.

The plane was one of twenty new Martin bombers, capable of speeds of more than 200 miles an hour. The bombardment group left March field today under command of Maj. Charles P. Phillips in a massed practice flight.

"A wing of the ship crumpled and it fell between 2,500 and 3,000 feet, crashing into a mountain," said Douglas Robinson, district forest supervisor. "Lieut. Jack Mills, who was in a plane following and saw the crash, landed at Bishop and joined us in the search."

7 Die in British Crash.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Seven persons, including A. P. De Sanno, 66 year old manufacturer of Philadelphia, Pa., were killed today when a passenger plane belonging to Hillman's Airways of Romford fell into the English channel three miles from Folkestone.

It was the third air tragedy in ten days in Great Britain, resulting in a total of fifteen deaths.

The plane was en route from the Abridge airdrome, in Essex, to Paris. No one saw the machine fall. A German cargo steamer, Leander, sighted the wreckage and raised an alarm by blowing its whistle.

Steamer Picks Up Five Bodies.

The channel steamer Biarritz, which was leaving Folkestone, rushed to the scene and with the help of the German boat picked up five bodies.

The victims, in addition to De Sanno, were: Pilot Robert Bannister, Miss Budden, and Mr. Ritchie, all English, and M. Bordaz, M. Baigneaux, and Mlle. Slabodsky, all French.

The five recovered bodies were mutilated and unrecognizable. The plane was reduced to matchwood and all luggage was mashed to pieces. One theory is that there was an explosion on the plane, but there is no evidence to support this theory.

SIX FIREMEN IN HOSPITAL AFTER TANNERY BLAZE

Six firemen were overcome by smoke last night while fighting a fire in the five story building at 2221 Elston avenue which houses the tannery of Weil & Eisendrath. The blaze was extinguished with a loss estimated at from $2,000 to $5,000.

The injured firemen, all of whom were taken to the Alexian Brothers' hospital, are: Charles J. Flynn of Engine company No. 30; Edwin Johnson and Rocco Cherio of Engine company No. 33; and Joseph Kowalski, Walter Gordon and James J. Mulcahy of Engine company No. 20. It was said they would be able to leave the hospital in a short time.

Fast Start Made in Mail Fraud Case.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Four jurors were accepted by both sides in the opening session of the trial of Samuel Insull and his 16 codefendants in the mail fraud case which started yesterday before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson.

With a second panel of four tentatively accepted and the rest of the jury box filled with likely looking candidates for the long job of hearing this case, it appeared probable last night that the jury would be completed today. The 12 men left in the box at the end of the day were taken from the United States courthouse to the Great Northern hotel for the night. The four jurors accepted are:

GEORGE BARKLEY of Yorkville; garage manager and former sherif of Kendall county.

WALTER J. CASSIDY, 1743 East 71st place; insurance salesman.

WILLIAM AUSTIN of Richmond, McHenry county; farmer.

LOUIS BENDING of Woodstock; grocer.

Eight Others in Jury Box.

The eight others in the jury box as the day's session ended are:

EARL F. TREVILLION of Earlville, La Salle county; electrician.

EDWARD HAWKINS, 836 South Wesley avenue, Oak Park; unemployed.

JOHN KELLER of West Chicago; carpenter.

ROY C. RICHARDSON, 310 South Michigan avenue; salesman.

PAUL PERKINS, 1945 Addison street; vice president Federal Coal company.

H. D. PIERSON, 7408 North Hoyne avenue; real estate.

W. A. WESTBROOK of Millington, Kendall county; grain dealer.

CHARLES H. WILSON, 111 West Washington street; coal salesman.

Thirty-eight men were called to the box during the day. The government used two of its six peremptory challenges while the defense used only one of its ten challenges. The examination of the jurors resulted in several being dismissed for cause after it became known that they had owned stock in Insull companies. One or two men displayed feeling on this point, but the others had owned only a few shares and did not seem to think it would make any difference in their decision. However, they were not retained.

He "Doesn't Feel Kindly."

A. A. Holcomb, a cattle salesman, was excused late in the afternoon after he had said that he once owned Middle West Utilities stock and had sold it at a loss.

"This would not affect your opinion, would it?" he was asked.

"I don't believe I feel very kindly about it," he replied.

Another prospective juror said he did not blame any one, as he had bought the stock of his own volition.

The opening of the trial was characterized by orderliness and speed. Another trial of national interest which began in Pennsylvania yesterday has been called "an American tragedy." It concerns youthful passion and murder. The Insull case, which has much of tragedy interwoven in its threads that reach throughout thirty-two states, opened on a note almost gay. Everybody was smiling as the pattern formed for this new event in the tangled Insull fortunes.

Insull Garbed in Gray.

The chief defendant entered the courtroom just before 10 o'clock. He was nattily dressed in gray with a handkerchief showing in his coat pocket, a white and gray check tie, and an English walking stick on his arm.

He is thinner than in the ruddy days of his prosperity. His cheeks sag a little and his mouth drops half open in moments of abstraction. He moved about the rear of the courtroom at ease, piloted by his son, Samuel Insull Jr., who is also a defendant, and followed closely by the tall, thin, aristocratic looking Stanley Field, another defendant.

The defendants formed a row under the east window. The men who had directed the fortunes of the pyramided Insull companies chatted and greeted each other as though they had dropped in for a directors' meeting or were at the club.

Defense Lawyers Cheerful.

Their lawyers were equally cheerful, particularly their chief counsel, Floyd Thompson. The chief topic of conversation was as to the length of the case. John J. Healy, veteran of the Cook county bar and a former prosecutor, thought it would be over in less than three months. Mr. Thompson said it would all depend upon the government as to how far the prosecution went back into Insull history.

At any rate everybody settled down for a long stay. Their surroundings were comfortable and dignified. They did not realize it, but they were in the same room where the famous "beef trust" case was heard 30 years ago. The defendants were buttressed against the unknown future that would open to them here by a table filled with alert and experienced lawyers.

They sat under a painting of King John giving out the Magna Carta to his people, under which these defendants have their day in court. No liberty could be taken away from them except by the prospective jurors, weaving out of the thick crowd in the back benches. They had never seen these men.

Insull Watches Veniremen.

Mr. Insull looked carefully at each man that stepped forward. When it was suggested that he might become weary and wish to remain away from the court and that the court might allow this on agreement, he said he would come to every session until they had to carry him on a stretcher. He looked far from the grave, however.

In the outer hall there was a crush at the gates, where admission was had by passes. Few persons attended the morning session. At least few got into the hall. For the first hour only half a dozen women were there. One of these was Mary McCormic, the singer, once a protégé of Insull. She told a friend that it seemed like a comic opera.

Mr. Insull did not find it such. During the long examinations, when his fellow defendants were silent in a row with him, he stared at a painting on the opposite wall depicting an old man kneeling. This was Moses receiving the tablets in Mount Sinai.

Judge Appears in Robe.

An extra touch of formality was added to the trial scene at the opening when Judge Wilkerson appeared on the bench promptly at the stroke of 10 in a voluminous black robe fitting closely over his collar, inaugurating the practice of wearing robes in the federal District courts here.

"The United States of America against Samuel Insull," intoned the dignified court clerk, Joseph O'Sullivan.

Mr. Insull's name was then called.

"Here," he responded.

The other 16 defendants likewise responded to this call to the bar.

The first defense action was to object to the method of selecting the veniremen. Mr. Thompson presented a demurrer on this point. Charles M. Bates, clerk of the northern district of Illinois, was put on the witness stand to explain how the names were placed in the venire box. The court overruled the objection and at 1:30 the veniremen were ordered in.

Indictment Is Explained.

Judge Wilkerson informed the first twelve men called to the jury box as to the nature of the indictment. All the defendants named, he said, were charged with violation of the statute against sending through the mail schemes of artifice to defraud. They stood charged with having devised such a scheme in furtherance of the sale of stock of the Corporation Securities company. This company, the court explained, was a holder of stock in Insull companies, such as Middle West Utilities, Commonwealth Edison, Public Service of Northern Illinois, and others.

The court then began the questioning of the prospective jurors. He informed them that they were judges of the facts only and that the court would instruct them as to the law. They must be in a frame of mind to be governed by the results and follow the law rather than any notions of their own.

Leo Lickerman, the first man examined, said he had done work for the Insull companies and had heard much about Mr. Insull, but that he would try to be fair. There was no challenge, but he was later excused.

A Stockholder Is Excused.

The third man examined proved to be a conduit inspector for the Commonwealth Edison company and a stockholder. He was excused. Another man, a public accountant, said he had formed an opinion from reading the newspapers. This could be changed, he said, but it would require evidence. He also was excused. Charles Olson, who collects on loans made by the government through the Reconstruction Finance corporation, said he thought he could be perfectly fair in this case. He was subsequently excused for cause.

Russell Brooks, a musician, said he was prejudiced because relatives had lost on Insull stocks. He was excused.

R. T. Barbour of De Kalb said he had an opinion.

"There is no doubt in my mind," he said.

"On what basis?" he was asked.

"On the basis of my losses."

He was quickly excused.

Attorneys Begin Examination.

After twelve men had passed the first examination of the court satisfactorily they were passed on to the attorneys.

Leslie E. Salter, assistant to the United States attorney general, took charge of the jury work for the government, and there was some maneuvering between him and Mr. Thompson over the routine of conducting the examinations.

"What is this, a game, or are we picking a jury?" Mr. Salter wanted to know.

"It may be a game, but you are not making all the ground rules," snapped Mr. Thompson.

The controversy was over the question of whether the prosecution or the defense should question the veniremen first.

The court finally instructed Mr. Salter to proceed. He weeded out two or three men and turned the panel over to the defense. The court asked one general question to find out if any of these men had been in the stock market business. No one had.

"A very intelligent bunch of men," commented Mr. Thompson.

Thompson Indicates Defense.

An inkling of the defense was given by Mr. Thompson in his questioning, as it developed that several of the prospective jurors had held Insull stock which had greatly declined in value.

"You know that stock prices went down not only in Insull stocks but in all other companies, don't you?" he asked. "Did you own any Central Trust stock?"

Arvid Wallentin of Mount Prospect, who is unemployed, was excused because he said that worry over financial conditions and maintaining his family would interfere with his attention to this case for months and he would make a bad juror. One venireman was excused because he worked for the Consumers company and this company may be "mentioned" in the case.

Edward Candra, a carpenter of Braidwood, was the first man to be removed by peremptory challenge.

Asks Excuse and Gets It.

A. C. Naumann, unemployed plumber, said he had two relatives who are employed by Commonwealth Edison and his wife had a sister who had invested in this stock. He wanted to be excused and this was granted.

Paul Perkins, coal salesman, said he had had no difficulties with the government "except two years in the army." He bought Insull stocks when they were making money and disposed of them before the crash. This would not influence him in any way, he said, because "I bought them of my own volition."

Frank Alms said he would not feel at ease in sitting through a long case as his boys are not old enough to take care of things on the farm. "Feeding cattle is no kids' job," he said. He was excused by agreement.

HERE IS CHRONOLOGY OF EVENTS LEADING TO INSULL'S TRIAL

Following is a calendar of Samuel Insull's fall from the throne of his public utility empire, climaxed yesterday by the beginning of his trial on a charge of mail fraud:

APRIL 10, 1932—Insull abdicates, agreeing in a secret meeting to putting Middle West Utilities, keystone of his system, into receivership, with himself as one of the receivers.

JUNE 7—Resigns as receiver, complying with demand.

JUNE 15—Sails from Quebec, settling in Paris on an $18,000 pension.

OCT. 4—Indicted by Cook county grand jury, with his brother Martin, for embezzlement.

OCT. 5—Flees Paris for Athens.

OCT. 10—Arrested in Athens; begins long fight against extradition.

DEC. 27—Wins in Athens Appeal court; later seeks Greek citizenship.

FEB. 27, 1933—Federal grand jury in Chicago indicts Insull for mail fraud.

SEPT. 19—United States files new documents in second attempt to extradite Insull.

NOV. 5—Greek courts having again found for Insull, the United States denounces its extradition treaty with that country.

DEC. 5—Greek cabinet orders Insull to leave before Jan. 1.

DEC. 15—Insull wins thirty days' delay on plea of illness.

MARCH 10, 1934—The third ultimatum, after many delays, says Insull must leave Greece by midnight, March 15. His agents look for a refuge in Bulgaria or Rumania, but fail.

MARCH 14—His hair dyed, Insull slips out of Athens on a specially chartered tramp steamer, the Maiotis.

MARCH 16—His boat is ordered back into port for failing to check out properly; Insull sails again with police waiting at every port.

MARCH 28—Believing a sea treaty shields him, Insull docks at Istanbul, Turkey.

APRIL 2—Turkish authorities arrest him.

APRIL 14—Leaves Turkey a prisoner bound for United States aboard S. S. Exilona.

MAY 8—Taken into federal court in Chicago, Insull is finger printed, jailed three days in lieu of $250,000 bond.

JULY 2—Insull pleads not guilty after losing claim that he was "shanghaied" from Turkey.

OCT. 2—He is brought to trial on mail fraud charge.

SEEK RACKETEER IN JAIL POISONING AND IN 'RIDE' PLOT

Constable Griffin, Shot by Gang, Suspects 'Joe.'

The state's attorney's police sought last night a labor racketeer, identified only as "Joe," who is understood to have instigated the poison plot which cost the life of one county jail prisoner and caused the critical illness of two others.

"Joe" is supposed to live in Cicero and to have interests in Melrose Park.

As police investigated the death of Rocco Pisano, 449 North Western avenue, who died Monday night after eating arsenic filled sandwiches, a second prisoner, Nick Ginaris, was reported near death in the county hospital. A third victim, Fred Wood, was said to have an even chance to recover.

Story Puts Police on Hunt.

Harold Clifford, to whom the sandwiches were delivered, was reported out of danger. Not being hungry, Clifford ate sparingly of the poisoned food and gave the rest of it to his cell mates. An unidentified man, who said that Clifford's sister had sent him, delivered the food to jail guards on Sunday afternoon.

Investigators said yesterday that developments in the case had strengthened their belief that the plot was intended to silence Clifford, one of four men indicted for the shooting on Aug. 10 of Constable John Griffin 22 years old of Bellwood. Clifford had been reported to have become a state's witness against the other members of his gang.

The retold story of Constable Griffin sent investigators in search of the mysterious "Joe." The constable escaped when his assailants supposing him dead went in search of shovels to bury him.

Dispute Arises Over Auto.

Griffin related that his assailants stopped twice during the time they drove him around in his automobile and made telephone calls to "Joe." Apparently, Griffin said, "Joe" is the leader of the gang whose members shot him.

The shooting of Griffin, according to the constables story, grew out of his refusal to release the car of Edward Deveau, 24 years old, which was held for investigation of false registration. Deveau is a fugitive, but two others named by Griffin—Edward Kunowski and Frank [Fatso] Estes—are held in the county jail.

The new story of Griffin revealed that he had not been taken to the drainage canal as first reported, but had escaped while two of his assailants went into the home of "Joe," somewhere in the eastern part of Cicero.

A VISITING BANDIT MAKES 2 MISTAKES AND THAT'S ENOUGH

August Stinson, 30 years old, a recent arrival from Cleveland, made two mistakes yesterday when he embarked on a robbery career in Chicago.

AUGUST STINSON.

First—He robbed Benjamin Balson in his haberdashery at 806 North Clark street, which is just around the corner from the Chicago avenue police station.

Second—In his flight through an unfamiliar neighborhood he circled the block and ended up in front of the police station at 113 West Chicago avenue, where he ran into Acting Captain Andrew Barry and several other policemen.

After taking $50 from Balson's cash drawer at the point of a revolver Stinson, intending to make pursuit impossible, bound Balson's thumbs together behind his back with adhesive tape and then took off the store owner's trousers belt. As the robber fled, however, Balson jerked off the tape, pulled up his pants, and gave chase, which ended a few minutes later with Stinson's capture.

CAROL POSTPONES PARIS TRIP; HINT FEAR OF SCANDAL

VIENNA, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Dispatches to Vienna newspapers today said King Carol of Rumania has decided to postpone his proposed trip to Paris and London until December. No reason was given for this change of plans, but diplomats here conjectured that Carol's supposed decision was based on the presence in Europe of the king's former private secretary, Puiu Dimitrescu.

It was recalled that Dimitrescu's father, who is a well known general and the former chief of the Rumanian gendarmerie, is facing court martial for alleged misappropriation of government funds.

The general's son served notice on the king that if anything happened to his father, he, as the king's former secretary, would publish all he knew about Carol's relations with Mme. Lupescu. The threat of these revelations was also assigned as one of the reasons for King Carol's reported desire to drop Lupescu and seek a reconciliation with his divorced wife, Princess Helen, the mother of Crown Prince Michael.

FREE FINDER OF BOMB.

A disorderly conduct charge against Sam Cuculach, 35 years old, 258 West 35th street, street sweeper held for questioning after he admitted finding the aerial bomb which maimed three boys who were examining it on Sept. 16, was dismissed yesterday by Judge Gibson E. Gorman in the South State street court.

WAR ON ARSON CUTS DOWN FIRE LOSS IN COUNTY

Fewer Alarms Reported in 3 Month Checkup.

State's Attorney Courtney's drive against arson rings operating throughout the county has resulted in a sharp decrease both in fire losses and in the number of alarms the fire department must answer.

Figures indicating the effect of the state's attorney's campaign since the arson investigation was first given publicity last June were received yesterday by Mr. Courtney from Deputy Chief Fire Marshal Anthony J. Mullaney and Deputy Fire Commissioner E. A. Maloney.

The figures were based on records compiled by the Chicago Board of Fire Underwriters for the five years ending 1933, and the personal observations of Deputy Chief Mullaney for this year, where the figures are not yet available, and on a check of actual gasoline consumption of fire fighting units.

For the five years ending 1933, the average fire losses paid during July, August, and September were $2,222,946. Last year the figure for these three months was the lowest, $1,235,708.

Paid fire losses on the twenty-five extra alarm fires during the last three months will not exceed $150,000, Chief Mullaney estimated. Last year's figures for the same period on extra alarm fires was $465,108. Prior to the start of the arson campaign this year, the first six months showed 127 extra alarm fires, a large increase over the 73 recorded in the same period last year.

Less Gasoline Used.

Although paid fire losses are usually considered an index to the fire situation, fire fighters consider the gasoline consumption of pumping units at fires a truer picture. In this regard, the figures of 10,161 gallons pumped on duty during the third quarter of the year represent a 50 per cent reduction over the 21,504 gallon figure for the first quarter and 18,825 the second quarter. These figures do not include the excessive consumption at the stockyards fire.

Pleading guilty to a charge of firing the offices of El Nacional, Spanish newspaper at 737 South Halsted street, Sam Roman, alias Romano, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Harry B. Miller in the Criminal court to one to five years in the penitentiary. Roman is the fourth member of the so-called $1,000,000 arson ring to plead guilty. Sam Fraga, owner and editor of the paper, obtained a continuance.

SUSPECT IS SEIZED IN EXTORTION PLOT AGAINST CARDINAL

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 2—(AP)—A maniac whom police blame for two extortion threats against Cardinal Dennis Dougherty was captured today in the vestibule of the cardinal's office.

He was apparently on his way to the cardinal to renew threats to "blow up the place" unless given $50,000, police said, when justice department agents and detectives collared him.

Twice sent to the Philadelphia hospital for mental diseases and twice escaped, the alleged extortionist, George Havidich, 40, is accused of making the threats immediately after each escape.

MARTIN INSULL'S CASE IS ON CALL FOR TRIAL TODAY

CRIMINAL COURT.

James Johnson, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Denis E. Sullivan.

John Hunter, manslaughter, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary by Judge Walter P. Steffen.

Salvatore Roman, arson, sentenced to 1 to 5 years in the penitentiary by Judge Harry B. Miller.

The trial of Martin Insull, which was scheduled to start this morning before Judge Cornelius Harrington, is to be continued for at least one day. Insull is to be tried in the state courts on a charge of embezzling funds from the Middle West Utilities company.

Judge Harrington when asked last evening what would happen to the Insull case replied "As far as I know it will follow the case on trial." The judge is now presiding at the trial of three persons charged with the theft of the Zukor jewels. This trial is expected to be concluded today.

Insull is demanding immediate trial, but the prosecution at the request of the federal government has announced that it will seek a continuance until after the conclusion of trial of Samuel Insull and his co-defendans in the federal courts. The prosecutor says the same records are necessary in both trials and it would inconvenience the government if the state trial was in progress at the same time.

ARRAIGN 7 TODAY IN BUS WORKER'S FATAL SLUGGING

All seven of the men arrested for their connection with the murder of James Kelly, veteran employé of the Chicago Motor Coach company, are to be arraigned today in Criminal court. It was believed the men would be brought before Chief Justice Denis Sullivan.

The seven, who are being held without bail in the county jail, include Ralph Stoltzmann, president of the striking union, local 1022, of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employés; Earl Renner, who is charged with having paid to have Kelly "slugged," and Albert Semple, said to be the actual slayer. One man, Joseph White, a street car employé, is a fugitive.

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney reported that an arrest would soon be made in connection with the death of Mrs. Mary Kennard of the Hyde Park hotel, who died two hours after she was struck by a ball bearing shot at a Michigan avenue bus.

WAR DEPT. PUTS AIR FORCE UNDER GENERAL STAF

Great Significance Seen in Action.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—In a maneuver of the highest military significance, the war department today took all its fighting planes away from Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, chief of the air corps, and absorbed the entire force into the general staf organization of the army.

Henceforth the air combat forces will be commanded directly under Chief of Staf Douglas MacArthur, and will function no longer, as they did under Gen. Foulois, as a separate branch of the army.

The action is regarded as of double significance. First, the usefulness and power of flying planes in the next war is regarded at stake, and, second, the whole military development of airplanes, which has a profound effect on the progress of civil aviation, is declared to hang in the balance.

Relegates Air Pioneer.

Of some romantic significance is the fact that Gen. Foulois, who flew with the Wrights in 1909, and has worked his way to high command over the intrigues and army politics of the general staf, is now relegated to the lowly position of being in command only over the army air schools and air depots. Instead of the flying air fighter which his record fitted him to be, he has now become a desk soldier and a school teacher.

Today's order, creating the general headquarters air force under command of Gen. MacArthur, is in line with the findings of a recent report handed in by a special committee appointed by the war department, a committee headed by former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker.

At the very time of the order a commission appointed by the President to study the whole aviation problem of the government, encompassing all branches of civil and military aeronautics, was listening to a former chief of the air corps, Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, testify scornfully concerning the program.

Called Bunk by Mitchell.

Mitchell called the organization of a "GHQ" air force "a lot of bunk," and he declared that all army officers who signed the Baker report should be "kicked out of the service." He referred to army aviation plans as the work of "Boy Scouts" in the war department.

It was held in some quarters that the war department acted hastily in establishing the GHQ air force and in being unwilling to await the recommendations of the President's commission.

MITCHELL FEARS JAPAN

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Former Assistant Chief of the Army Air Corps Brig. Gen. William Mitchell informed President Roosevelt's aviation policy planners today that "our most dangerous enemy is Japan and our planes should be designed to attack Japan."

Mitchell appeared as head of the A. E. F. air forces and a leader for a unified air service. The United States, he argued, for its aerial defense, should:

Merge army, navy, and all air services under one command.

Build planes with a cruising radius of 6,000 to 8,000 miles.

Make detailed plans for war, including the evacuation of New York City in case of an air attack by Japan "from a base in Alaska."

Construct dirigibles, for 50 of them "competently" handled could destroy Japan within two days.

JUSTICE BARS COURT DOORS IN VANDERBILT CASE

Maid's Story Climax of Day.

before? A.—I didn't want to tell anybody.

But She Had Told Smyth.

The witness then admitted she had told Attorney Smyth. He immediately rose to say she had told him but that he considered it a thing he did not wish to bring out. Justice Carew decided thereupon to continue the examination of the maid in private and indicated he would not make up his mind until tomorrow morning whether or not he will admit the press to future sessions.

Mlle. Caillot described Gloria as a sickly, pale child who lived in the top of the old palais Mrs. Vanderbilt occupied in Paris.

"There were rats all over the place," said the maid. "I saw them in my room. I saw three altogether on a tray of food in the dining room. They might have bitten the child."

"But you didn't tell Mrs. Vanderbilt," said Mr. Burkan.

"No," said the maid, making a disdainful face. "I did not think she would be interested."

During a recess Mrs. Vanderbilt was asked by reporters if she would answer the charges. In angry tone, she replied:

"Every story they've told is a pack of lies. I'll have plenty to say when I get my day in court."

Mrs. Vanderbilt referred both to the references concerning Lady Milford Haven, and to the testimony of Emma Keislich, the nurse, who told of intimacies between Mrs. Vanderbilt and Prince Frederick von Hohenlohe. Attorney Burkan also waxed wroth and announced that he would bring Lady Milford Haven from England to testify to "the utter untruth" of the maid's story.

Mrs. Vanderbilt listened with amusement while Smyth drew from the French maid the judgment that a few of the books in her bedroom were "dirty."

The maid told of parties in Mrs. Vanderbilt's Paris home, starting at 9 o'clock in the evening and continuing until 6 o'clock next morning. Often there were three bands, she said, one taking the place of the other as they tired, so that the music might be continuous. She was questioned as to details.

Justice Carew—Did this happen as often as once a month? A.—O, more than that. Once, twice, three times a week.

Justice Carew—Then she wasn't out every night?

Mr. Smyth: She was out about three nights in a week and she gave parties like this on the nights when she stayed home.

Q.—Did it keep the household awake; did it keep Gloria awake? A.—Yes, it did.

Q.—Who was there? A.—I remember when there were three bands, there was Mrs. Thaw and Lady Furness [sisters of Mrs. Vanderbilt], Mr. Morgan [her brother], Mrs. Thomas, whose husband was connected with the American embassy in Paris, perhaps also Mr. Thomas, a Mr. and Mrs. Mixsell, a Mr. Brooks, Prince Frederick, and there may have been some others.

The maid said that A. C. Blumenthal, attorney and husband of Peggy Fears, had visited the Vanderbilt house in New York and had been on the same ship when Mrs. Vanderbilt made one of her trips to Europe in 1933.

The maid also expressed her dislike for Agnes Horter, a companion whom Mrs. Vanderbilt kept as a secretary.

Fio-Rito, Orchestra Leader, Will Wed Chicago Divorcee

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Ted Fio-Rito, orchestra leader, who has been conducting lately at a fashionable hotel ballroom here, tonight announced his engagement to Madelyn La Salle of Chicago. Fio-Rito said the wedding date had not been set definitly, but probably would be in December or early January. Miss La Salle, 21, who recently was divorced from Stevens Hammond, polo player, arrived two days ago for a visit. The orchestra leader, 33, has been married before.

SATURDAY NIGHT GANG EXPIRES AS CHIEF IS CAUGHT

Skippy Fields Tells of 200 North Side Robberies.

With the arrest yesterday of Bradford [Skippy] Fields, 17 years old, the career of the "Saturday night" gang of young hoodlums, responsible for more than 200 robberies in the last three months, was brought to an inglorious close. Two of the youths were slain early last month; the arrest of another was expected momentarily in Hollywood, Cal., and the fifth is a fugitive. Fields was identified last night by 31 holdup victims.

Since the escape of Fields from the state reformatory for boys at St. Charles on July 12, when he organized his young neighborhood toughs into a gang which aped John Dillinger's desperadoes, the youths have swaggered through robberies, boasting they would never be taken alive.

Any member of the gang who turned "yellow" or "squealed" would be taken for a "ride," warned Fields. All their neighborhood at Wrightwood avenue and Orchard street feared them.

Suspect's Mother Breaks Down.

But yesterday Sergt. John Glon, attached to the detective bureau squad of Sergt. John Hanrahan, captured Fields, the "copper hater," at a boys' nickel dice game in an alley off Chicago avenue, between Sangamon and Morgan streets.

Fields at first insisted he was Jack Strickler of 4420 Magnolia avenue. When Sergt. Glon took the youth to his home his mother met them at the door. One look at the policeman and she broke into tears.

"When is this ever going to end?" she sobbed. "I move from neighborhood to neighborhood, but each time my boy goes bad." Fields, who won his nickname of "Skippy" by playing hookey from school, hung his head and admitted his identity.

Later at the detective bureau he sat debonairly atop a desk, swung his new shoes carelessly, rumpled his black, wiry hair, and talked for hours about the gang's operations.

Tries Robin Hood Rôle.

"I pulled thirty-five jobs between Saturday and Monday," he boasted. "In fact, I'll give you 200 since I got out of St. Charles." Most of the robberies were of pedestrians at night. Several included groceries, restaurants, and markets.

"Sometimes if the guy we stuck up had no money I'd give him a dollar," bragged the young desperado. "Once I gave a guy from Kansas City a ten spot. We never shot at any one, but we always carried guns, that is, after the first job, when we started out with a monkey wrench."

In imitation of Dillinger, the youths took the names of his fellow gangsters. Fields was "Pretty Boy" Floyd; Howard Allen, 16 years old, who was slain in a restaurant robbery Sept. 2, was "Baby Face" Nelson; Harry L. Walder, 19 years old, slain the following day, was Dillinger, "because he was so suspicious"; Jessie Hamrich, 16 years old, whom Fields said he left in Hollywood a few weeks ago, was "John Hamilton," and Claremont McColl, 24 years old, 2824 Abbott street, who is in hiding, was "Homer Van Meter." McColl's father, a policeman, is dead.

George Bratow, 19 years old, 641 Dole avenue, who was arrested with Fields, had just joined him and was not involved in any of the other robberies, the youth said.

Fields even told of one night when three other youths held up his gang as they emerged from a restaurant, having left their weapons in their automobile.

ONE LEGGED MEN HIT BY NRA CODE COSTS, LIMB MAKERS TOLD

Evil effects of the NRA on the artificial limb industry were described yesterday at the 15th annual convention of the Association of Artificial Limb Manufacturers at the Congress hotel.

"What the NRA means in this industry," said C. H. Davies of Philadelphia, "is that the poor fellow who has just had an amputation must pay more for an artificial limb, because of the high administrative costs under the code. We were going along without discord when the NRA stepped in and demanded that we place ourselves under a code. Now manufacturers are becoming suspicious of each other, fearing price undercutting and the cost of artificial limbs is going up because we can't help ourselves."

One hundred and fifty of the manufacturers are one legged men. Joseph Spievak, of Youngstown, O., dispelled a common belief when he stated there never had been an artificial limb made of cork. The name was applied because they were manufactured at Cork, Ireland.

WORK IS STARTED ON NEW HOME OF MRS. J. O. ARMOUR

Work on the new Lake Forest home of Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, widow of the packer, has begun, it was learned yesterday.

The construction permit was issued by William O. Paape, Lake Forest building commissioner, at a cost of $634. Mr. Paape said that it provided for a $190,000 house, and that a garage would be built later. The residence is being erected on a 12 acre plot at 225 North Greenbay road, facing the Onwentsia club.

David Adler, Chicago architect in charge of the work, said the structure will be of the English villa type, with 31 rooms and 8 bathrooms. Thornald Nielson & Co. of Chicago are the contractors. Mrs. Armour purchased the property from Dr. Arthur Dean Bevan in November of 1933. At that time she said:

"This home will be the last I shall ever build. There will be plenty of room for my grandchildren, and while it is larger than my present home, it will not be big."

Mrs. Armour is now living at 295 East Vine street, Lake Forest.

BLAMES RADIO FOR CALIFORNIA LYNCHING MOB

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2—(AP)—Two Californians today told the Communications Commission radio was responsible for the San José lynching last November and that a "censorship" makes it impossible for the public to "have as much confidence in radio programs as they have in newspapers."

The commission heard from Father Cornelius Deeney, professor of political science at Santa Clara college. S. Howard Evans, representing the Ventura [Cal.] Free Press, made the latter assertion.

The lynching was that of Thomas H. Thurmond and John M. Holmes, confessed kidnaper-slayers of Brooke Hart. Father Deeney said few persons "thought of taking the law into their own hands" until a Los Angeles station announced that a mob was marching toward the jail.

BRIDE IS FREED IN $64,000 GEM ROBBERY TRIAL

Mrs. Zukor Takes Stand and Identifies Jewels.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

Mrs. Helen Vestal, a bride of four months, went free yesterday from Judge Cornelius Harrington's courtroom in the Criminal Court building when the case against her of participating in the $64,780 jewel robbery of Mrs. Adolph Zukor was nol prossed. Charles Bellows, attorney for her and her husband, Robert Vestal, moved to free Vestal also. Ruling on the motion was held over until this morning, when Assistant State's Attorney Charles Dougherty intimated he may have completed the state's case.

James Weinberg and his wife Eula, with Vestal, still stand accused of having obtained the gems on June 13 from the Blackstone hotel suite of Mrs. Zukor, wife of the film magnate.

The indictment charges burglary and possession of stolen property, but all evidence introduced bore only on the charge of illegal possession.

Tells How Gems Vanished.

The diminutive Mrs. Zukor was the first to take the stand. She identified the diamond studded hoard lying in tissue and brown paper on the table, as her property. She examined each diamond ring, diamond watch, diamond lorgnette, pearl and diamond necklace.

She testified that she locked the door of her hotel room on July 13, tossed a purse containing the jewelry on an extra bed, and retired. On awakening, she found the door open and the purse gone. Her maid, Anita Sachs, corroborated her testimony.

Weinberg's story as given by his attorney, James Burke, in his opening statement to the jury, was that two women bearing a package visited his tavern, the 500 club at 1350 North Clark street, on the night of the robbery. On departing at 2 a. m. they abandoned the package and failed to claim it. When he opened it later he concluded to seek the reward for return of the valuables and communicated with former Assistant State's Attorney Nat Ruvell.

Denies Stipulating Fee.

Ruvell testified yesterday on the negotiations over the plan to return the Zukor jewels. He declared that if the overtures had succeeded, he probably would have charged Weinberg a $500 fee. He denied emphatically, however, that he discussed the fee beforehand with Weinberg, or that he talked with Weinberg of splitting the reward, or that he intended to profit $10,000 from the deal by soliciting the insurance company for $17.500 and keeping $10,000 as a "fee."

Ruvell said on the stand that Weinberg expected $7,500 for the gems because the newspapers gave their value as $75,000, and Weinberg considered 10 per cent a reasonable reward. Ruvell also asserted that $17,500 was asked of the insurance company.

Recount Treasure's Meanderings.

How Weinberg was in a position to produce the jewelry Ruvell did not know, he testified. He said he had known Weinberg for a year.

Testimony revealed that the $64,000 treasure passed from hand to hand like a hot potato from the time of the theft until its return.

Once, it was revealed, the entire collection was tossed onto a table in an unoccupied office in a lawyer's suite with the messenger [Vestal] darting out without waiting to discover who claimed it.

$522,500 GRANTED BY PWA TO EXTEND SKOKIE HIGHWAY

The Public Works administration in Washington yesterday approved a grant of $522,500 to the Illinois state highway department toward completion of paving of the Skokie Valley highway between Lake Forest and the Wisconsin line.

The area to be paved will include a portion of highway through Lake Forest, said R. T. Cash, chief engineer of the divisional highway office at Elgin, and will total twelve miles.

The construction project approved by the PWA will total nearly $1,750,000 and the $522,500 awarded is an outright grant.

The PWA also approved a $33,700 loan and grant for the construction of a school in McLean county, Ill.

IDENTIFIES 2 GYPSIES IN FRAUD.

Rosa Zita, 16 years old, 1926 Division street, and Mary Ristech, 45, of 1816 Division street, both gypsies, were arrested yesterday by the West North avenue police. Mrs. Theresa Frytag, 62 years old, 1633 North Winchester avenue, identified them as the women who recently defrauded her of $685. The two were held for the police showup.

Miss Frances Perkins, secretary of labor and one of the new executives of the NRA, visited Chicago last evening en route to the American Federation of Labor convention in San Francisco. She spent about four hours here, most of that time at the Fair, where she inspected the department of labor exhibit in the Federal building.

IF BASSO BREAKS PARKING HABITS HE CAN SAVE $150

If George Basso, organizer for the Chicago Flat Janitors' union, decides to break himself of his habit of using city streets as private parking lots, he will escape punishment for the 27 violations on which he was arraigned yesterday in the Traffic court. Judge John Gutknecht entertained a motion to vacate three $50 fines, and the remaining 24 charges were nonsuited.

The motion to vacate the $150 penalty was set for hearing April 9, 1935, and if Basso stays clear of tickets for parking violations until that time he will not be required to pay, Judge Gutknecht said. Basso's attorney pointed out that the union organizer has not drawn a ticket since he was fined $1 on each of 12 similar charges Aug. 14.

Basso did not let police interfere with his practice of parking his car in front of his office at 130 North Wells street, simply accepting the tickets and having them "fixed" in wholesale quantities. However, his plan was upset when a poorly addressed envelope containing some tickets fell into the hands of Police Commissioner Allman. As a result, Basso was brought to trial and Willie Grecco, a Municipal court clerk, was discharged.

ACCUSED WOMAN KILLS SELF.

Rock Island, Ill., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—Frightened at the prospect of facing federal prosecution on the charge of stealing a $12 postal money order from a mail box and forging the name of her landlady to the paper, Mrs. Maude Van Pelt, 45, recently deserted by her husband, died last night from the effects of drinking poison.

NEW YORK JUDGE UPSETS ORDER OF STATE NRA AGENT

Grants Mothers Right of Work at Home.

New York, Oct. 2.—[Special.]—In a sweeping test decision opening the way to thousands of home workers to continue their employment, despite efforts of state NRA authorities to discourage such work, Supreme Court Justice Edgar J. Lauer today upheld the right of two mothers to do embroidery work at home.

Justice Lauer ruled that State Industrial Commissioner of Labor Elmer F. Andrews had exceeded his authority. The judge granted a peremptory writ of mandamus ordering the commissioner to issue home work certificates to Mrs. Nettie Sabatini and Mrs. Rose Perricone.

Has 4 Month Old Child.

Mrs. Sabatini is the mother of a 4 month old child, Annette. Mrs. Perricone, whose husband, John, formerly was in the United States army, has two children, a boy, 11 years old, and a girl, 10. Mrs. Sabatini's husband, John, is a Civil Works administration worker, earning $12 a week. Perricone receives a $60 monthly disability pension.

Commissioner Andrews had refused to grant the permits on the ground that their issuance would be a violation of the public policy of the national industrial recovery act and the state recovery act inasmuch as the code of the embroidery industry, as approved by the President, prohibited home work in that industry.

The Consumers league of New York, as "friends of the court," submitted a memorandum opposing the granting of the mandamus.

Code Aimed at Industry.

The home work provision of the embroidery industry code, Justice Lauer held, "appears to be directed at the manufacturer. It is not an injunction against the individual worker. The code seeks only to restrain the members of the industry. This provision affords no justification for the refusal of the application of the petitioners."

The judge held the embroidery code provision that six months after its effective date "no member of this industry shall give out work to be done in homes" did not prohibit individuals from doing such work, but forbade manufacturers to have such work come from them.

In the last previous test of the state NRA home work ban here, an action involving the right of Mrs. Katherine Budd of Brooklyn to make artificial flowers in her home, Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe upheld the legality of the code provision.

Dr. Norton Exonerated in Killing of Artist

Judge Matthew D. Hartigan in the Felony court yesterday noll prossed manslaughter charges against Dr. Edwin J. Norton, 33 years old, former football coach at Loyola university. The court was informed that a coroner's jury had exonerated the dentist in connection with the death of Maynard W. Lawhon, 6634 Newgard avenue, a commercial artist.

DEALER CHARGES HE SLIPPED INTO AUTO CODE TRAP

Official's Letter Lured Him, He Says.

Murphysboro, Ill., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—Edwin W. Vogler, Carbondale auto dealer for 9 years, pleaded guilty today to a charge under the "state NRA law" before Circuit Judge George White of Jackson county.

As a dealer, Vogler was charged with violating the state motor vehicle fair practices code through the act of his agent, Fred Harper, at Metropolis. The agent was accused of selling a Ford Tudor sedan to May Hankins at a discount of $106, or for $400 cash, whereas the price of the new car was $636. It was charged that was done by allowing Mrs. Hankins $106, a sum in excess of the fixed code value of a 1929 Chevrolet coupé.

Might Face Jail Term.

This is believed to be the first case of an auto dealer under the state "NRA law." The sherif served on Vogler a permanent restraining order, issued by Judge White, that Vogler must not sell an auto at less than the code price nor allow more on a trade-in car than the code permits. Any violation of this order would make Vogler liable to jail for contempt of court. No fine was assessed against Vogler, who, according to the law, had to answer the charge himself instead of Harper being called on to do so.

Vogler explained that he had been led to plead guilty to Harper's act because of a letter from Herman A. Wangelin, their acting code commissioner at Belleville.

Offer's Legality Questioned.

Wangelin, according to Vogler, gave assurance that in consideration of a plea of guilty no fine would be imposed.

"We questioned the legality of that offer," Vogler said today. "We might have fought the case and won, but I agreed to plead guilty as an individual and as owner, at that time, of the Metropolis agency. The Vogler Motor company of Carbondale as such, so I understand it, is in no wise concerned."

Vogler said Harper had acted without authority in the deal that caused the trouble and since that time Harper has been dismissed and the Metropolis agency discontinued as unprofitable.

Story of Complaint.

The complaint against Vogler was issued by E. K. Spencer of Duquoin, chairman of the executive committee of the motor vehicle retailing code for Perry, Washington, and Jackson counties. According to Vogler, Spencer is a Chevrolet dealer. Attorney Fred Schumann of Granite City, attorney for the code board, filed the complaint.

Paragraph 2 of section 8, article 4, of the retail auto dealers' code, provides that no dealer or representative shall offer to give a discount, gratuity or commission, service or accessory, to any customer or his agent for the purpose of inducing the customer or his agent to purchase a car.

Vogler declared today he is in accord with the code and believes it has been of value to the industry. Vogler is owner of the Vogler Motor company.

LABOR WARS ON NEW MEMBER OF CHIEF NRA BOARD

A. F. of L. Asks Quiz on Williams' Attitude.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 2—(AP)—Resolutions designed to forward the social and economic program of the American Federation of Labor were presented at the annual convention here today.

One resolution suggested President Roosevelt be asked to have an "impartial investigation" made of the alleged hostile attitude of Clay Williams, a member of the newly appointed NRA board, toward recovery codes.

The outlawing of company unions was demanded in another resolution. Legislation was asked prohibiting employers from interfering with efforts of workers to organize. Relief and age benefit suggestions were numerous.

Open War on Williams.

The resolution for the investigation of Williams' attitude alleged continuance of Williams in office would result in the "virtual enslavement of the workers of our country."

It also charged the tobacco industry paid large dividends and bonuses to officials during the depression, and that Williams, head of a large tobacco company, had opposed proposed codes and stated 40 cents an hour was an excessive minimum wage for skilled workers.

While the resolutions were being prepared for presentation, William Green, president of the federation, denounced European dictatorships and the alleged persecution of the masses in Austria. He spoke on the floor of the convention in response to a plea by Max Winter, a former resident of Austria, for the sympathy of organized labor toward the strife-torn country.

Employers Hit by Green.

The federation also demanded, through its president, that manufacturers "change their hostile attitude" toward decisions of federal mediation bodies in labor disputes, and pledged President Roosevelt its coöperation in "settlement of these disputes."

Green said that until the manufacturers bound themselves to "abide by the decision of the constituted authorities" in matters affecting workers and employers, the federation would take no action on the manufacturers' proposal that labor, business, and the government join in an agreement to preserve the status quo of relations during critical times. The manufacturers made the proposal after President Roosevelt had suggested a "trial period of industrial peace."

Always for Coöperation.

The federation president said the attitude of labor always had been "that of pursuing a policy of coöperation in every way possible with the President and the administration" and sought industrial peace through "the regular setup of instruments."

Green said he would go to Washington after the convention to discuss phases of the question with President Roosevelt.

Some of the resolutions presented today revived the old battle over the organization of the federation's executive council. The proposed measures express the view that the management will be made more representative of the workers if it is approximately doubled.

The demand for vertical organization rather than horizontal—that is, the banding together of workers by industries, rather than trade unions—made its expected appearance. A resolution sponsored by R. F. Lowry and Florence Hanson, delegates of the American Federation of Teachers, claimed vertical organization would give labor a more effective voice in the large-scale, mass production industries.

Hits Company Unions.

The company union issue was raised in a resolution by delegate John P. Frey of the metal trades department. He asserted company unions sprang up after enactment of the National Industrial recovery act "in open violation of section 7-A of the act."

Blame for the Morro Castle fire with its heavy loss of life, as well as the destruction of the Princess Sophia and the Vestris, was laid to "inefficient and insufficient crews" by the delegation from the International Seamen's union.

One of the resolutions on unemployment insurance would put the federation on record as "unalterably opposed to any plan of unemployment insurance, state or federal, which is based on the principle of separate company reserves," and demands that only such plans be considered as call for one fund for the nation or state.

THE STORE FOR MEN

THE NEW TOPCOATS definitely label themselves "Autumn, 1934"

There is more style importance in the new topcoats this Fall than there has been in many, many years. That means that these new styles practically date themselves as this year's models; and it means, too, that if you've been considering replacing your old one this is the logical time to do it . . . because this year's styles are so new—and unusual.

You'll have to admit that there's a certain swagger air to this military collar Balmacaan of ours that you weren't aware of before; and there's a jauntiness in the wrap-around and an atmosphere of ease and gentlemanly living in our Deerpath Drape that is definitely different from the Topcoat styles of the past. In addition you'll find half a dozen other new models that really make this Topcoat season something to talk about . . . and prices range all the way from $35 to $115. As for value—every coat in stock represents the maximum at the price . . . for every coat is "Field-Quality!"

Our Own Tipperary Tweed Balmacaan

Tipperary Tweed, the companion fabric to our Tipperary Twist, is what we've used for this swagger type of coat with the military collar. Fully cut with slash pockets and leather buttons it is a coat that you can wear and wear and wear; and it is remarkably priced $45

One entire floor of coats—The Fourth

A Full, Loose Raglan of Harris Tweed

Genuine Harris Tweed, scoured and loomed in the old country by hand, has gone into the making of this typically British raglan. Full, easy, loose, comfortable—it is one of the smartest styles of the season. This good-looking model is also available in several other smart fabrics; in a wide range of crisp, Harris Tweeds, the price is . . $50

The Deerpath Drape of Raynorshine

The ranks of men who have sworn by our Deerpath Drape suit, long ago grew to include Topcoat advocates who insist on a tailored, close-fitting type of coat. Here is a double-breasted style, developed for this season, around our famous Drape model. And it's made of our own Raynorshine fabric—a material that is perfectly water repellant . . . $60

The Wrap-around of Polo Cloth

Here is a style that set the pace on the West Coast last season and that promises to be one of the leading developments all over the country this season. Styled particularly for young men it is cut quite full, is buttonless and has a belt without a buckle that you simply lap over and tie. Double breasted, snugly warm; available in a smart natural shade. $35

ALLOW $5 A DAY TO NEW DEALERS ON JUNKET TRIPS

Transportation Cost Paid by Government.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—The allowance for subsistence expenses of government officials away from their post of duty was cut from $6 to $5 a day by the economy act of 1933, but this seems to have had little effect on the wandering of the New Dealers. There is still an incentive to travel in the fact that a munificent government pays their transportation, in addition to expenses up to $5 a day.

The vacation season is over, but right now Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins is on her way to San Francisco to address a convention of the American Federation of Labor; Rexford Guy Tugwell, undersecretary of agriculture, is in Rome, Italy, and Harold Ickes, secretary of the interior, has just returned from Atlanta, where he dedicated a federal housing project.

Tugwell Takes Wife Along.

Dr. Tugwell, according to his chief, Secretary Henry Wallace, was extremely anxious to attend the International Institute of Agriculture in Rome, but extremely reluctant to undertake it on $5 a day. He was not so reluctant, however, as to leave his wife behind.

There is no government allowance for Mrs. Tugwell, but the No. 1 brain truster should be able to pay her way, since he gets $5 a day, plus all transportation costs, and his salary is $10,000 a year.

Another New Dealer who took advantage of a cheap trip to Europe was Harry L. Hopkins, federal emergency relief administrator, who spent July and August touring England, France, Germany, Austria, and Italy.

Dern Takes Long Jaunt.

George H. Dern, secretary of war, spent a month during the summer inspecting the Canal Zone at the expense of the tax payers and then journeyed up to Portland, Ore., to join President Roosevelt, on his return from Hawaii. They were both joined by Secretary Ickes and the three of them inspected Bonneville, Grand Coulee and other PWA power projects.

Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper went on the most ambitious inspection tour of the year. His announced purpose in going to Alaska and the Pribilof islands was to inspect the sealing industry, the light house service, the commercial fisheries, the coast and geodetic survey and the status of the census.

These duties, in a favorable season as to weather, required six weeks and he was assisted by Frank Bell, commissioner of fisheries, and Chester H. McCall, special assistant to the secretary.

Cummings Basks at Hawaii.

Hawaii attracted the fancy of Attorney General Homer S. Cummings during the summer and it was readily discovered that the fishing rights in Pearl harbor, as well as certain land condemnation proceedings, needed first hand inspection.

Mr. Cummings took along Harry W. Blair, one of his assistants.

Besides inspections the New Dealers frequently find it necessary to go on extended speechmaking tours. There was some doubt, for a time, as to the validity of charging speechmaking trips up to the government, but the resourceful brain trusters of the AAA conceived the idea that their speeches were educational not political and the controler general passed their expense accounts.

Dr. Tugwell crossed the country and made a swing down the Pacific coast, expounding the objectives of the AAA, before going to Europe.

Wallace Visits Farm Belt.

Secretary Wallace carried the message throughout the farm belt of the middle west and the south. J. F. Cox, chief of the replacement crops section of the AAA and Dr. Frederick C. Howe, AAA consumers' counsel, went on shorter speechmaking tours. Chester C. Davis, AAA administrator, inspected the scope and severity of the drouth, and A. B. Sheets, chief of the bureau of animal husbandry, did likewise.

Postmaster General James A. Farley, the New Deal evangelist, has traveled more than any of the others with the possible exception of Hugh Johnson, the flying ex-administrator of the NRA.

Farley has a "commission" which enables him to ride free on any plane, train or ship carrying the United States mails. But he announced at a press conference recently that the Democratic national committee, of which he is chairman, paid all his traveling expenses.

Bail Is Set at $35,000 in $220,000 Swindle

Bail of $35,000 was fixed yesterday for John Donald (Don Champagne) Walker, 34 years old, 615 North Lockwood avenue, when he was arraigned in Felony court on the charge of defrauding Mrs. Grace M. Forschner, wealthy widow of Palos township, out of $220,000. Judge Matthew D. Hartigan continued the hearing until Oct. 23. Walker is alleged to have defrauded Mrs. Forschner after she helped to get him paroled from Joliet penitentiary, where he was serving a term for forgery.

JAILED YEAR FOR $2,500 FRAUD IN RELIEF BUTTER

Theodore Kocovinski, 21 years old, 2849 West 25th street, who was accused of diverting 16,000 pounds of butter from relief channels with a profit of $2,500, was sentenced to one year in the Bridewell yesterday. His father, Joseph, will be arraigned Friday on a similar charge.

Before Judge Donald S. McKinlay in the Criminal court, it was testified that young Kocovinski obtained the butter from large packing concerns which had been paid for it by the Federal Surplus Relief corporation. As an employé in his father's wholesale food company, he was supposed to distribute the product to retail outlets where it would be obtained by relief "clients." Instead, he sold the butter, it was testified.

PUBLISHER SUED BY GOVERNMENT AS GOLD HOARDER

Boston, Mass., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—A double penalty of $189,720 is sought against the Republican Publishing company of Springfield for the alleged hoarding of $94,860 in gold coin under a petition brought today by Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. in the Federal District court.

The petition is regarded as the most outstanding in the east since President Roosevelt's executive order against gold hoarding and was presented in the court on behalf of the secretary by United States Attorney Francis J. W. Ford and Assistant United States Attorney John A. Canavan.

The federal officials pictured the case as unusual. Mr. Canavan indicated that the company contends it is holding the gold to pay for newsprint imported from Finland and that under a contractural obligation the payments must be made in gold.

It was revealed for the first time that a shipment of $46,000 in gold to the Boston Federal Reserve bank to meet the cost of a shipment of Finnish newsprint was seized by the federal government and the Springfield company credited with the amount.

ARRESTED IN PLOT TO EXTORT $5,000 FROM JAMES CURLEY

Boston, Mass., Oct. 2.—(AP)—An alleged attempt to extort $5,000 from James M. Curley, Democratic nominee for governor of Massachusetts, on the threat of harming one of his sons tonight resulted in the arrest of Philip J. Herlihy, 35, of Boston.

Herlihy, who police said allegedly sent the letters to the former mayor of Boston, was held on a charge of suspicion to extort money. He was arrested at his home by Inspectors George Augusta and Joseph Decker.

Suspicion was directed to Herlihy police said, because he was arrested three years ago on a charge of writing scurrilous letters to Curley, his daughter, Mary, and other prominent persons.

PROTESTS FILED AGAINST MINOR PARTY NOMINEES

Objections were filed last night with Daniel A. Carey, chief election clerk of the county clerk's office, against printing on the ballots for the next election the names of practically all the candidates of the National Progressive, Communist, and Independent parties. All the four Socialist candidates and a lone Pay Bonus in Full aspirant also were objected to.

Yesterday was the last day for the filing of objections and the withdrawal of candidacies. Hearings are to be held later on the objections.

Only two of more than 30 National Progressives escaped without objections. They are Julius Pellastrini, of Cicero, and Alonzo J. Boulanger, of Cicero, seeking election as state representatives and state senator in the 19th district. One Independent was not questioned. He is F. S. McCarthy, 2147 Flournoy street, candidate for state representative in the 2d district. The only unchallenged Communist is Laura Osby, 1029 West 14th street, running for congressman of the 5th Illinois district.

Give Your Feet a Chance!

★ Of course we can't estimate the number of sore and aching feet there are in this country, but they run into millions. And they come mostly from cheap shoes. When we say "cheap" we mean inferior shoes, made in vast quantities to sell at cheap prices.

★ Extremely low price always attracts and leads some people into the blunder of ruining their feet and ultimately making themselves miserable. No "glib guarantee" can stop your suffering or salve your feet. It isn't in the cards.

★ Such shoes have no right on any market.

★ If O'Connor & Goldberg were to sell low-grade and poorly made shoes at ridiculously low prices, we could sell millions of them on our reputation. But we wouldn't have any reputation left after we sold them. In a short time, we would be out of business. We never have and we never will have anything to do with shoddy shoes. Whatever goes out of any of our stores, is always dependable.

RADICALS SEEK TO TIGHTEN GRIP ON MINNESOTA

Roosevelt Policies Aid Them at Polls.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—Many conservative spines are being chilled these days by such ominous resort to the mailed fist by the wealth redistributors as Huey Long's mobilization of state troops in New Orleans and the use of martial law by the Farmer-Laborite Minnesota governor, Floyd Olson, in the recent Minneapolis truckmen's strike. Such incidents conjure up uncomfortable visions of a proletariat revolution, led by cunning demagogs.

The two Minneapolis strikes were among the bloodiest and most destructive so far of the labor disturbances growing out of the application of section 7-A of NIRA. In the first one deputies protecting employers' interests were killed, in the second pickets assigned to prevent trucks from supplying the city with food. In the five weeks' tie-up of the second strike the business of the community suffered enormous losses.

Call Martial Law Needless.

According to the conservatives, there was no necessity of a declaration of martial law, which they are convinced the governor invoked in order to put the force of the law and the National Guard behind the strikers' picketing of the city. No trucks were permitted to move except under military permit to furnish necessities of life. According to Gov. Olson, his measures were necessitated by disturbances "deliberately incited" by the Minneapolis Employers' Committee and the Citizens' Alliance.

Devotion of the strikers to the governor was rudely jarred by a National Guard raid on union headquarters, resulting from an order of mysterious origin. But the strikers were mollified when scores were evened up by a National Guard raid on the headquarters of the Citizens' Alliance.

So effective was the strike, as conducted virtually under the auspices of state authority that the employers were finally forced to settle.

Helps Governor with Labor.

The governor still was more deeply entrenched in the affection of organized labor by the story circulated by his friends that he induced Jesse Jones, chairman of the RFC, to cause the Minneapolis banks to put the screws on the employers to settle.

Whether true or not, this story was the more readily believed because of the governor's intimate associations with the Roosevelt administration. The governor had swung Farmer-Labor support to Mr. Roosevelt in the 1932 campaign and Mr. Farley had reciprocated with political aid and comfort for Mr. Olson. When he returned from the west through Minnesota last August Mr. Roosevelt fraternized with the governor. When they parted the President gayly exclaimed: "Governor, come on down to Washington: I'll leave Steve Early [presidential secretary] to run your state."

It happens that Washington is the very place Gov. Olson wants to go to, but not till 1936, when he will be a candidate against Senator Thomas D. Schall [Rep.], expecting to ride into the senate on another Roosevelt landslide. The governor also is credited with harboring other and grander ambitions, such as running for President on a national Farmer-Labor ticket about 1940.

The governor is working his intimacy with the President for all it is worth to convince Democrats that he is more acceptable to the New Dealers than is his Democratic opponent, John E. Regan.

That possibly is true in view of the fact that Mr. Regan was far from being an F. R. B. C. [for Roosevelt before Chicago], having led an Al Smith rump delegation to that convention.

The fact is that so closely allied were the Farmer-Laborites and the New Dealers that it cost prodigious effort to get a semblance of Washington indorsement of the Democratic ticket in Minnesota. At last, however, Postmaster General Farley was persuaded to come to Minneapolis. He declared in a radio speech there that Einar Hoidale, Democratic candidate for senator, was "100 per cent for Franklin D. Roosevelt right from the first gun" and that he [Farley] commended the ticket "from top to bottom."

Hoidale Roosevelt Guest.

Previously Congressman Hoidale had been the President's guest on the presidential train crossing Minnesota, but sharing that honor was his Farmer-Labor opponent and friend with whom he plays golf, Senator Henrik Shipstead. Friends of the senator were so unkind as to boast that Mr. Shipstead had received an unsolicited invitation. radioed from Houston, to join the presidential party, while Mr. Hoidale had been compelled to raise heaven and earth to get an invitation.

In this part of the country the popularity of the President is still undimmed and the New Deal is going strong. Upward of 75 million dollars have been poured into Minnesota and in the 15 drouth stricken counties in the western part of the state 3 million a month of federal funds are being expended, thus putting the state to no necessity of dipping into its 5 million dollar fund, created from liquor tax receipts, for public works and relief. Candidates of all parties, even the Republican, are treating the New Deal most respectfully so far. Candidates are concentrating their efforts on advertising their prowess in getting allotments of federal money for their constituencies.

Ready to Quit New Deal.

Certain of the cannier candidates, of course, have their political parachutes all ready if the New Deal should show signs of going into a tailspin. Senator Shipstead, for example, is proceeding warily as the result of rural soundings evidencing, it is said, the dissatisfaction of farmers with the operation of the AAA.

"I have great confidence in President Roosevelt," Mr. Shipstead tells his audiences, "and I have ample evidence of his confidence in me. I have supported and will continue to support such of his policies as I consider wise and sound. But I refuse to be any man's rubber stamp. If you want a rubber stamp, don't vote for me."

That always goes over big. The senator also has subtle ways of reminding the voters that they are indebted to him and not to his Democratic opponent, Congressman Hoidale, for the federal largess obtained for Minnesota.

Cites Drouth Fund Increase.

Take the drouth relief for example. When the Roosevelt professoriat was estimating that 200 millions would be sufficient, Shipstead was saying, "not less than 500 millions," and 525 millions it was eventually; this also went over big in Minnesota.

Hoidale was born in Norway. Shipstead is the son of Norwegian immigrants who settled on the Minnesota prairie in 1865. Young Shipstead worked on his father's farm, was graduated from Northwestern university dental school, practiced dentistry in a Minnesota town of which he became mayor and attracted attention in 1918 by going to the defense of townsmen being prosecuted for opposition to the war.

A Republican then, he was elected to the legislature and was defeated for congress by Andrew Volstead in the primary. Defeated for governor in the Republican primary in 1920, Shipstead ran as an independent and was defeated. To prevent a repetition of such behavior, the Republicans got a law passed prohibiting a candidate, defeated in a primary, from running as an independent.

In 1922 Shipstead accepted the Farmer-Labor nomination for senator and beat Frank B. Kellogg, thus giving to fame an ambassador to the court of St. James's and the secretary of state who was the author [by courtesy of Borah] of the anti-war pact.

Shipstead Brings Shivers.

Shipstead is a big framed, broad faced, blue eyed man of 53 with a mop of graying blond hair. He gives the rich denizens of Washington drawing rooms goose flesh with his notions of the redistribution of wealth. Roosevelt's billions of spendings Shipstead considers only a miserable starter. Multiply these by a score, says Shipstead, and pile mountain high the taxes to pay therefor and you will only take from the rich a fraction of what Wall street has taken from the farmers.

Shipstead advocates the cancelation of all private debts. Those debts, he says, cannot be paid; are not going to be paid. They will be wiped out either by cancelation or by uncontrolled inflation. He says it looks to him as if it is too late to avert the latter.

HOW CAN MARRIAGES BE MADE HAPPIER? IS MINISTER'S QUERY

What should be done in these times to further the domestic tranquility of young married couples? To find out, the Rev. Clinton C. Cox, pastor of the Drexel Park Presbyterian church, 6359 South Marshfield avenue, has sent questionnaires to the couples whom he has married within the last few years.

On the replies to these questions, Dr. Cox will base his annual sermon for married couples Sunday evening, Oct. 14. Known to the 2,500 members of his congregation as the "marrying parson," Dr. Cox has averaged more than 200 wedding ceremonies a year during the 16 years of his pastorate, and he strives to keep in touch with the young people he has joined in wedlock.

Some of the questions sent out by Dr. Cox are:

1. Would you favor sex education in youth, school and home?
2. Would you favor a medical examination before marriage?
3. Will modern birth control add to home happiness?
4. What was your greatest mistake in courtship?
5. Are in-laws still a great problem?
6. Is the single man really happier than the married man?
7. What do you think causes the most trouble in the home?

STOP DEMOCRAT HI-TAXING, PLEA OF BERTHA BAUR

G. O. P. Committeewoman Speaks in Oak Park.

Using as her thesis the phrase, "One Republican voter is worth a thousand Democratic promises," Mrs. Bertha Baur, national Republican committeewoman for Illinois, yesterday told members of the Oak Park Republican Women's club why intelligent women voters should support the Republican party in the Nov. 6 election.

Mrs. Baur's address, given in the Carleton hotel before several hundred women, was the opening gun in the country-towns campaign of the Republican women's division of Cook county, of which Mrs. Baur is chairman. This afternoon she will speak before the Republican Women's club of Park Ridge at the Pickwick club, and tonight before a mass meeting of women voters of the 43d ward, at 624 West North avenue.

Women Help Pay Taxes.

"The American women," Mrs. Baur declared in her Oak Park talk yesterday, "are paying taxes on more than three billion dollars of individual income annually. This figure does not include the joint accounts of husbands and wives who have incomes totaling thirteen and one-half billions. Eighty per cent of the savings accounts in the banks are owned by women, and there are 10,000,000 women gainfully employed in our country.

"The women of this country then surely have a special interest in voting for the party which is definitly pledged to tax reduction and a revision of taxing methods.

"As a business woman I am greatly concerned about this spending spree of the present administration. How can voters condone a party which taxes homes to the point of confiscation, taxes the poor laboring man to the limit of his ability to pay and the business man to a point where he can have no profit in business and finally has to go out of business?

Problem of the Housewife.

"As a housewife, the woman of today has a huge problem on her hands. Her biggest job is to try to feed her family out of a diminishing income while the costs of the bare necessities of life are every day increasing. Remember that you, as women, are paying taxes indirectly when you buy food, clothing and other commodities."

RFC HEAD URGES USE OF PUBLIC FUNDS TO REMOVE SLUMS IN N. Y.

New York, Oct. 2.—[Special.]—Jesse H. Jones, RFC chairman, today declared that 500 acres of New York City slums should be replaced with model dwellings at low rentals with private and public funds.

He advocated use of public funds for this purpose in an address at the dedication of Knickerbocker village the $10,000,000 Fred F. French development on the lower east side, after Mr. French had announced the completed unit was 98 per cent rented and the uncompleted unit more than 50 per cent rented.

On hearing the rental success of the new model housing development, former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, who had demolished the first antiquated building in the 5-block area to make way for the new undertaking, said:

"I'm tempted to swap the Empire State building, but I'm afraid he won't take me up."

ACCUSE TWO OIL MEN OF DEFYING FEDERAL COURT

Harry Johnson, 51 years old, 5208 Ingleside avenue, and his brother Max, 40 years old, 145 South Crawford avenue, were charged with defiance of federal court orders yesterday in evidence presented to the United States grand jury.

They are alleged to have denied admission to W. C. Neeson, trustee in bankruptcy, when he attempted to serve a court writ seizing the gasoline stations which they operated for the Active Oil company, now in bankruptcy.

Max Johnson, who operated a station at Roosevelt road and Fairfield avenue, is said to have threatened Trustee Neeson. Harry Johnson, whose station was at 73d street and Western avenue, is charged with attacking Deputy Marshal William Russell when he tried to serve a writ.

TRUCE PARLEYS PUT UNDER WAY BY ROOSEVELT

NewRecoveryBoardTakes Over Its Duties.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—While the new national industrial recovery board held its first formal meeting today, President Roosevelt initiated his promised conferences looking toward an industrial truce.

The new NRA board devoted most of the day to learning its duties, these consisting of the executive functions heretofore exercised by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, formerly the sole chief of recovery forces, who went to the NRA headquarters today only to say good-by.

Confers with Grace.

The President conferred on industrial questions with W. R. Grace, president of the Grace Lines, steamship operators. The White House announced that this was the start of carrying out a pledge made in his Sunday night speech.

The White House emphasized that President Roosevelt did not plan a general conference or a regulated series of group talks, but before his individual conversations are concluded it is claimed that he will have talked to scores of leaders, both of industry and labor.

The latter are expected to include William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, who now is presiding over that organization's national convention at San Francisco, and who today said he planned to visit the President as soon as the convention is ended.

See Way as Paved.

Although the President officially began his conferences today, it was thought by informed observers that he already had paved a good part of the way toward an industrial truce by informal talks with industrial leaders who called at Hyde Park last month.

It was made clear at the White House that the only weapons he would use in an effort to effectuate the truce would be those of argument and the prestige of his office. No coercion is planned, it was stated in the President's behalf, and it was not admitted that the conferences would replace the NRA labor provisions.

No Definite Formula.

Mr. Roosevelt does not have a definite formula for ending industrial warfare, the White House said. It was emphasized there would be no short cut to collective bargaining agreements and no disturbances in the operation of section 7 (A), the collective bargaining clause of the national recovery act.

The first formal meeting of the NRA administrative board was mostly for organization purposes.

With all active five members present, as well as the two ex-officio participants, the board had its job outlined by Donald R. Richberg, director of the industrial emergency council and then assumed control. S. Clay Williams, former president of the Reynolds Tobacco company and now chairman of the administrative body, presided.

PATRIOTIC AIMS OF U. S. BUSINESS MEN DEFENDED

2,500 Restaurateurs Warned of Socialism.

Business leaders of the country were defended yesterday in an address before 2,500 persons attending the National Restaurant association's sixteenth annual convention in the American Furiture mart, 666 Lake Shore drive. The address was delivered by David Ovens of Charlotte, N. C., president of the National Retail Dry Goods association.

"We are developing in Washington now an entirely new philosophy of government," Mr. Ovens declared. "We are apprehensively watching the dark hand of socialism stretch out of the sleeve of the night to destroy us.

"It has been a popular pastime for official Washington to attack business men and look with unfriendly suspicion on our leaders. These critics ought to know that the business leaders of the country have just as vital a stake in the nation's welfare, and more so, than any politician who ever rode a train to Washington.

"It is true that we have had some dishonest bankers and some crooked business tycoons. But we sometimes hear also of crooked politicians.

"We business men may be wavering in our faith in the National Recovery act, and we may not think much of the efficacy of the Blue Eagle, but we must not waver in our faith in a finer thing than any eagle which ever flew, the American flag.

"We are pioneering again, and we are going to find our way back to prosperity. We are going to develop an entirely new type of leadership, a new type of 'brain trust,' if you please, that will point the way back to our old time moorings."

Al B. Carder, of Chicago, president of the association, speaking on "The NRA Code" at the morning session, described the "red tape" which confronted him in Washington when, as chairman of the restaurant code authority, he tried to deal with authorities. He said he got no further than the clerks.

URGES U. S. PUT CURB ON TACTICS OF LABOR HEADS

Donnelly Blames NRA and A. F. of L. for Strife.

Commenting on President Roosevelt's program for a truce in the warfare between industry and labor, James L. Donnelly, executive vice president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, declared yesterday that the objectives of the National Recovery Act—decrease of unemployment and stimulation of purchasing power—will be defeated unless the national administration requires from organized labor the same constructive co-operation that has been given by business.

Mr. Donnelly asserted that much of the strife between labor and employers has been stimulated by the character of the membership of the NRA labor boards and by the utterances and activities of American Federation of Labor leaders.

Blames Boards for Strife.

"The various governmental agencies which have been set up for the purpose of adjusting labor disputes have in fact precipitated industrial warfare," said Mr. Donnelly. "The labor boards particularly have been dominated by academic individuals without practical experience in industrial relations problems. Much too often the boards have been influenced in their decisions by reasons of expediency.

"Secondly, any program designed to improve industrial relations will fail unless labor unions are held legally responsible for their acts. The utterances, policies and activities of the American Federation of Labor are bringing bewilderment, disruption and strife into employment relations, not only in Illinois, but throughout the United States.

Industries Respond to NRA.

"Industries in Illinois have responded generously to the wishes of the NRA, and the codes of fair competition go very far in their grants to labor, both organized and unorganized. This notwithstanding the fact that the industrial relations provisions of the codes were largely influenced by the American Federation of Labor although that organization represents less than 10 per cent of the workers gainfully employed in the United States."

16 N. SHORE DYE PLANTS SEEK TO RESTRAIN UNION

Owners of sixteen north shore cleaning and dyeing plants yesterday filed a petition in the Circuit court for an injunction to restrain officers and members of the Laundry and Dyehouse Drivers and Chauffeurs' union, local No. 712, from acts of violence or intimidation in their attempts to solicit union members. The petition stated that striking union members from Chicago have invaded the north shore plants, frightening workers with demands that they join the union. The petition was placed before Judge Benjamin P. Epstein by Attorney Theodore Kolb during the afternoon, but the judge held that the bill was improperly drawn. He told Kolb to redraft the petition and present it today.

More than four thousand delegates from 800 chapters of the Order of Eastern Star in Illinois assembled yesterday in the Medinah temple for the sixteenth annual convention. Mrs. Gussie L. Tomorrow the delegates will visit A Century of Progress, where they will be joined by many of the order's 164,000 members in the state.

TRADE LEADERS HIT U. S. ENTRY INTO BUSINESS

Urge All Industry Unite to Stop Burocracy.

Called together by the Illinois Manufacturers' association, sixty industrial leaders met at the Palmer house yesterday and launched a movement against the increasing inroads of the federal government into the field of private business. After two hours of vehement speeches, two actions were unanimously taken:

1. R. E. Wantz, president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, chairman of the meeting, was empowered to appoint a committee to inaugurate a systematic campaign throughout the country in opposition to governmental invasion of private industry.

2. A resolution was adopted calling on the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, the National Association of Manufacturers, and on all state industrial associations to urge the federal government to abandon the practice of participation in business which competes with private enterprise.

Resolution To Roosevelt.

Copies of the resolution were ordered sent to President Roosevelt, to members of congress, and to all candidates for congress. Mr. Wantz said he would appoint his committee within a few days.

In the meeting the speakers attacked especially the government's entry into manufacture of mattresses, meat and vegetable canning, furniture manufacture, and packaging of milk. They also assailed the Tennessee Valley Authority project which would displace several hundred thousand coal miners. The resolution said:

"The confidence of American business men is being seriously undermined by the recently developed practice of the government in establishing facilities for the manufacture of a large variety of articles for relief and other purposes.

"The future of the American citizen's inherent right to hold private property . . . is jeopardized when the government goes into business.

Charge Recovery Is Retarded.

"In view of these facts, we believe the economic recovery of the country is being seriously retarded, that burocracy is being fostered, and that expansion is being curtailed by a loss of confidence among vast numbers of the owners of business enterprise, large and small, together with their employés."

"How can private business compete against the government which pays no rent or taxes?" asked B. J. Cahn, president of Kuppenheimer & Co., chairman of the Chicago Association of Commerce committee which is opposing the government's entry into industry. "What business needs for recovery is balancing ot the budget, and I regret to say that the President's last radio address made no promises in that direction."

"We are confronted with state socialism," said William Whitefield Woods, presiden of the American Institute of Meat Packers. "Once a bureau is established, it is never withdrawn. We can defeat this movement if we just show a little backbone."

"The entrance of government into private industry is the first stage of a cancer, and unless there is a prompt operation the victim will die," said Dr. A. P. Haake, managing director of the National Furniture Manufacturers' association.

The resolution adopted was introduced by B. F. Affleck, head of the Universal Atlas Cement company. Other business leaders who participated in the session were L. A. Dumond, manager of the industrial department of the Chicago Association of Commerce; E. W. Lloyd, Commonwealth Edison company; J. P. Fanning, National Association of Bedding Manufacturers; John J. Lamb, National Metal Trades association; John A. McKee, Armour & Co.; G. W. Rockwood, Chicago Retail Furniture association, E. B. Kellogg, International Association of Milk Dealers; A. A. Gray, Electric association; John B. Reynolds, the Cement association; Frank E. Rice, Evaporated Milk association; Hugh S. Magill, American Federation of Utility Investors; W. T. Arnold, National School Supplies and Equipment association, and W. D. Walker, American Feed Manufacturers' association.

FARMER AND WORKER ROBBED BY MONOPOLY, SENATOR BORAH SAYS

Cambridge, Idaho, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Senator William E. Borah declared in an address here tonight that he opposes monopoly because it "robs" the farmer and the wage earner and escapes taxes aimed at taking "these huge gains away."

His address was a continuation of his speaking campaign since his return from Washington, where he opposed the provision in the National Recovery art suspending the anti-trust laws with the assertion that it would foster monopoly.

"In a statement put out some time ago by those speaking for labor," he said, "it was shown that the increase in the prices which the laborer has to pay exceeded his increase in wages by 8 per cent. After all the effort of the government and the drouth, after nature in her wrath and the government in its benevolence have done everything to increase the price of the farmer, nevertheless the price of the things which he has to buy keeps well ahead of the things he has to sell. They keep ahead and always will keep ahead, taking the farmers' gains, so long as monopoly prevails."

SOCIAL WORKERS HEAR HEALTH INSURANCE PLEA

Physicians in private practice have failed to keep the public well and to establish their own economic security, Edward Lindeman, on the staf of the New York School of Social Work, told the health division of the Chicago Council of Social Agencies, yesterday. As guest speaker at the division's annual meeting in the Harriet Hammond McCormick Y. W. C. A., he discussed public health insurance plans.

"Health insurance is no longer a debatable subject," said the speaker. "The only debatable question is how to do it. I believe that we should have a system in which both the state and patient contribute, directed by doctors, nurses, and social workers, and withheld from the hands of the politicians."

Alexander Ropchan, secretary of the health division, said in his report that the division during the last year has increased coöperation among Chicago health agencies and prompted more adequate health service.

Norton Kretske, 28, Named to Dist. Atty. Green's Staf

Norton Kretske, 28 years old, 1225 Newberry avenue, son of Abel B. Kretske, former city prosecutor, has been appointed to the staf of United States District Attorney Dwight H. Green, according to an announcement yesterday. Mr. Kretske will be assigned to the bankruptcy division and later to the bail bond approval department. He is a graduate of De Paul university.

TELLS OF MAKING FALSE ENTRIES IN LUSCHUCK BOOKS

False entries were made in the books of Paul A. Luschuck & Co., one of the brokerage concerns used by seven alleged bucketshop operators on trial before Judge Walter Labuy in the Criminal court on charges of conspiracy, to deceive the state authorities into granting a brokerage license, according to testimony given yesterday by Harvey Wilson, former bookkeeper.

Wilson said that entries approximating $300,000 were made in the company books at the direction of Ben Reuben. The witness said he questioned Reuben about the situation, but was told "that will be taken care of later." It was never taken care of, Wilson said.

The witness was at a disadvantage in testifying, he asserted, because some of the records of the brokerage concern are missing. After Leonard Rollnick and his associates took charge of Luschuck & Co. the president of the company was nothing but a messenger boy, Wilson said.

MURREL, ONCE ARMY GRID STAR, RETIRED; FREED OF CHARGES

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Retirement of Second Lieutenant John H. Murrel, once one of Army's brightest football stars, was announced today by the war department.

The department said Murrel had been retired as of Sept. 30 because an army retiring board had found him "incapacitated for active service."

Murrel, until his retirement, was stationed at Fort Sam Houston, Tex. During his service there he was acquitted of rape charges brought against him by a Texas woman.

10 Die, 25 Hurt as Polish Trains Collide in a Fog

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CRACOW, Poland, Oct. 2.—The Cracow-Gdynia express and the Vienna express collided here this morning in a fog, causing the deaths of at least ten persons. Reports indicated that twenty-five were injured.

URGE TAXPAYERS TO VOTE NOV. 6 FOR BOND ISSUE

In order to vote in favor of the $30,000,000 emergency relief bond issue, all home owners and other real estate and personal property taxpayers in the state should make certain that they are registered. This plea was made yesterday by Cary E. De Butts, president of the Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards.

"Registrations will be held on different dates this month, and voters should watch their local newspapers for instructions," Mr. De Butts said. "It is important to all taxpayers to vote on Nov. 6, because of the tax of almost $38,000,000 which already has been levied against real and personal property of every description to finance the state's share of relief expenses during 1934.

"This tax will be collected in full next year, unless the pending relief bond issue is approved by a majority on Nov. 6. No tax increase of any kind will follow if the bonds are approved, but a very heavy increase in property taxes will follow if they are not approved."

NRA'S 'ROBBIE' IS MADE COLONEL BY GOV. LAFFOON

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—As a reward for her conspicuous part in the NRA for the last 15 months, Miss Frances M. Robinson, administrative assistant to Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, who has just followed her superior into retirement, was made a full fledged colonel today on the staf of Gov. Laffoon of Kentucky.

"Col." Robinson thus became a staf mate of Col. Louis McHenry Howe, secretary to President Roosevelt, and Col. Marvin H. McIntyre, assistant secretary, whom Gov. Laffoon previously had honored.

"What do I do with it? Do I have to wear a uniform? Yes, I can ride a horse. My! I'm so excited I don't know what to do."

These were a few of the remarks made by Col. Robinson as a group of her former NRA associates gathered around to congratulate her on her new honor.

HOLD 4 ON COUNTERFEITING.

East St. Louis, Ill., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Four men who have been staying at the federal transient bureau here were arrested today by secret service agents on counterfeiting charges.

NAVY OFFICERS TO RIDE LINERS AS INSPECTORS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper today notified owners of commercial shipping lines that from time to time senior naval officers would be assigned to make voyages on their vessels. The secretary took this action as a result of the Morro Castle disaster, the investigation of which has been completed and is being studied.

Roper said he had sought and obtained the coöperation of Secretary of the Navy Swanson, who is assigning the naval officers. He added:

"I have asked that the naval officers conduct a thoroughgoing inspection of personnel and material on board the various ships, including fire drills, life boat drills, and the use of life preservers and a consideration of fire risks. Consideration also will be given to the discipline of the crew, knowledge of duties, watches maintained, and the general standards of the ship."

ROBINSON SEES BONUS FOR VETS WITHIN A YEAR

Indiana Senator Assails Economy Act.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Declaring no man who heard him would live to see the national budget balanced, U. S. Senator Arthur Robinson of Indiana came dramatically to the Veterans of Foreign Wars' national convention today to predict that the bonus will be paid in a year and to promise that he never will cease fighting until the national economy act is repealed.

"Upon a specious claim that the budget was unbalanced," the Republican senator said, "the administration proposed to take 300 million dollars away from the sick, the maimed, and the destitute veterans who fought for this nation, and a servile, cowardly congress did what was asked.

"Budget Worse Off Now."

"'We're going to have economy,' that's what they told us a year ago. After a year the budget is ten times worse off than it was then. While it took 300 million dollars from its soldiers the administration was pouring out 10 billion dollars in other directions. That budget still is out of balance, and I tell you there is no man who can hear my voice today who will live long enough to see it balanced."

Senator Robinson, delayed in arriving, reached the convention hall as Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, making an impromptu talk to fill in part of the senator's allotted time on the radio, was telling the veterans some "bedtime stories."

Parade Thrills City.

"I can't talk my language, your language, soldiers' language, with these deodorizers (microphones) turned on," he had explained.

Beating wartime music, pounding tread of marching men and brilliant color of uniforms and flags brought back the spell of 1917 to Louisville's streets today.

Leading the procession was Gov. Ruby Laffoon of Kentucky. Not far behind his car were sixteen armored cars of the mechanized cavalry from Fort Knox, Ky., machine guns thrusting ominous muzzles from their squat cupolas and radio antennæ bobbling twenty feet above the pavement.

Following the regulars were the units of the V. F. W., with bands by the dozen along the three mile line.

EDWARD FINDS AAA NO HELPER WITH PIGEONS

Boston, Mass., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—What to do about his $500 worth of pigeons he cannot liberate, feed, or sell still was a pressing problem with Edward J. R. Martorana of Newton after he had scrutinized the contents of a bulky package which he received today from the Agricultural Adjustment administration.

Unable to pay for the feed for the pigeons or sell them and prohibited by Newton authorities from liberating them Martorana turned for advice to Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, then NRA chief, who sent his letter to the AAA.

Today the answer came in a fifty-two page booklet entitled "Achieving a Balanced Agriculture," in which cogent reasons for the why and how of the AAA were related with charts graphically depicting the alarming rise in costs of farmer necessities and the gloomy decline in farmer incomes.

"Not a word about my pigeons," ruefully remarked Martorana. "I guess I'll have to write another letter."

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm
By Bob Becker

Jack Frost Creeps In

Oct. 2, 1934.

JACK FROST has finally arrived here at the farm. He came in very quietly night before last and left his mark in the fields and meadows. When I looked at the farm yesterday I couldn't help but notice how many "banners" were displayed for the arrival of Jack Frost.

The vivid purple of the fall asters . . . the flaming scarlet of the sumac growing along the fences . . . and the bright yellow of the wild sunflowers in the cornfields and the hickory trees in the woodlands. Although the first frost has come to the farm the housewives saved their zinnias and other flowers in the gardens by covering them up, so the low temperature didn't nip the blossoms.

Instead of three little pigs going to market it was three and sixty that left the farm for the market this week. Clarence Thurow, farm manager; Sleezer, Johnson, and Shadoon staged a regular pig roundup in order to sort out the 63, and a number of gilts that will be kept for breeding purposes.

The group sent to the Chicago market to be turned into pork chops and sausages averaged around 170 pounds. The 16 gilts which were picked out for breeding purposes also ran about that weight. Of course the 63 pigs had no idea why they were being shuffled around and put into different pens, but judging by the squealing and the running you would have thought they knew what fate was in store for them.

Now that the big white silo [the new 80 foot one] has been filled with silage, the boys are busy refilling the two small ones this week. Silage has a peculiar way of disappearing. You fill a silo plumb full one day, come back a few days later and there it is lacking 7 or 8 feet of being full. The chopped corn always settles and packs tightly, so that a newly filled silo becomes only part full in a short time. The silos being refilled this week are 40 footers which look like dwarfs alongside of the big one.

Lee Curry of Vandalia, Ill., a member of the department of conservation of the state of Illinois, has just dropped in at the farm to leave 12 quail. He inspected fields before he freed the birds to make sure that they would have plenty of food and cover. What with hemp, small fields of buckwheat, and both sorghum and corn the bobwhites ought to get along in fine style.

AAA TELLS WHY IT BINDS FARMER TO U. S. CONTROL

Ties Up Future with Drouth Aid Funds.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Fire flew when the criticism of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration's "emergency cattle agreement" bonus hit Washington the other day. Chester Davis, administrator of the AAA, grabbed a microphone and started mimeograph machines running at top speed to broadcast the government's answer to the wide wide world.

Mr. Davis took for his text the editorial appearing recently in Hoard's Dairyman which attacked the provision of the AAA drouth relief cattle purchase contract by which the farmer-seller agrees to coöperate with any future production control program submitted by the secretary of agriculture, in consideration of benefit payments constituting that part of the purchase price of the animals meant solely for the farmer and independent of any lien.

Calls it "Clear, Simple."

The reason for that provision of the agreement is simple and convincing, according to Mr. Davis' point of view. He explained that when the drouth settled over the west, something had to be done immediately, and there were no relief funds available. Congress had just adopted an amendment to the AAA act making beef and dairy cattle a basic commodity and had authorized $200,000,000 for use under the provisions of the act in helping bring about adjustments in beef and dairy cattle. Here was money that could be used.

"We wanted to be sure that a portion of the purchase price of the cattle would belong to the farmer or rancher, and not be subject to claims of the mortgage or lien holder," he added. "We found we could accomplish this by designating a portion of the price paid as a benefit payment.

"Farmers Liked It," He Says.

"This was not pleasing to some bankers. The drouth stricken farmers liked it. But benefit payments under the AAA can only be made legally in consideration of an agreement to adjust production . . ."

By administrative ruling the controversial provision was limited to future programs that are put into effect prior to June 1, 1936.

When the government had completed buying approximately three and a half million drouth relief cattle, or about half the number to be bought, the total payments amounted to $48,328,695, of which $30,658,272 was classed as purchase payments and $17,670,423 benefit payments. The average price per head represented by the total payment is $13.54.

Dickinson Upsets Claim.

The day after Mr. Davis broadcast his statement and AAA officials had settled back in their chairs, hoping that the speech would straighten things out with the public, along came Senator L. J. Dickinson of Iowa, charging that sheepmen had been favored by the government, because the clause which tied cattlemen hand and foot had been left out of the document signed by flock owners when they sold drouth relief sheep to the government. AAA officials say the clause was eliminated because the sheep is not a basic commodity. Sheep are being purchased outright from the 525 million dollar drouth relief fund.

This is the third of a series of articles on burocracy and the farmer.

STORE LOOTED 3D TIME IN 90 DAYS; $600 GOODS GONE

For the third time in three months burglars early yesterday broke into the Scott clothing store at 3935 North avenue and carted away the store's entire stock of women's hosiery worth $600.

The first visit occurred on July 24, when the thieves escaped with $700 in women's stockings and men's clothing. Again on Aug. 20 apparently the same gang took $800 worth of merchandise.

H. B. Keenan, operating manager of the Scott chain, said that apparently on the first two visits the thieves were accompanied by a small boy whom they lifted through a window they smashed on the side of the store. Yesterday the marauders clipped iron bars newly installed over a rear window.

THROW OFF FEAR AND FIGHT, HAYES TELLS BUSINESS

Defends Legion's 'Back to Constitution' Drive.

In a challenge to American business to throw off its fears and openly battle increasing governmental encroachment on individual liberty, Edward A. Hayes, national commander of the American Legion, yesterday defended the Legion's "back to the constitution" movement against political criticism and called for a new drive on radicalism.

Hayes spoke in the clubrooms of the Board of Trade post of the American Legion to two thousand persons, who heard him directly or through loudspeakers scattered throughout the Board of Trade building. He addressed his words chiefly to Board of Trade members.

"You business men," Hayes declared, "are finally becoming awakened to dangers the Legion has known for months. You are beginning to realize that if present radical movements continue the entire structure of liberty in the nation will be demolished.

Business "Afraid," He Charges.

"But you business men are afraid. You fear to know or speak the truth because you see the more immediate danger of burocratic reprisal. I call on you to cast off that fear, to be men and join in this battle for fundamental American liberties.

"Too long you have believed that the American Legion was seeking its own personal gain in its visits to congress and that its intention was to wreck the American budget. Now you know that that is not true, and that the Legion is openly fighting for the American constitution and to make America American, and you are beginning to realize that the American Legion is one of the best friends you've got.

"We're in this fight in the face of criticisms and warnings, and despite attempts to crucify us in the cry of 'politics.' The Legion is not political, it is telling the truth, and if the truth hits in high places, let it hit."

Cites Policy in Vets' Bureau.

Mr. Hayes, a downstate lawyer, who is nearing the close of his term as Legion commander, cited burocracy in veteran's administration as an example of encroachment on liberties.

"One veteran's administration bureau declares itself superior to the courts, and seeks to set aside the decisions of a court in a disability case," he charged. "That is the beginning. When an arm of the government forgets the "due process" provision of the bill of rights, do you wonder that the Legion is demanding adherence to the constitution."

Mr. Hayes attacked Rexford Guy Tugwell, brain truster and undersecretary of agriculture, as an example of the radical thinking entering the American government.

Mr. Hayes was presented at the special meeting of the Board of Trade post by John H. Fisher, chairman of the post's Americanism committee. Walter Mooney, past commander of the post, presided.

MOTHER DETAILS TRAGEDY GIRL'S LAST DAY ALIVE

Defendant Tense as She Gives Testimony.

gave her a red leather pocketbook which she carried the night she was slain. The only cause for worry, as far as Mrs. McKechnie knows, concerned Miss Crain, who was becoming a frequent guest at the Edwards' home.

Sees Them Together.

Then on the Wednesday before the fourth of July, Mrs. McKechnie said she observed something that opened her eyes. She told it thus:

"I was on my porch when I heard some one say: 'No, it's too warm, honey.' I noticed the voice came from Miss Crain, I had heard it at Mansfield and I could never forget it. I looked across the yard and there, coming from the blacksmith house in back of the Edwards' home saw Miss Crane. A minute later I saw 'Bobby.'"

Mrs. McKechnie related that the East Aurora music teacher had her arm about the shoulders of her daughter's swain.

Last June, Mrs. McKechnie said, her daughter went into a decline, losing her zest for life and her appetite. It was then, Mrs. McKechnie said, that she took her daughter to see Dr. E. L. Meyers of Wilkes-Barre. Then, on the Sunday before her death, the melancholy girl was as happy as a lark over two new dresses she had bought.

"At dinner Monday night, the last time I saw her," said Mrs. McKechnie, "Freda was very happy and in unusually high spirits."

At 8 p. m. Miss McKechnie left with Miss Culver. She did not return that night, Mrs. McKechnie said. The next day, she related, she asked young Edwards what had happened to Freda and the young man told her he had taken Miss Culver home and then dropped Freda off at a street near her home. Mrs. McKechnie said she was sure that "something terrible had happened," but Edwards tried to reassure her that all was well.

Denies Any Intimacies.

"I said, 'Listen, Bobby,' Mrs. McKechnie testified, 'was anything wrong with Freda?' And he said, 'Absolutely not. We were never intimate. Just pals, that's all. She knew Margaret meant something to me.'

"I said, 'O, Bob, is that all Freda meant to you?' I said, 'You're not only breaking Freda's heart, you're breaking mine'."

Miss Culver told of a striking change that occurred in Miss McKechnie's demeanor while she was a guest in her home in Wilkes-Barre. This followed a visit from Edwards and another man, who took both girls up into the Pocono mountains for a ride.

"We drove down a side road and parked," said Miss Culver. "Freda and Bobby got out of the car and went down the road out of sight. He was carrying a blanket. They were gone about fifteen or twenty minutes before they came back. Freda was in high spirits."

Dr. Meyers testified that Freda and her mother had come to his office just before the tragedy. He examined the girl, he said, while her mother waited in an ante-room. Dr. Meyers said he found that Freda was about to become a mother. He told her, but did not tell her mother, he testified. He gave her some medicine for nausea.

Story of Last Day.

Here the story cuts back to Edwardsville where on Monday, July 30, Miss McKechnie and Miss Culyer were walking along the street, when "Bobby" came along in his coupe and offered to take the Wilkes-Barre girl home.

About 9 o'clock that night Mrs. Robert Patton Sr. told of receiving a call from Freda at her bungalow on Harvey's lake. The Rev. J. Elson Ruff, pastor of the Lutheran church at the resort, strolled out on the porch. With him was his wife, Alma.

Both testified that between 9:30 and 9:45 p. m. they had seen a young man and a young woman in bathing suits wading out into the lake until they were lost to sight. Miss Jennie Gelski, proprietor of a candy store in Edwardsville, said she had seen Edwards about eleven o'clock that night when he came to her store to buy a chocolate bar.

Nothing more was seen or heard of Miss McKechnie until the next morning when her body was found in the lake.

Find Wound in Head.

George Jones, a life guard, noticed a trickle of red from beneath the dead girl's bathing cap and called it to a doctor's attention. The doctor, he said, found a wound, which the state contends was made by a blackjack in the hand of Edwards.

The last witness of the day was Mrs. Anna Martin, who knew the McKechnie girl and identified her on the beach after her body had been recovered. Her body was found in water shallow enough for her to have waded in, all the witnesses agreed.

CONBOY IS PLANNING TO RESIGN POST AS U. S. ATTORNEY IN N. Y.

New York, Oct. 2.—[Special.]—Martin Conboy is planning to resign as United States attorney here, effective Dec. 1, it was learned today. He will be succeeded by an organization Democrat.

Conboy declined to affirm or deny the report, but it became known at the United States attorney's office that other important changes in personnel are imminent.

Louis Mead Treadwell, first assistant United States attorney, soon will retire and enter private practice. When Conboy took office last December it was undersood he soon would succeed Homer Cummings as United States attorney general and that Cummings would become governor general of the Philippines. This plan has been dropped, and when Conboy retires it will be to private life, it is understood.

'CONFESSION' IN LINDY CASE IS NOT CONFIRMED

Officials Deny Truth of Newark Story.

New York, Oct. 3 [Wednesday].—(AP)—Another "hot break" in the Lindbergh kidnap investigation fizzled out today when a report that a man had been arrested and had confessed participation in the crime was found to be without foundation.

The story, published in Newark, N. J., told of a report that New York police were holding a man and that he had confessed holding the ladder down which the Lindbergh baby was taken the night of March 1, 1932.

The story, upon careful investigation in New York, was found to have no basis in fact.

The story was printed in the Newark Ledger, which said the prisoner was taken into custody on Monday. That paper announced that the prisoner (name not given) told authorities that Hauptmann climbed through the nursery window and, while climbing back to the ground, fell when a rung of the ladder broke. The fall killed the baby, the prisoner asserted.

Inquiry in New Jersey and in Washington proved the story to be untrue.

JERSEY TO TAKE CASE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 2.—[Special.]—Death in the electric chair for kidnaping and murder rather than a prison sentence for extortion will be the first penalty faced by Bruno Richard Hauptmann, the German cabinetmaker accused of the abduction of the Lindbergh baby.

This was definitly assured late today after Gov. A. Harry Moore of New Jersey had conferred at Trenton with District Attorney Samuel J. Foley of New York.

"We're satisfied that we have a complete kidnaping and murder case against Hauptmann," said Gov. Moore. "We feel sure that we can convict him. Mr. Foley has agreed to go along with our extradition plans and let the charges of extortion wait."

Secret Transfer Likely.

The prisoner will not be removed from the Bronx county jail here to the Hunterdon county, N. J., jail for a few days, he added. It was authoritatively reported that the silent alien will be secretly transferred when the legal technicalities have been complied with.

There had previously existed some doubt concerning which state should first prosecute Hauptmann. New York has a solid case of extortion against the prisoner based upon a mountain of evidence pointing to him as the man who collected $50,000 ransom from Col. Charles A. Lindbergh on the promise that the aviator's infant son would be returned unharmed. The baby was already dead at the time.

DENNIS' STORY ON HAUPTMANN PROBED BY U. S.

Federal authorities in Chicago yesterday were investigating the story of William B. Dennis, 48 years old, 3252 North avenue, a civil engineer, that he saw Bruno Hauptmann on a road near Hopewell, N. J., the night that the Lindbergh baby was kidnaped.

Assistant United States Attorney H. N. Connaughton expressed doubt of the story. He said that he learned Dennis' wife left him about a month ago and went to New York. The government prosecutor expressed the belief that Dennis was seeking transportation to New York.

Dennis denied these suspicions and repeated his story of the alleged meeting with Hauptmann. Dennis said he was motoring with his wife and lost his way. About 9:15 on the night of March 1, 1932, Dennis said, he was halted on a dirt road a few miles southeast of Hopewell by a man who wanted to borrow a tire pump. The man spoke with a German accent, Dennis said.

Recently, when he saw pictures of Hauptmann, Dennis said, he recognized them as those of the man he met on the night of the kidnaping. The automobile in which the man who halted him was riding had as other passengers a blonde woman and a man, according to Dennis.

Melvin Purvis, chief of the bureau of investigation of the federal department of justice here, questioned Dennis at length last night and said he would make a detailed investigation of his story.

Kingsford-Smith Put Out of Race by Faulty Plane

SYDNEY, Australia, Oct. 3.—[Wednesday]—(AP)—Charles Kingsford-Smith, noted Australian flyer, withdrew today from the England-to-Australia air race. After starting a flight to England he discovered defects in his machine.

TIPSY WEDDING CHARGE BRINGS HEATED DENIALS

Superior Judge Desort's criticism of "drunken marriages" in Waukegan and other "marriage mills" drew retorts yesterday from the Waukegan officials concerned.

Clerk Lew A. Hendee of Lake county and Justice of the Peace Harry Hoyt of Waukegan, demanded an opportunity to confront the woman who testified before Judge Desort Monday in her annulment proceeding that she was drunk when the marriage license was issued by Hendee and when Hoyt married them.

Judge Desort told Walter C. Wellman, attorney for Mrs. Ethel E. Thompson of Brookfield who gave the testimony to bring her husband and witnesses of the wedding to court for further inquiry.

"I have married more than 12,000 persons during my 17 years' service as justice of the peace, and never have I married a drunken couple," said Hoyt. "I will gladly confront Mr. and Mrs. Thompson in Judge Desort's court and deny that they were under the influence of liquor when I married them."

Judge Desort said he would set a date today for the next hearing of the annulment case, adding: "If I find that a fraud has been or is being perpetrated on this court I shall take appropriate action."

"They wanted an average owner's car for this Ruggedness Run, and mine just happened to be picked out of several thousand. I hate to give it up, but the sporting side of this proposition appeals to me—so I'm letting them take it.

"Certainly this run is a far more convincing test than could possibly be made with a specially 'tuned up' factory car. That's what I like about it.

"They don't have to prove ruggedness to me—I've already given this car a year's hard use—19,068 miles. But they're going to prove it to other people by piling on another year's mileage in two weeks. Some punishment!"

Proof That Means Something

Not a speed test—for all traffic laws will be observed! Not a stunt! Not a "trick" tour! Simply a demonstration of the same kind of performance—the same ruggedness—you'll find in any Hudson or Terraplane.

It might have been any owner's car. And, on its record in this two-week grind, we'll let you judge what kind of stuff these cars are made of.

FAIR ADMITS 350 CRIPPLED PUPILS; SPECIAL GUESTS

All in City Will Get Free Conducted Tours.

BY EARL MULLIN.

Every crippled child in Chicago schools now has the opportunity to visit A Century of Progress as the guest of the management. Not only is the gate admission waived, but the children ride all over the grounds in school buses, have the service of free lecturers and guides, and in all probability see more of the Fair than the average able bodied sightseers.

The first groups visited the Fair yesterday. Cheering lustily and waving small American flags 350 children from Jahn and Spaulding schools were greeted in style at the Administration building by Rufus C. Dawes, president of the Exposition.

Special Tours Attract Throngs.

The remainder of the 2,750 crippled children in Chicago schools will be given an opportunity to see the Fair at the rate of four hundred a day. Today additional students of the Spaulding school will invade the Fair.

In addition to yesterday's crippled students an estimated 12,500 other school children visited the Fair under the students' tours arrangement.

Accompanied by teachers, these pupils are admitted for a five cent fee. Tours of the educational exhibits are arranged by the Fair bureau under the direction of Edward L. Burchard and, if the teachers ask for the service, free guides are provided by the Fair.

50,000 Children in Week.

Directors of the bureau estimate that 15,000 pupils daily will avail themselves of this service. The middle of this month the quota for elementary school children will have been reached, and then the same arrangements will be made for high school groups.

Nearly 50,000 students visited the Fair under the tour plan last week.

With ideal summer weather continuing yesterday, thousands of visitors availed themselves of the last opportunity to attend the Exposition, which closes its gates forever on Nov. 1. The attendance at 9:30 p. m. totaled The attendance at midnight totaled 59,701.

Ruth Bryan Owen to Talk at Union League Club

Ruth Bryan Owen, on visiting Chicago for the first time since her appointment as minister to Denmark, will be the guest of honor on Friday evening at a dinner in the Union League club for 500 members and guests. COLDS Go Overnight

When You Take The Right Thing!

A cold doesn't have to run its course and expose you to serious complications. A cold can be routed overnight if you go about it the right way. First of all, a cold, being an internal infection, calls for internal treatment. Secondly, a cold calls for a COLD remedy and not for a "cure-all."

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is what a cold requires. It is expressly a cold remedy. It is internal and direct—and it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels, combats the cold germs and fever in the system, relieves the headache and grippy feeling and tones and fortifies the entire system. Anything less than that is taking chances with a cold. Get Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine at any druggist, 30c and 50c. Ask for it by the full name and beware of dealers who offer substitutes.

MAYOR NAMES FRIDAY AS ART INSTITUTE DAY

Coöperating with officials of the Art institute, Mayor Kelly issued yesterday a proclamation declaring Friday, Oct. 5, to be Art Institute of Chicago day. He urged residents and visitors here to inspect the institute's $75,000,000 World's Fair exhibit of painting and sculpture before it closes on Nov. 1.

The day is designated "in recognition of what the Art institute has done to show the world what Chicago and Chicagoans represent in the understanding, appreciation, and love of art," the proclamation reads, and it points to the general achievements of the institute in the cultural life of the city.

As a special inducement to wide patronage on Oct. 5 the Art institute will present a print of George Washington, by Gilbert Stuart, to each purchaser of a ticket to the exhibit, said Robert B. Harshe, director of the institute. Admission is to be free to purchasers of the official catalog.

Starting with German day on Oct. 9, special days will be devoted to the art contributions of Greece, Italy, Great Britain, and France.

Continue Fraud Charges Against Yellow Kid Weil

Charges of embezzlement and confidence game against Joseph (Yellow Kid) Weil were continued until Oct. 17 by Judge Matthew D. Hartigan yesterday in Felony court. Weil is charged with taking $32,000 from Miss Agnes Harter, 6544 Newgard avenue, for "expenses" in trying to sell a copper mine which she owned. He also is charged with conspiracy to operate a confidence game against Otto Clauss, landscape gardener at 1837 North Harlem avenue, whom, according to the state, he tried to inveigle into making a $5,000 bet on a horse race.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS NOTES

A blue ribbon grand championship contest for those who placed among the first three in the amusement talent competitions held this summer at A Century of Progress Exposition will be staged in the Court of States from Oct. 15 to 19. A partial list of the series held this year includes contests for amateurs, quartets, eccentrics, and old fiddlers, as well as the radio auditions and the carnival of tenors.

More than 100 entries were received at A Century of Progress Exposition for this week's whistling competition within thirty-six hours after the event was announced as a feature of Miss Century of Progress week. The first competitors are to pucker and blow at 8 p. m. today in the Court of States.

The first showing of a feature length motion picture devoted to the World's Fair will be made tomorrow from 10 a. m. to 9:30 p. m. in the Little theater of the General Motors building. It portrays a complete trip through the Fair.

Every move made by the Detroit Tigers and the St. Louis Cardinals in their battles for the major league baseball championship of the world, starting today at Navin field, Detroit, will be shown to World's Fair visitors on two large electric sign boards. These massive scoreboards, erected by the Ford Motor company, one placed in the Hall of Science theater and the other on the Ford gardens, will bring play by play descriptions of the entire series.

Miss Frances Krause, 21 years old, Lapeer, Mich., the first potato queen of her state, came to the Fair yesterday to start her visit.

Miss Charlotte Hedegarde, 901 North Mozart street, in a dove float driven by Mrs. Harriet Beutler, will represent Garfield chapter in the beauty contest of the Order of the Eastern Star tomorrow. Fifty-one queen aspirants have been registered from Chicago alone to vie for the honor of "Miss Eastern Star."

William Weber, 35 years old, 50 West Ohio street, a window washer on the Sky Ride, was attacked yesterday at his work by a full grown hawk. With only a safety belt holding him up, Weber fought the bird off with his bucket and squeegee. He was taken in, shaken, but otherwise none the worse.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

* * * *

DR. R. E. LEE, Director of Fleischmann Health Research, now announces...

New, quicker-acting Yeast discovered!

DR. R. E. LEE, who has been Director of Fleischmann Health Research for years, is one of the foremost authorities on the subject of Yeast for Health.

—corrects Constipation, Indigestion, Bad Skin, Run-down Condition much faster than before! Amazingly rich in hormone-like substances*

NEW, STRONGER "STRAIN" of Yeast, discovered in great U. S. medical college, speeds flow of digestive juices, strengthens digestive muscles. (Newly-added Vitamin A combats colds!)

GOOD NEWS, for millions! If you've ever tried yeast—ever thought of it—read about this astonishing new yeast! Your questions are answered by Dr. Lee, below:—

1. Is it really a new Yeast?

Yes! An entirely new "strain" or variety. It acts more vigorously inside you . . . faster! It was discovered by a famous bacteriologist, in a leading American medical college. After years of research he isolated this new, stronger strain—grew it—was literally astounded by its action.

2. What did Tests show?

Almost unbelievable! Tests on hundreds of people by leading doctors all over the medical world gave truly unheard-of results. (See below, left.)

3. How does it Work?

Most constipation, indigestion, come from a slowing up of digestive juices and muscles. * New "XR" Yeast is exceedingly rich in hormone-like substances ("activators," as in the body's glands) which stimulate digestive secretions and muscles as nothing else can!

4. How does it correct Constipation and Indigestion sooner?

By making your digestive juices flow faster, and digestive muscles work harder—from stomach on down! Your food is better "churned"—softened—digested . . . you no longer have that "stuffed" feeling, heartburn, indigestion after meals. Also, wastes are more quickly carried through the body, disposed of.

Fleischmann's "XR" Yeast "normalizes" your digestive tract . . . really corrects constipation and indigestion! How different from cathartics!

5. Why does it clear up Skin Troubles (pimples, boils, etc.) faster?

Your skin, being an organ of elimination (just like the bowels and kidneys) "breaks out" when your system is overloaded with impurities.

By ridding you of these poisons quicker, "XR" Yeast clears your blood sooner. Your skin gains "tone." Pimples, boils and other eruptions disappear in shorter time.

6. Will "Run-down" feeling go?

Yes, if this condition is caused by self-poisoning. Many patients feel better in 24 hours! The time, in your case, will depend on your condition. But you should get more "good" from your food—have better appetite—much more "pep."

"XR" Yeast is particularly needed by people over 40, to combat the slowing of digestive secretions occurring most rapidly after that age . . . and so retard "old age."

7. Will it cure Rheumatism?

No—but in a large percentage of cases it helps! Rheumatism is often connected with an accumulation of digestive poisons—which "XR" Yeast corrects astonishingly.

8. Will Headaches cease?

Many headaches come from poisons in the blood or (as some doctors believe) pressure on the nerves—both troubles "XR" Yeast corrects quickly. Headaches often cease as a result.

9. Will it prevent Colds?

It helps!—by freeing your system of poisons and supplying Vitamin A, the "infection-preventing" vitamin. Each cake of Fleischmann's "XR" Yeast is rich in Vitamin A, as well as Vitamins B, D and G . . . four vitamins we need!

10. Why has it a creamier color?

That's the extremely important newly-added Vitamin A, which gives carrots and squash their natural color and much of their healthfulness.

IMPORTANT!

Eat 3 cakes of Fleischmann's "XR" Yeast daily—plain or dissolved in one-third glass of water—preferably half an hour before each meal. If you're taking cathartics, discontinue them gradually. Eat "XR" Yeast regularly, until you feel thoroughly well. Get 9 cakes—enough for the first 3 days—and start now!

Tested on hundreds of "chronic cases" in 13 noted U.S. and 12 European clinics. READ THE RESULTS!

"ASTONISHING." "Never before such quick results from yeast." Famous doctors who tested this new yeast report:—"Constipation cases relieved in a few days." "Amazing percentage of skin cases corrected." "Indigestion relieved very soon." "Patients in tests felt better almost immediately."

"XR" Yeast acts more quickly, surely, than former yeasts because it's rich in amazing hormone-like substances which make digestive juices flow fast and stimulate normal "motility" (digestive action).

WORLD REVOLT OR HOME? RUSSIA'S YOUTH PUZZLED

Many Complain Love and Politics Don't Mix.

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, Oct. 2.—How to work for a world revolution and simultaneously to maintain a peaceful family life at home is the baffling problem now engaging the attention of the League of Young Communists.

Komsomolskaya Pravda, official organ of the league, which has a membership of five million young men and women, is publishing a flood of letters this week from these budding communists, who seek to learn whether it is possible to mix love and politics.

Wife Complains of Neglect.

The correspondence was opened by a young wife, an active league member, who wrote that her husband neglected her because his work occupied all his time and that family quarrels resulted.

"Is my case the only one?" she asked. "What kind of family life is possible among Komsomol members?"

Her queries inspired students of the Library institute to organize a discussion of the problem, which Komsomolskaya Pravda published.

One student asserted that a Komsomol member could not build up family life because the interests of young people were so varied. One wanted to be an aviator, another was interested in music, and a third in science. Life, he declared, was so many sided and a family so restricted it that the family should disappear for the present.

Urge Comrades Not to Wed.

Another student pointed out that a husband having work, both wage earning and social, must for some time—a week, a month, or maybe even for years—see his wife only during the night. He urged that there was nothing shameful in this circumstance.

The general conclusion was that comrades should not marry because existing conditions would not permit the proper bringing up of children.

The secretary of the Komsomol committee at one of Leningrad's factories wrote:

"I can coördinate my work and my studies, though with great difficulty, but I can spare no time to see the man I love. Take August, for instance. On the 5th and 6th we visited the Young Pioneers' camps for communist children. On the 11th and 12th we participated in a military campaign. On the 17th and 18th we celebrated aviation day. On the 23d there was a plenary meeting. On the 24th preparation for International Youth day. On the 29th and 30th I was doing my laundry and on Sept. 1, while I was busy with posters, flowers, and parades, he sailed from Leningrad while I entirely forgot the existence of the man I love. Tell me: Why bind ourselves with a family if we can't spare any time for it?"

Describes Home Life.

One young wife wrote:

"I have been married five years. Both my husband and I were Komsomols. At present I am studying in a post-graduate school and my husband is a full member of the communist party.

"We have one child. It is very difficult to study when one has a child. When at home I have to look after the baby, play with him, do washing, keep our room orderly, and cook.

"When at home my husband does lots of reading of newspapers, journals, and fine literature. When the baby asks him for something he says: 'Don't bother me; mother will tell you.'

"I sit up late at night, scarcely able to prepare my lessons, but I don't read journals or scientific books, to say nothing of fine literature. Sometimes I think: Wouldn't it be better to leave my husband and live alone? Then at least I should have only my child to take care of. I should not have a man who is so overburdened that he cannot find time for his wife and baby."

Man's Side of the Question.

The man's side of the problem was revealed by Peter Bruskov, who wrote:

"My name has been engraved on the roll of honor at our factory. My wife, Lida, says: 'Your success has been built upon my misfortunes.'

"'Why,' she asks me, 'do you want all at once to be a shock worker, an inventor, and everything?'

"But I don't want anything for myself. When I got my premium I bought Lida a coat and a silk dress, which left only ten rubles for myself to buy wire for my work.

"Lida said, 'I can't use your silk dress; I have nowhere to go.' And she threw it into my face.

"Comrades, I am not a beast; I feel sorry for Lida. I have thought all this over. I account for every minute and I cannot find a way out."

JAP POLITICIANS RAP ARMY CHIEF FOR WAR SCARE

Pamphlet Uncalled For, Say Party Leaders.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Oct. 3.—[Wednesday.]—The ministry of war was roundly rapped today by statesmen and political leaders for issuing its pamphlet yesterday raising a war scare and calling for more planes and a bigger navy. It is regarded as disingenuous interference with politics. The major parties called, or are calling, special meetings today.

The Minseito party, which has three members in the cabinet, and the Shin Nippon Kokumin Domei party met last night and expressed dissatisfaction in a statement which declared that the pamphlet was uncalled for, especially since Minister of War Gen. Senjuro Hayashi pledged to the last diet that the army would not interfere in politics.

The Seiyukai, majority, party is meeting today, but the leaders have already given a statement to the press indicating that they are highly discontented.

Amazed at Backfire.

The minister of war evidently was taken aback by the unexpected reaction, and explained that the brochure should not be regarded as the opinion of the entire army, but as the views of a certain section of the army. He also said that the army does not intend to put the recommendations, especially those pertaining to national socialism, into practice, but merely desires to draw the attention to the public to the present situation.

Some quarters feel that the brochure was issued as a counter move against the movement among politicians to cut down the army's budget and spend the savings to help the farmers. The leading newspapers, Asahi and Nichi Nichi, are silent editorially, apparently acting cautiously. But Jiji and other minor papers express dissatisfaction.

Reflecting the public's anxiety over the war minister's pamphlet, the stock exchange reacted today, prominent shares dropping an average of two yen [about 60 cents].

Cites U. S. Officials.

The pamphlet declared Japan must increase its air fleet from 1,000 war planes to 3,000 since it is in danger of attack from the United States which has 3,000 planes, Russia, the same number, and China, 500. Further fears were raised by statements that the United States plans a navy even larger than Japan's.

The pamphlet declared the strength of the Japanese army has prevented Russia from interfering with the power of the Japanese navy, and "made futile the threats" of Henry L. Stimson, former United States secretary of state. It also referred to the late Rear Admiral Edward W. Eberle quoting him as saying the American navy was capable of assuming any offensive necessary to enforce the "open door" policy in China.

The publication coincides with the preparation of the 1935-'36 national budget and the army obviously desires to gain public support for demands for huge army and navy appropriations.

Brigands Raid Schools.

TOKIO, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Brigands raided two schoolhouses near Fenghuancheng, Manchukuo, and carried off three teachers and about 100 pupils, all of them Chinese, said a Rengo [Japanese] news agency dispatch today from Antung.

Japanese and Manchukuan troops set out in pursuit of the brigands, the dispatch added. The section is northwest of Antung [a port in southern Manchukuo.]

OFFER PLAN FOR IMPROVEMENTS IN WOMAN'S COURT

Suggestions designed to improve the program of the Woman's Court and Detention home were presented last night by a joint committee representing several welfare and civic organizations at a meeting of the Social Hygiene council in the Chicago Woman's club.

Reports were presented by several members of the committee recommending better coöperation from the police, a separate unit of policewomen with a corps of trained social workers, better quarters for offenders, the addition to the Woman's court staf of a public defender and court reporter, and a longer term of service for the judge assigned. Reforms in the handling of women offenders were also advocated.

Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court, to whom the report will be presented formally, discussed ways in which the suggestions for the Woman's court might be put into practice. Other speakers were Dr. Rachelle S. Yarros, chairman of the Social Hygiene council, who presided, and members of the joint committee, including Miss Pearl Hart, acting public defender, and Mrs. Ethel McDowell, head of the Woman's court social service department.

FRANCE ACTS TO STORE METALS NEEDED FOR WAR

PARIS, Oct. 2.—(AP)—France decided today to store metals needed in time of war.

The government's fear of the scarcity of materials to equip the army led President Lebrun to decree a prohibitive export tax on waste copper, aluminum, zinc, nickel, and tin.

Aluminum is the only one of these metals which is produced extensively in France. The action follows similar measures taken by Germany, officials said.

PHILIPPINES WILL DELAY RAISE IN TARIF FOR YEAR

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 2.—(AP)—A proposed increase in Philippine tarifs designed to protect Philippine free trade with the United states will be deferred at least until next year it was learned from authoritative sources today.

The Japanese foreign office spokesman had said the increased tarif rates might "affect adversely the friendly relations between Japan and the United States." Both Gov. Gen. Frank Murphy and Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine senate, however, had urged that insular tarif rates be raised upon goods from other countries than the United States. The Japanese trade has been gaining rapidly and chiefly at the expense of the United States.

The issue of future Philippine-American trade relations is to be left for decision after the commonwealth government has been established in the Philippines next spring. What is behind the change in plans has not been disclosed, but some circles think it likely the Roosevelt administration to which the proposed increase of tarif was referred advised against such action at this time in view of the scheduled visit of the senate commission late this year to make a survey of the Philippine economic conditions.

THE FINEST MOTOR OIL MONEY CAN BUY . . .

YET ONLY 26¢ A QUART

Next time you pay more than 26c a quart for motor oil, remember this: You're not getting a better oil than Iso=Vis "D" for that extra money—because no better oil is made.

Any petroleum engineer will tell you that Iso=Vis "D" is the latest significant achievement of the oil industry. Until the patented Propane Dewaxing and the Chlorex Extraction Processes were developed, such a motor oil was not even possible. Before Iso=Vis "D", you could not get a truly anti-sludge lubricant for less than 50c a quart.

Iso=Vis "D" will not form sludge no matter how hot your motor gets. Pistons remain unclogged, lively. No danger of your engine pumping oil and wasting your money!

And no danger of Iso=Vis "D" thinning out dangerously in a hot engine, either. Its "body" is so stable that you get positive, efficient lubrication in all kinds of weather and under all kinds of conditions.

You know the familiar Iso=Vis "D" bottles at Standard Oil Stations. Examine one. See the full measure of clear, good oil you get when you ask for Iso=Vis "D". Let the servisman put it into your crankcase. You'll find it works just as well as it looks!

ISO=VIS "D" MOTOR OIL	25c a qt.
PLUS FEDERAL TAX	1c a qt.
TOTAL	26c a qt.

At all Standard Oil Stations and Dealers

Sludge is a major cause of high oil consumption. It makes piston rings stick, and that makes the engine pump oil. But Iso=Vis "D," besides being only 26c a quart to begin with, saves you further money by preventing the formation of oil-wasting sludge.

CHIEF OF FRENCH JUSTICE DODGES PLOT TO MOB HIM

Inaction in Stavisky Case Angers Lawyers.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 2.—Nine months after the disclosure of the Stavisky pawnshop scandal, the French minister of justice does not dare make an official appearance in the Paris courthouse building for fear he will be mobbed by indignant barristers who consider that the government's failure to expose all those who are guilty is a smirch on French justice.

This is the meaning of an extraordinary demonstration which took place at the palais de justice today at the opening of the fall court term—a solemn occasion marked by medieval pageantry, with lawyers in black gowns and magistrates in ermine robes.

Minister Hears of Plot.

Because of its solemnity, the minister of justice, who has also the title of keeper of seals and vice president of the council of ministers, always puts in an official appearance. It is as unthinkable for a judicial year to get under way in Paris without the minister of justice as it is for the baseball season to start in the United States without the President throwing out the first ball.

Yet that is just what happened today. Minister of Justice Henri Cheron's visit to the palais de justice was announced in all the newspapers, but the canny, huge girthed Norman got wind of the reception awaiting him and did not show up. The mob of disappointed lawyers found themselves without a victim, but created a brief disturbance by shouting and singing insults against the government on general principles.

Lawyers Honor Slain Judge.

The feature of this year's opening day ceremonies at the palais de justice was a eulogy for the magistrates who died during the last year. These included Judge Albert Prince, whose body was found on a railroad near Dijon on the day he was supposed to testify regarding the rôle of the former prosecutor, Georges Pressard, in the Stavisky case.

It is the government's failure to clear up this mystery and recent reports that police are besmirching the dead magistrate's reputation and hinting that he committed suicide which are responsible for the indignation against Cheron.

Germany Bares Plan to Boost Production of Raw Materials

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 2.—A double-barreled scheme designed to reduce Germany's imports of raw materials and provide work for the jobless in the coming winter were announced tonight. The motor fuel, raw textile and iron ore industries are chiefly concerned.

One hundred million dollars will be expended on lignite undertakings with the aim of increasing the annual output by 8,000,000 tons. This will be used in new factories to increase the synthetic benzine output by several hundred thousand tons yearly. The German dye and chemical trust also has extensive plans to increase its unsynthetic benzine plants.

The reich ministry of economics assumed powers by decree to amalgamate the lignite undertakings "to increase the lignite output if this is necessary in the interests of the state." The lignite firms cannot claim compensation if they suffer losses.

Textile firms plan to erect many new factories to produce synthetic raw materials. It is claimed that the output of wollstra—a new wool substitute—is sold out long ahead. Rayon firms alone will expend $40,000,000 to expand their plants and build new factories.

Further large sums will be laid out in an effort to develop Germany's resources of iron and other ores. Hitherto Germany has been compelled to import 90 per cent of her iron ore requirements.

These measures, it is hoped, will prevent an increase in joblessness in the coming difficult winter. They will also strengthen Germany's position for trade bargaining with countries which have been exporting raw materials to Germany.

GERMANY HONORS LATE PRESIDENT VON HINDENBURG

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 2.—A steady stream of pilgrims filed past the late President Paul von Hindenburg's sarcophagus at Tannenberg memorial today to pay homage on the dead president's 87th birthday. There were masses of beautiful wreaths. Maj. Gen. Oscar von Hindenburg, the field marshal's son, and other members of the family visited the memorial early today.

The Hindenburg fund today divided $170,000 among 2,838 war crippled veterans and their relatives to help them during the coming winter.

Plans for the completion of the Tannenberg memorial are now completed. A bust of Hindenburg will be placed in the marshall's tower where he rests. A bust of Chancellor Adolf Hitler will be placed in front of the soldiers' tower as "incorporating the unknown soldier of the world war." The land surrounding the memorial will be transformed into gardens.

GERMAN CHURCH STOPS PAY OF 24 REBEL PASTORS

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, Oct. 2.—Twenty-four opposition pastors of a mountainous district in the Rhineland known as Hunsbrueck have had their salaries stopped by the German church government of Reichsbishop Mueller, it was learned today. This has aroused much bitterness in opposition circles, which declare the "reichsbishop is seeking out the poorest districts for such measures, as the parishes themselves cannot pay their pastors' salaries from their own resources." Consequently, the Godesberg synod has declared its readiness to raise money for the salaries of the pastors concerned.

GUNMEN ATTACK HOME OF U. S. ENVOY TO CUBA

HAVANA, Oct. 2.—(AP)—United States Ambassador Jefferson Caffery revealed tonight that a soldier guard had exchanged shots with unknown persons who participated in the third attack upon his home early yesterday morning. Nobody was injured.

"The attackers shot from an automobile parked near my home," Caffery said, "and a soldier standing at the gate answered the fire. The attackers fired four or five shots and the guard fired his rifle four times. Then the attackers drove away."

Santiago Claret, director of the newspapers Pais and Informacion and one of the best known newspaper men in Cuba, was shot and wounded today by an unidentified man who invaded his office. Physicians said the wound was not grave. The recent merger of the newspapers resulted in a number of employés losing their jobs and considerable bad feeling resulted.

Cuba went without taxicabs today and few private motorists ventured forth in an island-wide strike of chauffeurs, which the government charges is of a "revolutionary nature."

"My husband THINKS I AM THE BEST COOK IN CHICAGO"

"Of course I'm not really the best cook in Chicago, but my husband thinks I am and that's what matters. All because of our new 'Tested and Approved' Gas Range. Why, it's just fun to cook on it! For one thing, it has a very large oven, perfectly insulated to keep the heat in the oven and out of the kitchen. So I always have a nice, cool kitchen. Automatic Oven Heat Control insures the proper amount of heat for baking or roasting, so that I never have any more heartbreaking failures due to guesswork. Better still, I can set the time clock that controls the heat, go to the movies and come back to find dinner done to the queen's taste. Do you wonder my husband pays me such a high compliment!"

No, we don't wonder, Mrs. Smith. That's the experience of thousands of Chicago women who have selected "Double Check" Gas Ranges—the only genuinely modern, up-to-date type of gas range for the modern home. See the nearest dealer in "Tested and Approved" Gas Ranges. Look for the "Double Check" seal. And remember, don't be misguided to buy any inferior range not marked with the "Double Check" seal—there are no substitutes for these "Tested and Approved" Gas Ranges. Field's "Little Hat Balcony" Scores Success in Small Sizes

Ever since it opened a few weeks ago, the "Little Hat Balcony" has been buzzing with grateful customers. For it seems that a section devoted exclusively to hats in sizes from 20 to 21½ is an innovation in Chicago. Consequently, this new section at Field's is enjoying more than ordinary popularity. Indicative of the clever manner in which current millinery trends are expressed in these petite sizes are the two hats sketched. The brimmed fashion at left climaxes its lovely detailed hand stitching and youthful folded dip-brim shape with a lacquered bird perched aslant its upturned side. $7.50. The pert little "veil hat" uses slit felt laurel-wreath fashion around the crown and across it. $8.75. Equally smart styles developed in hatter's plush and velvet. "Little Hat Balcony," Fifth Floor.

The Sixth Floor Maternity Shop Smartly Solves Another Problem

The matter of a "morning frock" that would be attractively yet comfortably styled has been of great importance to many women. Consequently a charming little "at home" type of cotton frock is the Maternity Shop's newest offering. In fact, this glorified morning dress is a direct result of the countless demands for such a frock from the Shop's own customers. So into fine quality cotton prints has gone the same strategic styling of adjustable skirts and trimming details that has made Maternity Shop silk dresses such favorites. The lines are straight and slim looking and the printed designs are fresh and young. The prices for these new cotton "at home" frocks are $6.75 and $7.75. Maternity Shop, Sixth Floor.

The University of Chicago Cooperates to Show Important Aspects of Child Development

Play Materials, Books, Clothing and Hobbies Shown on Fourth Floor, South, Wabash Room

EVERYONE—parents, aunts, uncles, teachers and workers with children—will find this Exhibit, arranged under the direction of Professor Frank N. Freeman of the Department of Education, of vital interest. Mondays and Fridays at 2 p. m. Miss Ethel Kawin, Psychologist of the Laboratory Schools of the University, gives an important series of lectures. Miss Kawin's lecture topics are so arranged that a parent can attend the lecture and the subsequent question-and-answer period, in which the play activities of children in a particular age range are discussed. Friday, October 5, the subject is "A Well Balanced Diet of Toys"; Monday, October 8, "Toys for Infants and Children of Pre-School Age"; Friday, October 12, "Play Activities of the Young School Child, Ages 6 to 10"; Monday, October 15, "Play Activities of Later Childhood, Ages 10 to 13"; Friday, October 19, "Educational Recreation During Adolescence, Ages 13 and Following"; Monday, October 22, "Toys for Children with Special Needs," and the concluding lecture, Friday, October 26, on "The Significance of Play in Personality Development."

BE sure to see how the toys and play materials in the Exhibit are grouped to show you just what each type develops in your child . . . in strength and skill, in artistic achievement, in social attainments, and various other aspects which make for the growth of an intelligent and useful citizen.

IN response to many requests, a special group of toys for convalescent children and children with special needs is presented for the first time. Cooperating groups in these special exhibits are: The Spaulding School, The Chicago Heart Association, The Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness, The Chicago League for the Hard of Hearing.

OTHER cooperating groups in presenting young interests are the Boy Scouts, Chicago Council; the Girl Scouts, Inc., of Chicago; the Women's Safety Bureau of the Chicago Motor Club; the School of the Art Institute of Chicago; the Beverly Hills Philatelic Society; the Fort Dearborn Camera Club; and others, including the Parents' Magazine, which introduced "Approved Fashions for the Younger Set."

UNFINISHED BUSINESS IN TEXAS.

A special session of the Texas legislature adjourned recently without passing the Colorado river bill. Now Mrs. Ferguson, the governor, has announced that another special session will be summoned this month to reconsider the matter.

Mrs. Ferguson and other prominent politicians in Texas may not know when they are well off. Today it looks very much as if many of those who have had a hand in the scheme are going sooner or later to wish they hadn't.

About 80 miles from Austin there is an incompleted dam on which some 3 million dollars of Insull investors' money was spent before the Insull bubble burst. Now it is proposed to complete the dam with 4½ million dollars of federal easy money. There is much engineering opinion to the effect that the dam is uneconomical and never should have been started, but that point may be passed over for the present. As none of Mr. Ickes' other power projects can be justified on economic grounds, it can be argued plausibly that the Texas scheme is no worse than any of the others, or at least not much worse.

The peculiarity of the Texas proposal lies in the circumstances of ownership. The Insull subsidiary which actually advanced the money so far spent on the dam was the Mississippi Valley company, whose receiver has acquired title through foreclosure but has already contracted to transfer 51 per cent of the ownership to a new company. If the new company can borrow the money to complete the dam, it is difficult to understand why the Mississippi Valley company can't. Apparently the chief justification for the transfer of the majority ownership is the belief that the new company has superior facilities for negotiating a loan in Washington.

It has been stated in papers filed before the federal District court in Chicago that a leading figure in the organization of the new company is Mr. Ralph Morrison, distinguished among Texans as a principal contributor to the national Democratic campaign fund and a strong Roosevelt partisan before the Chicago convention. Mr. Morrison's standing in Washington was indicated by his appointment as one of the American delegates to the London economic conference. It is further indicated by the fact that at the moment when the enabling bill was before the Texas legislature Mr. Morrison was enjoying an excursion in Mexico along with the original brain truster, Prof. Moley.

Efforts to obtain federal easy money to complete the dam were at first unsuccessful. The Reconstruction Finance corporation declined to come across. The chairman of the RFC is Mr. Jesse Jones, a Texan. It is difficult to believe he didn't know much about the matter, and easy to suspect he knew too much. Honest Harold Ickes' PWA also declined at first, but Honest Harold has a way of changing his mind. The Arizona Democrats made him change his mind about their wild-eyed scheme to dam the Verde river. The Maine Democrats made him promise to reconsider the Passamaquoddy brainstorm. And the Texas Democrats also applied heat. Once again he showed that he can't take it. The fact that the chairman of the house appropriations committee, Mr. Buchanan [for whom the dam has been renamed], and the chairmen of four other powerful house committees happen to be Texans may have been a contributing factor. They were in a position to block a lot of appropriations and other things that Mr. Roosevelt and his associates wanted.

However that may be, a loan directly to the new company was out of the question, particularly as such loans are accompanied by an outright gift of 30 per cent to the borrower. A public agency or at least something that looked like a public agency had to be set up to receive the gift and loan from the taxpayers. That was the situation which was first given widespread publicity some months ago by Mr. Chesly Manly of this newspaper's Washington staf.

Then came the special session of the Texas legislature, called primarily to vote relief bonds and very incidentally to consider a Colorado river enabling act. Mr. Philip Kinsley went from Chicago to cover the session. He wrote stories which contained more relevant factual matter than any one in Texas seemed to have in his possession. Copies of THE TRIBUNE arrived in Austin in time to warn the legislature, and the bill was allowed to die because of amendments attached to it by one house which were not accepted by the other.

Why the legislature let the matter die in that fashion is a question which can hardly be examined at long distance. Whatever the explanation may be, conscientious members of the Texas legislature have been warned. They owe it to themselves to find out precisely what the promoters of the scheme intend. One way, and certainly the best way, to find out is to summon them before the legislature and ask.

The legislators may hesitate to subpena so august a figure as Mr. Morrison, but if they don't they can blame no one but themselves for the consequences, whatever they prove to be. Another witness who might throw light on the matter is the receiver for the Mississippi Valley company. Another is Mr. Ickes and still another is Mr. Jesse Jones. Perhaps other competent witnesses can be found in Texas.

Certainly, as matters stand, no conscientious member of the legislature can favor the project in view of all the curious circumstances which surround it. And equally certainly, if everything is as it should be, if this is, indeed, a project deserving of support, any one in any way concerned with the matter will be eager to subject himself to any questions which the legislators or interested citizens may care to put. Texas, which remembers the Alamo, ought not, on that account, to forget Teapot Dome.

THE HIGH SPOT IN DETROIT TODAY.

In what has led up to today's proceedings in Detroit there has been an unusual amount of family trouble. It is hard to recall a season in which baseball has been so disgusted with itself. The followers of the game probably are pretty well satisfied that they have had about as much fun out of it as they could expect. They like change and variety, and this year they got it. They like to see an uphill effort win, and they don't mind when some one steps in an unexpected coal hole.

It is reasonably certain at the beginning of a season that in neither major league will there be eight teams tied for first place. And it is a reasonable expectation that they will be strung along from first to eighth, frequently somewhat in the order that could have been predicted in April. It is the failure of predictions and prospects which usually causes the grief, but it is extraordinary for the various clubs to be so disgusted with themselves.

The Wrigley young men are no exception to the prevailing condition. They disappointed themselves more than they disappointed their fans, most of whom made an easy transfer of their interest to the on and coming Cardinals, who were doing everything that Cub followers think Charley Grimm's fellows ought to do, a feeling in which Grimm himself joins. But the Cubs' predicament was nothing to that of Mr. Terry and the Giants, who, in an apparently safe position, saw a perfectly classical fate approaching them and were as helpless to avoid it as the armed citizenry in a Greek tragedy. The play was embittered because Brooklyn was selected to be the tool of fate. It was a battle of in-laws and nothing could be worse.

Detroit apparently accepted the American league championship as a compensation for years of civic, industrial, and financial unpleasantness. The sun broke through at last. St. Louis, on the other hand, seems to have dared the Cardinals to do what they did. If the Cubs had been making that play for the pennant Wrigley field couldn't have held the folk in the park, but the Cardinals were lucky to get as many as 10,000 spectators when they were overhauling the Giants. The comparative indifference may be testimonial to the more substantial virtues of the Missouri city, to a more reflective appraisal of relative values and a higher view of life.

This department of THE TRIBUNE has a hunch that St. Louis will win. Any bets lost on that hunch are solely upon the better's own responsibility, and an examination of his other various affairs would be judicious if he accepts his guidance from this source.

THE CHILDREN'S ARMY.

Mussolini has assigned fierce mustachioed Gen. Grazioli, conqueror of the wild desert rebels of Libya, to the task of outfitting the eight year olds of Italy with the wooden muskets which are to be the preliminary instruments for making the nation a "new Sparta."

The philosophy of dictatorship, of course, is essentially the philosophy of force. But that requires window dressing, and it is consistent with their fundamental practices that dictators should turn back for their forensic embroidery to that post-Neanderthal period when the strong arm was still a civic virtue. Thus the Nazis would transform the Germans into a nation of hairy chested Wotan worshipers, and the Fascisti now propose to skip past the simple virtues of the Roman republic to the communist absolutism of Sparta.

The present program views the child as the property of the state. The state nursery becomes a barracks and when little Boy Blue blows his horn the little grenadiers will fix bayonets and charge. War is glorious. The little ones must love war and not be happy until they get it. It is tender childhood's fond delight. Everybody's loony now.

Editorial of the Day

VANDALISM A LA MODE.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer.]

A new aspect of the window smashing racket was revealed when a plate glass company doing business in Cleveland was reported as refusing to replace a pane destroyed by vandals. The issue involved is in the hands of County Prosecutor Cullitan. Adequate action of some kind should not be long delayed.

The company in question is the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company. The broken window is in front of the Forum cafeteria. The manager of the cafeteria tells Cullitan that the Cleveland manager of the glass company refused to install a new pane because the Glaziers' union would not permit it. The glass company manager "won't talk to any reporter."

That last is all right with us. We are not interested in the question of courtesy raised by the manager's refusal to talk to a Plain Dealer reporter.

We are much interested, however, in the question whether a labor union has actually forbidden a corporation from repairing damages inflicted by vandals. It would be an astonishing attitude. By taking it the union would virtually make itself a participant after the fact in crimes against property.

The community, long patient toward vandalism, may well draw the line at this.

While the county prosecutor gives his attention to this astonishing new development in the war of the vandals, a county judge put his foot down on another sector. Judge George B. Harris enjoins the Garage and Parking Lot Attendants' union and the Ice, Coal and Water Wagon Drivers' union from "congregating at or about the entrance to" the Terminal garage.

So-called picketing in this vicinity has been accompanied by violence and destruction of property. Judge Harris shows a proper respect for his office and for law when he puts a stop to it.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

MANY EMINENT STATESMEN regard the President's radio talk last Sabbath evening as the greatest speech in all history, including the Sermon on the Mount. Other eminent statesmen say they got as much out of the speech as they would sitting down and listening to their dogs barking or the cats meowing on the back fence. Now, to which great political party do the eminent statesmen belong who cheered and jumped up and down when the speech was delivered and broke into frantic tears when it ended, and to which great political party do the statesmen belong who turned away from the radio Sunday night and said the speech of the President was just a lot of hooey and gave 'em a pain in the neck? A handsome velvet lined doughnut covered with sugar and tied with a pink ribbon will be given to the one who first answers this riddle correctly. Contest closes at midnight next Saturday.

THEY ARE NO MORE THAN SHADOW.

They are no more than shadow of falling leaf and their grief lies lightly with the wind a worldless ache that flutters wraithlike through the brake
with the moon on it.

The hollyhock knows that one hushed moment of the rose belongs to them and bows its head
before these hungry dead.

Two white hands weave their litany
over the sands

There is no help for these who wander incomplete who hold their heads proudly in defeat who loved unwisely
and too well.

They are no more than shadow
in their hell.

IT'S GOING TO BE MOST DISTRACTING for all of us during the next few days—we've got to read with most breathless interest the developments in the lawsuit which concerns the doings of Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt and Prince Frederick of Hohenlohe (oh, juicy!), the great battle between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Detroit (pronounced in Americanese "Dee-troit") Tigers, and the trial of the young man at Wilkes-Barre accused of murdering one sweetheart to marry another. And now and then we have to pay a little attention to the coming election, a cold winter ahead, and the football situation. Mercy, mercy! For the next few days a one armed paperhanger with the hives and winter itch won't be nearly as busy as those of us who try to keep up with the news.

NORWAY HINTS that the Nobel Peace Prize this year may go to Sir Norman Angell, the British author of "The Great Illusion," written four years before the world's war and proving to everybody everywhere the utter folly and futility of war. But in spite of Sir Norman's book there came the war. Maybe the Norwegian board is going to give Sir Norman the Nobel prize to show him that he means well or that somebody read his book, anyhow. They certainly couldn't give him the prize for having contributed to the world's peace, for, as far as that was concerned, "The Great Illusion" had as much effect as the Boston Cook Book or Webster's Dictionary.

IT SEEMS TO ME that I have heard Gen. Johnson's farewell address to his faithful disciples of the NRA before. I'm not sure just where I read that speech, but I think it was either in Bartlett's "Familiar Quotations" or Hoyt's "New Cyclopedia of Practical Quotations." I would think it was Bartlett, but there is one quotation in Bartlett that the general didn't include in his farewell address: "Our todays and yesterdays are the blocks with which we build." So that makes me think I read Gen. Johnson's speech in Hoyt. But Hoyt has "'Tis only noble to be good" and the general didn't say that. Maybe it was both books put together with those two exceptions.

NOVEMBER GARDEN.

Sometimes, when grim November sweeps the lawn
And rudely plucks illusion from the trees,
With gesture of exasperation frees
The last seed-pod and leaf; soft beauty gone,
My glamorous garden stripped, flower fairies flown—
I wonder, did I dream? My dull eye sees
No semblance here to planting that might please;
Stark naked now the garden greets the dawn.
Reality, like bleak November frost,
Has blasted many blossoms in my heart;
The shattered poppy petals of young dreams,
The blatant zinnia, like ambition tossed
Into discard. Love's rose is torn apart—
Discovered now, the thorn trap cruelly gleams!

ANYHOW, I want to go on record with one thought, and I would like to impress it on those frenzied, unhappy, distracted, and wretched people who fear the worst. I am telling you, and telling you solemnly and truthfully and with the acceptance of full responsibility, that the sun will rise in the east and set in the west, the world will still revolve around the sun, the moon, as has been its custom, will still cast its beneficent light at night down upon us for the customary period each month, the Rocky mountains will remain in the west and the Appalachians in the east, things will go on much as they have before and old Gabriel will not toot his horn whether the Cardinals beat the Tigers in the world series or the Tigers beat the Cardinals. I promise you!

TOO LITTLE THYROID.

MORE than sixty years ago an English physician observed that patients sometimes presented what he called a "thick, expressionless appearance." The whole body looked swollen. This was particularly noticeable in the cheeks, eyelids, nose, and hands. The hair, eyelashes, and eyebrows were thin, and the skin was dry and rough. The voice was harsh, monotonous in quality, and lifeless. As a rule the patient was quite sensitive to cold, the pulse was slow, and there appeared to be physical listlessness and mental dullness.

The above symptoms are presented by the condition known as myxedema, which is brought on by too little secretion of the thyroid gland. It can be produced artificially in a normal individual by removing the entire thyroid. Surgeons, therefore, have learned that in order to prevent myxedema all of the thyroid must not be removed.

When the thyroid is either absent or fails to grow in children the same situation results and the child becomes a wide faced, flat nosed, thick lipped dwarf. The legs and arms are sometimes misshapen. In children the condition is called cretinism.

In 1893 it was discovered that the basal metabolism—that is, the rate of oxygen consumption—is unusually low in these patients—approximately 40 per cent below normal. The condition, however, presents varying degrees of severity, depending upon the amount of thyroid deficiency. Even though a thyroid may be enlarged [goiter], it does not mean that the function of the gland is adequate.

Curiously enough, myxedema occurs much more frequently in women than in men. The disease usually comes on in adults after the age of 30, and the symptoms noted above are the direct opposite of those of hyperthyroidism or too much thyroid secretion. The diagnosis is reasonably simple and is based upon a lowered metabolic rate and the physical changes presented by the patient. There is a gradual slowing of the mental and physical activities, an increase in weight, a decrease in appetite, and a dulling of the facial expression.

The treatment of myxedema by means of thyroid gland extract, or by the use of the chemical substance secreted by the thyroid gland [thyroxin], is a striking triumph of glandular therapy. Probably the most satisfactory method of administering thyroid is by mouth. The dosage is usually started at one or two grains each day, gradually increasing until the maximum dose of five or six grains is reached. As soon as the metabolism returns to normal the dose must be adjusted so that there shall not be an abnormal increase in thyroid substance in the body and the pendulum swing to the other extreme—too much thyroid. In no single condition are physicians called upon to exercise finer judgment and more accurate discrimination than in the treatment of myxedema.

Under the artificial supply of thyroid the patient is gradually transformed both physically and mentally. The sensitiveness to cold disappears, the pulse quickens, and the whole body loses its swollen appearance. Particularly is the contour of the face markedly improved.

ATHLETIC HEART.

I. H. L. writes: Is an athletic heart dangerous?

REPLY.

By athletic heart you probably mean a heart that is somewhat enlarged due to excessive demands placed upon it. If after years of regular exercise one becomes a sitter the heart muscle will undergo some degeneration from disuse. Athletes particularly should continue some form of regular exercise.

Athletic heart is not dangerous except as the muscle may become soft and flabby through neglect of exercise.

"BONFIRES."

Chicago, Sept. 29.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—About this time of year the promiscuous burning of fast falling poplar leaves in streets and alleys constitutes a nuisance to any one who enjoys an occasional breath of fresh air, and a hazard to drivers who traverse streets where such smudge fires effectively screen his approach, or that of other trafic [bicyclists included]. It may be that the building of fires on public thoroughfares is prohibited by city ordinance, in which event I might have a legal right to put out such public bonfires as are built under my living room window, or it may be that such fires are properly the concern of the police or fire department. It may be that I am a crank and not appreciative of this invariable accompaniment of autumnal beauty. You should be able to advise me in any event, and in any event I shall be thankful for this service.

G. D.

Section 2819 of the city code reads as follows: "Bonfires. [a] No person shall make or cause to be made a bonfire or a fire for burning paper, hay, straw, shavings, wood, or other combustible material in any street, alley, or public place within the city except in an approved rubbish burner so constructed as to prevent the escape of sparks or burning material."

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FRATERNAL BENEFITS.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My uncle is 74 years of age and can't work any more. He has been sick for five years. He belongs to a lodge located in Kansas City, which he joined in 1906 and paid his dues each month since. He is now notified to pay more than $11 per month, whereas he formerly paid $2.70. What can he do? His wife is unable to work. Can't he get some of the money he paid in?

K. A.

Obviously the only fund out of which losses can be met is the reserve built up out of previous assessments. If those assessments were too small the order must either default on death losses or increase the present assessments. We can suggest no legal remedy. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PAUPERS.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Would you mind answering two questions so I can settle an argument? The first is: Are people on the relief rolls considered paupers? Second, can paupers vote?

B. G. K.

1. Depends on the meaning that you are applying to the word paupers. They are paupers in the popular sense of being unable to support themselves.

2. Yes. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON.—The announcement has just been made by the war office of a new experiment in the organization of infantry which may, if successful under trial, have far reaching effects toward the complete mechanization of one-fourth of the home battalions. Tests in new organization have been going on for some years, chiefly with the 6th brigade at Blackdown and the 7th brigade at Tidworth, in order to devise a system which will enable a battalion or brigade to close to the assault successfully without suffering the enormous casualties which tanks and machine guns are capable of inflicting on riflemen.

The trend of experiment has been to give the infantry increased support and new equipment of its own to enable it to overcome obstacles in the advance without always waiting for increased artillery support. To this end a number of extra weapons have been given to battalions, such as anti-tank guns, anti-aircraft guns, more machine gun power, mortars, and, of course, means for increased mobility. Each battalion was recently given a support company; the plan now to be tested is for each brigade to have a support battalion.

A point has been reached which makes the infantry battalion a combination of rifles, anti-aircraft guns, machine guns, and "light artillery" in the form of three inch mortars. The complexity of equipment in the hands of a battalion commander has developed a new problem in itself. While he can manage his numerous weapons in peace training with the aid of his trained specialists, it has become doubtful whether the plan would survive long in war, because his small staf of specialists would soon become depleted by casualties and there would not be a trained pool on which to draw for replacements. Moreover, he would not have the time, or perhaps the opportunity, of handling all the new weapons when giving his main attention to the infantry action. And so the point arose whether the assaulting infantry should not be kept intact as such and all the supporting weapons placed into special battalions.

The new test, therefore, is to make an infantry brigade to consist of three battalions of riflemen supported by a fourth battalion, which would have in its organization the main machine gun power to cover the advance, consisting of thirty-six Vickers guns and sixteen anti-tank guns. The three rifle battalions of the brigade will each have its own riflemen, supported by twelve light machine guns, and the headquarters company has four anti-aircraft guns and four three inch mortars. Thus a battalion commander, while having some immediate support in his own hands, will be released from machine gun and nti-tank gun control, which passes to a special supporting battalion. The rifle battalions in the trial will obtain another rifle company each in place of the support company. The support battalion becomes a machine gun unit such as was tried on a modified scale on Salisbury plain by the 2d battalion, the Somerset light infantry, in 1927. The experiment is a revival on a modern scale of the machine gun battalion of the war period, and, if the organization became general, there would be fifteen machine gun battalions converted from rifle power.

The general effect of the new plan would be to simplify peace training with war needs, to effect a concentration of and increase in the volume of fire, more mobility, greater tactical freedom, and an increase in the number of specialists, forming something in the nature of a brigade pool. The concentration of machine gun fire will help the volume of artillery support, and weapons will be at hand for dealing with the opposition equipment which escapes the artillery bombardment. Infantry faced by tanks, machine guns, smokeless powder, and smoke screens requires more and closer support than can be given by artillery, which, while aiding the advance, has to counter opposing battery fire. The forward infantry, being more effective in itself, will tend to increase the value and power of the artillery behind.

WEIGHED AND FOUND WANTING.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 29.—"Something will have gone out of American life," says a recent TRIBUNE editorial. The tense is wrong; something already has gone out of American life and out of American character. American civilization has been decaying since 1910 or thereabouts. From top to bottom of American society the philosophy of greed and thrill is rampant. And philosophies do not spring spontaneously from the air to infect men; they come from the incessant day by day habits of living, out of what men do and experience, not from some imagined "pure thought."

It is easy to see what men do and have done for the last two decades. They have, high and low, debauched themselves with speed and thrill, so steeped themselves in the poison of excitements engendered by the car that they have ruined themselves beyond any hope of redemption for a long time, and possibly for all time. They have been irretrievably overwhelmed by an exploding bit of gasoline—a more powerful enemy than all the booze and dope consumed for generations.

When individuals cannot control themselves they are locked up, a simple tyranny takes control. When a nation cannot control itself the ever-watchful forces of tyranny begin to gird themselves. It could not be otherwise. Nature is not a sentimentalist. Willy-nilly a despotism is about to take over the American social organization. Individual likes or dislikes will have nothing to do with it, not even those of the persons at present guiding our ship of state. Within a very few weeks very probably our President will have to decide which way to turn, and, regardless of what he personally may prefer, the facts of the situation will turn for him—to the left, toward despotism, tyranny, and perhaps eventual barbarism. We have been weighed and found wanting. American civilization, such as it was, is definitly over.

A PLEA FOR NRA.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—And still the NRA is talked about as being a flop. Well, how can we expect it to be anything but, when so few support it? When the New Deal was just formed it was to be more or less an experiment. Yet because prosperity didn't come dashing around the corner instantly, enthusiasm dropped among people. Comments began, and some of our daily papers published articles and pictures ridiculing the act. Give it time. Rome wasn't built in a day, so how can we expect to be sitting on top of the world immediately?

JEANNE VRETTOS.

FOR THE AAA.

Mount Vernon, Ia., Sept. 20.—It is true that the acreage restrictions have somewhat curtailed crops in the favored sections. It is also true that the same plan has saved a considerable amount of seed, labor, and money in the drouth area. Nothing is gained by sowing seed to be burned out, or in raising stock to be starved for the want of feed. The control plan is the best thing that ever came to the farmers of America. It is a form of crop insurance and an equalizer of prices.

Under the old system the farmer was penalized for raising good crops by ruinously low prices. His only recourse was to mine the soil, plow up more ground in a vain effort to raise enough more to keep the ball rolling. I remember well the drouth of 1887, and of 1894, when we prayed for rain. And also the bumper crop of 1895, when we hauled corn to market at 10 cents per bushel, and some even had to return corn to their farms for lack of a buyer.

It is high time that the farmer's plan of trusting to the vagaries of the weather and the guesses of the speculators included a little more certainty of an income upon which to keep his family. I should not like to get into an automobile or a train or an airplane without some means of control. There is only one way in which we can guard against a famine in this grand new country of ours, and that is to conserve the fertility which nature took so many thousands of years to put down.

The duststorms of last spring were sufficient warning, and we should lose no time in getting some of our land back into grass. There is no more rapid or devastating form of erosion than wind driven soils.

The new control plan has been a godsend to the drouth stricken farmer, and when nature relents and lets down copious rains again he will be there to do his part in producing bread and meat for a hungry nation.

DAUGHTERS OF REVOLUTION.

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 25.—I simply cannot let the colored picture of Sept. 23, "Daughters of Revolution," pass without some comment. In the whole world there are certainly not three such unattractive human beings, so it must be a caricature. Is it? If not why in the name of all that is good and true and patriotic must these women be represented as tight-lipped, beady-eyed shrews? The hand holding the teacup almost convinces me that one's ancestors were monkeys instead of "Daughters of Revolution." Only a monkey has such claws.

BRITISH WAR ON SLUMP SUCCESS, BANKERS TOLD

Sterling to Be Kept Free, Chamberlain Says.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain told London's bankers tonight that Great Britain's recovery program "has delivered the goods." He assured them at the same time that England will keep sterling independent of other currencies.

"I will say for the umteenth time," he said in an address before the bankers' annual dinner, "that the exchange equalization account was founded for the purpose of ironing out excessive fluctuations in the value of our currencies."

The chancellor cited statistics to show that the program inaugurated by the national government, though lacking in drama and sometimes ultracautious, nevertheless had operated to improve economic conditions in Great Britain.

See Slap at U. S.

A veiled reference to the United States and its New Deal was read by some hearers into this statement:

"The voices of criticism have been hushed almost to silence. Perhaps an explanation may be found in the fact that their favorite instrument of chastisement, namely comparison between wretched conditions prevailing here and glowing prosperity elsewhere, has not been easy to discover."

The man who has figured largely in the campaign to put England on its feet financially admitted that "what is right and proper for an old highly developed country like ours may well be quite unsuitable for a newer country whose people are less serious and perhaps less patient than our own."

Trade Difficulties Increase.

Despite the general optimistic outlook mirrored by the fact that British exports have jumped about $100,000,000 during the first eight months of this year, Chamberlain said difficulties in the way of international trade seem to be increasing.

"Unfortunately, it is impossible for any one government to reopen the channels of international trade of its own volition or to influence the policies of other countries which are subjected to their own internal exigencies," he said.

Emphasizing that it was not desirable to attach too much importance to the maintenance of sterling at any particular level, Chamberlain said he had declared the policy of the British government many times, "without, I am afraid, succeeding always in convincing the people across the seas."

"We never attempted and are not now attempting by means of that [equalization] fund to fix exchange at a given point or to maintain it even within a fixed limit of values in the face of and in opposition to the seasonal or other powerful influences," he said.

Cites Trade Statistics.

"During the last twelve months sterling has, on the whole, maintained a remarkable level of stability. Recently it has shown a certain weakness, but I do not anticipate it to be more than a passing phase."

The chancellor said improvement in British trade actually is greater than improved employment figures would indicate. He gave statistical evidence of the improvement in trade production indices, comparing the second quarter of 1934 with the same period last year. In this period textile production indices have risen from 86 to 91; chemicals from 101 to 109; engineering and shipbuilding from 97 to 199; iron and steel from 78 to 104.

Shipbuilding, and tonnage under construction, has doubled, while the volume of shipping laid up has been halved, he said. He added that retail trade in August was 5 per cent better than last year, indicating that general improvement in industry is beginning to affect the purchasing power of the people.

BRITISH LABOR SPURNS STRIKE AS WAY TO STOP WAR

SOUTHPORT, Eng., Oct. 2.—(AP)—The British Labor party's annual convention today pledged opposition to war as an instrument of national policy but rejected the proposal, advanced by Pacifists, that labor should be bound to call a general strike if war threatened.

Earlier the convention heard Jack Mills, former member of parliament and delegate from Dartford, declare Japan is deliberately preparing for war "which the Japanese consider essential."

Mills demanded that the party force the British government to declare that it would not extend "any assistance, financial or physical, to help the state which has outlawed itself in the eyes of the civilized world" by waging war.

The party executive committee's program for a special convention to determine what steps labor should take to oppose any threatened war was overwhelmingly adopted, however.

Forgotten Train Caused British Wreck Fatal to 10

WARRINGTON, England, Oct. 2.—(AP)—The train wreck here Saturday which cost the lives of 10 persons resulted from a signalman "forgetting" a train. At the inquest today the signalman, William Bleur, passed his hand over his forehead and murmured: "I completely forgot the 8:55 from Warrington."

MILLIKAN ADMITS DESTRUCTION TO COSMIC THEORY

Formerly Believed Only in Eternal Creation.

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Dr. Robert A. Millikan announced today a modification of his world famous theory that cosmic rays are evidence of a continuous creation and building up of the universe.

Years ago, when cosmic rays first began to be studied, Dr. Millikan declared his belief that they indicated the birth of new atoms in outer space. Attacks by British physicists and others failed to budge him.

"The universe is running down, like a clock," they insisted, but Dr. Millikan stuck to his guns.

Today, before the international conference on physics, he declared that while atoms were being built up by transformations in outer space, some of them were being also annihilated entirely. The processes of creation and destruction were going on at the same time, he said.

Creation Going On.

Recent stratosphere flights and other high altitude studies of cosmic rays still leave him convinced that creation is going on. However, some cosmic rays were so swift and strong, he said, that they could pierce the earth's atmosphere at the equator with an energy of 10,000,000,000 volts and could be accounted for only by assuming complete annihilation of entire atoms.

As a result of his own surveys, made at sea level and in airplanes flying to a height of 22,000 feet, Dr. Millikan emphatically reaffirmed his belief that primary cosmic rays consisted of photons, like light, and not of particles.

"As far as can be seen," Dr. Millikan continued, "the only possible source of the energies observed in cosmic radiation lies in atomic transformations of matter into energy in accordance with Einstein's equation."

Origin in Breakdown.

A small number of cosmic ray energies as high as 10,000,000,000 volts had been observed, Dr. Millikan said, and for these there seemed no origin except sudden and complete annihilation of whole atoms of helium, oxygen, carbon, and other elements.

It is possible, Dr. Millikan admitted, that annihilation is a result of conditions at an earlier stage in the history of the universe different from those now existing. At any rate, he insisted, both partial annihilation of matter, like that exhibited in the building of the common elements out of hydrogen, and complete annihilation of atoms seem to be called for to account for the energies found in cosmic rays.

Dozens of the greatest physicists in the world attended today's symposium on cosmic rays and heard the new evidence gathered not only from stratosphere ascents, but from high airplane flights, from mountain tops studies, and from observations made at sea level in far flung parts of the earth.

Tests at 19 Miles High.

Prof. Erich Regener of Stuttgart communicated the results of balloon ascents with instruments to a height of 31 kilometers [19.2 miles], or slightly more than 100,000 feet, while Prof. Arthur Holly Compton of Chicago told of studying cosmic rays from the top of Mount Evans in the Rockies.

Dr. Compton discussed curious bursts of ionization caused by cosmic rays, a phenomenon first discovered in 1927 by Prof. Karl Hofmann of Halle university in Germany. It was unlikely, said Dr. Compton, that the bursts could be ascribed to any kind of nuclear reaction. The frequency of the bursts, he said, was found to increase more rapidly with altitude than the intensity of the total cosmic ray beam.

He based his conclusion on an investigation by three scientists from the Massachusetts Institue of Technology—Prof. R. D. Bennett, Dr. C. S. Brown, and Dr. H. A. Rahmel—who took a 20 liter (5.2 gallons) steel chamber to the top of Mount Evans to measure the frequency and intensity of the bursts.

Forecasts Future Trend.

Lord Rutherford, head of the world famous Cavendish laboratory, opened this afternoon's discussion with a review of the last twenty years' work on atomic nuclei and forecast the lines of future research. He suggested the use of lithium, oxygen, and other nuclei as bombarding particles and said that he expected progress to be made by the closest collaboration among the theorists and the experimenters.

The delegates were welcomed to London by Sir Frederick Gowland Hopkins, president of the Royal society, who called the last year the "annus mirabilis" of science.

MARTHA HALL LEAVES HER FOUR MILLIONS TO CHARITY AND SCIENCE

New York, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Martha M. Hall, daughter of the late William Henry Hall, bequeathed virtually her entire 4 million dollar estate for charitable and scientific purposes, filing of the will disclosed today. She gave the executors full discretionary power to determine how the money shall be spent.

James Jay Morgan, a friend of Bronxville, N. Y., and Laurence A. Steinhardt, minister to Sweden, were named executors.

Julia R. Hall Elliott of Ware Neck, Va., a niece, was bequeathed a life estate in a trust fund of $100,000.

Other bequests totaled $125,000.

The Metropolitan Museum of Art was bequeathed paintings, curios, bronzes and statuary of unestimated value to be known as the "William Henry Hall Collection."

LERROUX PICKED AS HEAD OF 11TH SPANISH CABINET

Ex-Premier Is to Seek Catholic Party's Aid.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Oct. 2.—Alejandro Lerroux, veteran leader of the republican movement in Spain, today was named to tide the nation over another of its recurring governmental crises. It will be Spain's 11th government in the three years since the republic was formed.

ALEJANDRO LERROUX.

President Niceto Alcala y Zamora was confronted, after the resignation of the Ricardo Samper cabinet yesterday, with the choice of dissolving parliament, calling some one to form a majority government with members of José Marie Gil Robles' Catholic party in strategic cabinet positions, or of naming an "authentic" Republican leader. He choose the latter course.

Catholic Party to Get Three Posts.

At least three portfolios, however, will go to members of Gil Robles' organization, it is expected. Lerroux tonight was awaiting the arrival of the Catholic leader from Salamanca and declared he will make no statement until he has conferred with him.

Lerroux, who as leader of the Radical Republican party, headed the ninth Spanish government from March 3 to April 25 this year, said he would begin conferences tomorrow looking toward the formation of his cabinet. He is expected to profit by the fate of Ricardo Samper's government, which was supported by a coalition of minority groups, and derive his government's strength from the larger parties.

New Rumanian Cabinet.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Oct. 2.—Premier George Tatarescu formed a new Rumanian cabinet today with two changes. Nolescu Stronga is the new commerce minister, while the premier himself assumed the duties of Nicholas Titulescu, foreign minister, whose resignation yesterday precipitated the cabinet crisis. Titulescu was in Switzerland today and refused to return home to reënter the cabinet.

SAN FRANCISCO TREMOR MAKES DISHES RATTLE

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—San Francisco, Oakland, and other bay cities were slightly shaken today by two earth tremors which occurred ten minutes apart. No damage was reported.

The first shock, which came at 12:21 p. m., lasted several seconds. The second one, at 12:31 p. m., was sharper, rattling dishes on shelves. In San Francisco the disturbances were most severe in the western residential districts, sensitive to tremors because of sandy soil.

The quakes caused a ripple of excitement among delegates attending the American Federation of Labor convention at the Civic auditorium. There was instantaneous silence when the building shook in the midst of an address being delivered by Spencer Miller Jr., of New York. William Green, president of the federation, glanced anxiously at the ceiling but Miller went on speaking.

FIND LIGHT OF BLUE STARS IS DEATH TO MAN

But Atmosphere Screens Rays Out.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2.—(AP)—The discovery of huge "stars of death," the rays of which would wipe out all life if they could reach the earth, was announced today by the Smithsonian institution.

A vast shower of "death rays" sent out by these stars was found to consist mostly of ultraviolet light of very short wave length. Similar radiation is given off by the sun. The death rays, however, are screened out by a layer of ozone high in the earth's atmosphere.

Most of Blue Stars Deadly.

Virtually all of the blue colored stars were found to be of the "death" type. These stars have a heat at the surface of 36,000 degrees Fahrenheit, three times as hot as the sun. They were found to give off few of the sun's beneficial type of ultraviolet or heat rays such as make life possible on earth.

The discoveries came from research the last summer at Mount Wilson observatory, California, by Dr. Charles G. Abbot, secretary of the Smithsonian institution, and his assistant, I. B. Aldrich.

With new astronomical setups they made the most delicate measurements ever achieved of the energy of various wave lengths or colors of radiation coming from various kinds of stars.

Rigel a Typical One.

This star is literally too hot to be bright, the Smithsonian said, adding that the greater part of its radiation would not produce the sensation of light in an organism upon which it fell.

"Just what sensation it would produce is hard to say," the announcement declared.

STATE COLLECTS OVER ½ MILLION IN LIQUOR TAXES

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—Total receipts collected by the liquor revenue division of the state during September amounted to $595,069.36, it was announced today by K. L. Ames Jr., director of finance. Sales of revenue stamps and taxes paid on a gallonage basis, totaled $546,892.10 for the month and license fees brought in $48,177.26, Director Ames said.

Beer produced $189,339.34 of the September revenue and alcohol and spirits $343,977.25.

A total of $1,814,022.35 has been credited to the state distributive school fund by the September diversion of motor fuel receipts and proceeds from the retailers' occupation tax. Of the total for the month, $939,022.35 was from the motor fuel tax and $875,000 from the retailers' occupational tax.

SEEK TO COMPEL CITY TO RESTORE JUDGES' SALARIES

Mandamus actions were begun yesterday before the Illinois Supreme court to force Mayor Kelly and the city council to make appropriations for the full statutory salaries of Chicago Municipal court judges; and to require County Treasurer Nash to turn over to the Chicago city treasurer all money collected as penalties on delinquent real estate etaxes.

The judges' petition was filed by former Judge John H. Lyle. In his petition he contended that the city council had improperly cut judges' salaries in 1932, 1933, and 1934. He demanded that the council be compelled to appropriate $180,617.92 to repay the amount of the pay deductions from the original salaries of $15,000 a year for the chief justice and $10,000 for associate justices.

The tax penalty mandamus was filed in behalf of Mary M. Abbe and Mary E. Murray. It constituted a friendly action brought to settle the dispute as to whether tax penalties belong to the county alone or should be distributed the same as other tax receipts.

Gentlemen:

Nisley, retailers and manufacturers of the nation's quality shoes for women at $3.95 and $4.45, is celebrating their Ten Year Anniversary Jubilee, having completed this month a decade of successful growth, from one store to sixty-seven beautiful and well appointed stores from coast to coast.

Nisley's success is due to excellent service, unexcelled values, and the consistent use of newspaper advertising.

Eighteen months ago, Nisley's first Chicago store was opened and in the light of past experience we were prompted to use an afternoon newspaper for the major portion of our advertising appropriation.

March of this year after a careful study of our Chicago situation and the potential market possibilities for our shoes, we definitely decided that the Chicago newspaper situation was different and accordingly Nisley placed all of their Chicago newspaper advertising appropriation in the Tribune.

This autumn The Tribune was again selected to carry all of the Nisley advertising exclusively for Chicago and on just one basis: The Tribune has proven itself to be a superior advertising medium for Nisley.

Yours very truly,

THE NISLEY COMPANY,

R. W. Barnes

★Here is testimony that "Chicago is different" from a retailer operating 67 stores in cities from coast to coast.

When the Nisley chain, retailers and manufacturers of quality women's shoes, came to Chicago they followed the advertising policy which had brought them success in so many other markets. During their first year, 1933, they placed 65% of their advertising linage in an afternoon newspaper. The Tribune received 33%.

In March, this year, after making a careful study of results, Nisley decided that a single Chicago newspaper had the coverage they needed in this market. They shifted their advertising into the Tribune exclusively.

After a six-months' experience with advertising appearing only in the Tribune, Nisley again selects the Tribune exclusively—"and on just one basis: The Tribune has proven itself to be a superior advertising medium."

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

Gas is a Servant in the Home and a Factory Hand Too

Gas does more than heat houses, cook, heat water and furnish automatic refrigeration for the home.

It is working in factories, large and small, the country over. No heating job is too delicate and exacting for gas in industry; no heating job is too big.

Gas puts the iridium tip on your fountain pen, helps solder your jewelry or glasses, and heat-treats the tiny steel wheels in your watch. In a single industry—making automobiles—gas is used to dry varnishes, heat plating vats, cast plates for batteries, temper springs, harden bearings and piston pins, braze radiators and forge bumpers. It roasts vast quantities of coffee, bakes ice cream cones, smokes hams and bacons and toasts cereals.

Hundreds of the things you buy and use from day to day have been improved in quality or made more economical by the part gas plays in their manufacture.

up and down

the Sky Ride 21 times

You do that much climbing up and down basement stairs during the heating months. Now, automatic gas heat saves you this toil.

UP and down the World's Fair Sky Ride at least 21 times! That's the penalty you pay during each heating season for an old fashioned heating system. Up and down basement stairs time and time again during the long heating months. That's the drudgery you have to face to tend furnace, to see that your house is properly heated. You don't have to stand for it. Not when gas heat is so low in cost, so practical, so efficient.

Automatic gas heat does away with furnace worries. You don't have to wield a shovel. There are no ashes to haul, no heavy work, no soot, no dust, no dirt. And your house is always at the right temperature with never a care about the furnace. All you do is set a little thermostat on the wall and heat comes up—automatically, quickly. And it's clean heat.

Gas heat assures carefree winter months

Many thousands of families know the comforts of automatic gas heat. This winter their homes will be free of trouble, with more time spent for leisure instead of at a furnace door. And about the cost. You've probably heard that gas heat costs a trifle more. Sure it does. And so does every modern convenience so necessary to comfortable living. A vacuum cleaner costs more than a broom, a washing machine more than a washboard, an auto more than a horse. But when you take the results into consideration, the difference in cost is no factor. Gas heat offsets in good part its extra cost by saving you many dollars in cleaning and re-decorating expense.

You invest nothing to try gas heat

Get the facts on clean gas heat now. Investigate our startling offer to enable you to know the pleasures of gas heat. You invest nothing to try it. We'll install it at our expense, remove it at our expense if you don't like it.

We will install a burner in your present furnace or boiler at our expense. You pay only the rental on the equipment, which amounts to $3 a month for the heating months in the average home. This charge is included with the bill for the gas you use. You try it for one month, two months, a year. If within the year you find you are not completely satisfied we will take it out at our expense and replace your former heating equipment in good workmanlike order. But if you decide to keep gas heat—as thousands of others have done—the rental you have paid applies on the purchase price of the equipment.

Now—before the cold weather sets in—get the facts on gas heat and the countless pleasures it will bring to your home. Call your local gas company for details.

YOU INVEST NOTHING To Try Gas Heat

Gas heat can be installed without your investing one cent for equipment. To prove that every home can now afford to heat with gas, we'll install it at our expense—remove it at our expense, if you don't like it. Accept this startling offer. Phone your nearest gas office TODAY.

CONSTITUTIONAL REVISION CALLED A WASTE OF CASH

Lawyers Hear Convention Proposal Denounced.

Members of the Chicago Bar association at a luncheon yesterday heard David R. Clarke, attorney for the Illinois Manufacturers' association, attack the proposal to call a convention to draft a new Illinois constitution. Clarke declared such action would cause a needless, costly expenditure of the public money and that the people of Illinois do not want a new constitution.

The proposal for a constitutional convention will be voted upon at the Nov. 6 election. This method of changing the Illinois constitution, said Clarke, involves the necessity of three statewide preëlection campaigns, three statewide elections, and the organization and maintenance of a convention, twice the size of the Illinois senate, for an indefinite period.

Expense Runs to Millions.

"It is safe to say that the cost of all this machinery would place a burden of several millions of dollars upon the people of the state," asserted Clarke.

"In addition, there will be the cost arising from months of uncertainty as to the outcome of the constitutional convention, and the stability of personal rights. Then there will be the cost of establishing a new constitution, a great cost, through uncertainty and litigation, that is bound to follow a revision of fundamental law."

Where and if it is needed, Clarke said, the constitution can be changed by amendment, "an easy, inexpensive and expeditious method."

Stability Is Greatest Need.

"The constitution should be stable," he continued. "It should be changed only when, and then only to such an extent as, the people find it necessary."

Clarke pointed out that in 1922, at a cost of hundreds of thousands of dollars a constitutional convention submitted to the electors the best revised constitution it could devise. The vote was 185,000 for and 921,000 against the new basic law.

Mrs. Jimmy Garrigan Sues to Divorce Musician

James H. [Jimmy] Garrigan, orchestra leader, was sued for divorce in the Superior court yesterday by his wife, Neva, 25 years old, who charged cruelty. The cruelty began, the bill alleges, after a woman described only as a platinum blonde "blues" singer joined the orchestra and began receiving marked attention from the orchestra leader. The Garrigans were married in 1929 and separated last Thursday, the bill says.

A TRUE STORY

By A MOTHER

whose physician told her ten years ago how to keep her children well

HERE is a mother, who, with her three children, has been enjoying the blessings of perfect health ever since her doctor told her the secret ten years ago!

Her letter and the pictures she sends with it of these happy, healthy children, tell the story better than we can. She is Mrs. J. A. Sullivan, 180 Sherman Avenue, Meriden, Connecticut, and she writes as follows:

"I am enclosing several photographs of my youngsters. Some were taken quite a while ago, while those of myself and my little girl are more recent.

"We are enthusiastic Nujol users, and have been ever since my oldest boy, who is now ten, was a baby, when my physician advised me to give him Nujol.

"I have seen all three of them through all the children's diseases, which invariably come with the school age. However, no complications have ever occurred, nor have any bad after-effects developed, and I have always felt that this was due to the regular habits acquired by the systematic use of Nujol. We are all healthy and busily active from morning till night."

Why don't you follow Mrs. Sullivan's example, and see what Nujol will do for you when you take it regularly? It keeps millions of people well and happy.

Bring up your children on it to be regular as clockwork. It cannot hurt them; it is perfectly pure and absolutely harmless, and it forms no habit. Nujol is just a lubricant and is not absorbed by the body at all. Nujol comes in two forms, plain and Cream of Nujol, which is flavored and is often preferred by children. You can get both forms of Nujol at any drug store.

What is your Nujol story? If you have been using Nujol for ten years or more, if you are bringing up your children on it, tell us. Address Stanco Incorporated, 2 Park Av., Dept. 23-C, New York City

KRESGE HEIRESS IS GIVEN HER DIVORCE FROM BARON WIJK

DETROIT, Oct. 2—(AP)—The Baroness Wijk, the former Catherine Kresge, daughter of the five-and-ten cent store multi-millionaire, was granted a divorce here today from Baron Carl Carlson Wijk whom she married in England July 8, 1931.

She testified that the baron "habitually indulged in gross and objectionable vulgarity." After their marriage in England they lived for a time in France and then came here to live at Grosse Pointe farms. They were separated January 15, 1934.

When her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian S. Kresge, were separated by divorce, Miss Kresge was given 5 million dollars by her father.

CORONER'S JURY CLEARS DRIVER IN DEATH CASE

Ritchey Connor, 28 years old, Negro chauffeur, arrested Monday as a suspected hit-and-run motorist who caused the death of Nicholas J. Murphy, 56 years old, 3638 Lexington street, janitor at the May school, was exonerated at a coroner's inquest yesterday. Murphy's death was due to heart disease aggravated by injuries received in a fall, the coroner's physician reported.

Connor was arrested when Marie Georgopoulos, 13 years old, 557 South Lawndale avenue, told police she saw Connor push Murphy out of his car in the street near her home. Police supposed Murphy had been struck either by Connor's car or another, and that Connor became panicky while taking the injured man to a hospital.

At the inquest Marie testified she saw Connor drive past after Murphy staggered and fell. Because she was so excited when police questioned her the girl admitted she had unintentionally given misinformation. Leroy Carlson, 19 years old, 523 North Pine avenue, also testified he had seen Murphy stagger and collapse.

Held to Grand Jury on Confidence Game Charges

Charles A. Body, 62 years old, 320 Wisconsin avenue, Oak Park, was held to the grand jury yesterday by Police Magistrate George O'Brien of River Forest on two charges of operating confidence games. He is already under indictment in a similar case. He was accused of persuading investors to finance a plant in Cicero to produce linen with an imported machine. William A. Slaughter, 7353 Lake street, alleged he gave Brody $6,000. Three other warants charging the offense are scheduled for hearing in Oak Park on Oct. 9.

DIES SUDDENLY IN STREET.

Charles Tate, 60 years old, 6037 Champlain avenue, a painter, succumbed to a heart attack yesterday as he was walking at Exchange avenue and Halsted street, near the stockyards.

METHODISTGROUP OPENS MEETING IN SYCAMORE

Sycamore, Ill., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—The 95th sessions of the Rock River annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal church were organized here today under the presidency of Bishop Frederick D. Leete, of Omaha, Neb. The conference is convening in the historic First Methodist Episcopal church which dates its tentative organization in 1835, when Methodist settlers began holding services in the home of Pioneer Mark Daniel.

With the exception of Bishop Leete as conference president in the absence of Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf, who is conducting conferences in Bishop Leete's area, all officers of the conference elected today are the same as last year. These include the Rev. James O'May, secretary; the Rev. Chester Loughton, treasurer, and the Rev. Stockton M. Swaney, statistician. Charles O. Loucks, 10 South La Salle street, Chicago, was reëlected president of the lay conference.

Tomorrow the conference will observe its annual memorial service for pastors or members of their families who have died since the last conference. The necrology roll this year contains 19 names, including that of Mrs. John L. Nuelson, late wife of Bishop Nuelson of Geneva, Switzerland, head of central European area of the church. Bishop Nuelson was a member of the Rock River conference before his election to the episcopacy. He is the senior active bishop of the Methodist church.

Co-ed Dies from Blister Caused by a New Shoe

Carbondale, Ill., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—Miss Nina Shupe of Vergennes, Ill., 18 year old co-ed at the Southern Illinois Teachers' college here, died today from blood poisoning which resulted from a blister a new pair of shoes had rubbed on her heel. She died in a Duquoin hospital after being there less than a week.

ICEBERGS DEFEAT SHIP'S STRUGGLE TO RESCUE PRIEST

CHURCHILL, Man., Oct. 2.—(AP)—With a gaping hole in her side and her crew suffering from exhaustion and exposure, the Catholic mission supply ship Pius XI was in port tonight with one objective—the rescue of Father H. N. Bazin—unrealized.

Trapped in wild gales on her 800 mile journey to Bepulse bay in the Arctic circle, the little ship fought clear and returned to port after delivering supplies for the winter to mission posts in the extreme north.

Early winter squalls, freezing temperatures and icebergs prevented the Pius XI from going another 700 miles to Igloolik where Father Bazin has been stranded for four years. He has not been heard from since early in 1933 when Eskimos said he was still ministering to the natives in the farthest north Christian mission.

Cagney Takes 8 Yacht Trips; Sick 8 Times

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—Jimmy Cagney always did like the sea and ships and he's been out eight times on his newly acquired 65 foot schooner Martha. But the whole point of it is that he has been seasick eight times, too. "I always get seasick," Jimmy says, "and I never seem to be entirely cured of it till we get back to the dock. But there's no sport as interesting or as much fun as yachting. I love it."

Central casting bureau, organized and sponsored by the Association of Motion Picture Producers [Hays office] has opened an entirely new department—a complaints department. The complaints department will hear the grievances of extra players and try to iron them out. More than 200 complaints were filed the first day. Most of the complaints were based on lack of work.

The reorganized central casting tries to rotate the available jobs for extras so that all can get some work sooner or later but as there are only 400 jobs a week on an average and there are 15,000 registered extras, there probably always will be some complaints.

Allan MacDonald, ex-actor and social worker, and Mrs. Ethel Callin, ex-actress, and also a social worker, are in charge of the complaints bureau. Organization of this new department was one of the aftermaths of the scandal connected with the Dave Allen régime at central casting which ended in the trial of Allen and Miss Gloria Marsh on morals charges with a retrial now being awaited by this pair. Campbell MacCulloch is Allen's successor in charge of central casting.

Vince Barnett, the ribber, today finished his part in Fox's "Hell in the Heavens" and was chatting with some of the fellows at the studio when one asked: "What are you going to do with those two reelers you made by yourself?" "I'm going to make half a million dollars out of them," Barnett retorted proudly. "That so, where are you going to place them?" "O," said Barnett, "I've made a deal to sell them to a company which will cut them into 2 million pieces and sell every piece for a quarter for banjo picks."

After months of discussion about her dresses for the picture, her dialog, her director and her cast, Peggy Fears is launched on her first film, "Lottery Lover," at Fox with a cast including Pat Paterson, Lew Ayres, Sterling Holloway, Nick Foran and Eddie Nugent. William Thiele is the director.

Janet Gaynor telephoned yesterday to say her westbound auto was at Omaha and ought to finish the drive to Hollywood by Oct. 10. Her mother, Mrs. Laura Gaynor, and her companion, Lillian Myhre, are with her.

Hang Portraits by Trebilcock at Tavern Club

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Paul Trebilcock has attained in the last few years the enviable position of portrait painter to society. Recently he painted President Roosevelt's portrait and a season ago in New York he painted Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt and her sister Thelma, Viscountess Furness. An exhibit of Trebilcock's portraits of women is on view at the Tavern club, 333 North Michigan avenue.

It is hard to hang large paintings in narrow quarters. The portraits are installed through the corridor and lounging room. They are decorative and picturesque, but equally are they insipid and lacking in character. The strong flavor of personality, which makes or breaks a portrait, is entirely absent from these surface impressions. Even the photograph of Roosevelt's portrait shows it a sentimental affair, smoothed and ironed, a touched up conception that leaves one cold.

Paul Trebilcock has painted a number of stunning portraits of men. He has painted university men and professional men and made a capital job of it. He has painted exquisite figure compositions of women against romantic backgrounds. He has painted a few simple portraits of women against an Italian background, quite unassuming but most effective.

The present exhibit includes portraits of Mrs. Gail Borden, Mrs. William Cox, Mrs. Peter C. Lutkin, Mrs. D'Orsay Palmer and Mrs. Richard Bolster. His reputation would do well to rest on work done previous to these. Particularly does the portrait of Mrs. William Cox threaten the myth of his genius. The exhibit will continue through October.

Cecil Smith, Polo Player, Weds Long Island Girl

Wading River, L. I., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—Miss Mary Mulford Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Miller of Wading River, was married here this afternoon to Cecil Smith of Llano, Tex., polo player and No. 3 on the west team, and son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Smith of Llano. The ceremony took place in the Congregational church, the pastor, the Rev. Clarence Eugene Doane, officiating.

Sargent Collier Writes Article on Clow Home

Residence Called Example of New Movement.

BY JUDITH CASS.

"THE William E. Clow Jr. house in Lake Forest is a crystalization of the new movement. It profits by tradition, respects the classic principles, yet is quietly adventurous and definitly modern," writes Sargent Collier in the latest issue of Town and Country. We might scratch out the word house and substitute family and then the sentence would be an ideal one to head this item, which is to be about the Clows, for without any fuss or bother they are celebrating their twenty-sixth wedding anniversary today.

They made as little, or even less, of having completed a quarter of a century together, for last year on their silver wedding Mrs. Clow was in Williamsburg, Ont., taking treatment for the arthritis from which she suffers, and Mr. Clow was en route home from a partridge shooting expedition to the Island club in northern Wisconsin. And yesterday when we talked to Miss Francise, their younger daughter, who just had arrived at home from a summer in Austria, she said she would have forgotten that today was the anniversary of her parents' marriage if we had not reminded her of it. It isn't that the Clows lack sentiment, it is just that they are "definitly modern," and they make no pretense of any sort.

Article by Husband of Eleanor McCormick.

The short article by Mr. Collier and the lovely pictures of the Clows' neo-Doric house that illustrate it are of great interest to Chicagoans, not only because the house is in Lake Forest but because young Mr. Collier is the husband of Eleanor McCormick. Their marriage took place last June 30 in Bar Harbor and they now are living in Walpole, Mass.

The house was completed about five years ago, and ever since motorists on North Green Bay road have craned their necks to glimpse the brick house, painted white, behind white walls which almost hide it from public view.

Black iron urns surmount the wall on the Green Bay side, and between the wall and the sidewalk are three tiers of privet "trimmed and stepped back like the broad seats of a Greek theater; a highly successful example of modern landscape architecture." We again borrow words from Mr. Collier.

Present Fashion Tableaux at Geneva.

The three hundred women who saw the tableaux "From Bombazine to Cellophane" yesterday and the day before at the Little Traveler in Geneva applauded the old fashions more loudly than they did the modern ones. But not one smart woman of the audience would have exchanged her simple, close fitting fall frock and sleek, smooth bob for the loveliest of the old gowns and the most becoming old fashioned coiffure.

The old fashions are lovely and more picturesque in tableaux than the new ones, but women today demand streamlines in clothes as well as in cars. Miss Jane Dunham, who arranged the tableaux, seems to have started a Kane county historical museum by collecting so many lovely old costumes, for there was much talk yesterday by residents of the Fox river valley of starting such a museum with some of the costumes as a nucleus.

There was little similarity between the old and the new in the women's fashions, but it was noticeable how much alike were some of the cunning children's frocks of today and some of the quaint old ones. Wee "Thea" Lindsay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Lindsay III., and "Pussy" Kelley, daughter of the McClure Kelleys, were among those who looked as their great-great-grandmothers might have looked when they were little girls.

Some of the other models were Mrs. Victor Elting, Miss Mimi Orr, Mrs. John Dole and her elder son Peter, Miss Elizabeth Ferriss, Sally Bangs, Mrs. Donald Walker, Miss Mary Richards, Mrs. David McDougal, Mrs. Edward McDougal, Mrs. Robert Fauntleroy, Mrs. John Van Nortwick, Mrs. Perry Dryden, and Miss Isabel Phillips.

A few of those who saw the tableaux were Mrs. James Ward Thorne, Mrs. A. Charles Goodrich, Mrs. Ralph Poole, Mrs. Seymour Wheeler, Mrs. Albert Partridge, Mrs. Arthur A. Small, Mrs. Robert R. McCormick, Mrs. Guy Warren, Mrs. James B. Forgan Jr., Mrs. John Mecham, Mrs. William R. Ryan, and Mrs. Francis P. Butler.

Arts Club Tea Opens Season.

The Arts club had a festive opening tea yesterday afternoon with almost as many men present as women. The marble topped tea table looked lovely and gay with its silver service and two huge bowls of fresh autumn flowers.

Only twenty-seven out of fifty-four debutantes are at home to participate in the St. Luke's fashion show—the others are away at colleges—but these twenty-seven filled the Casino with youth and beauty yesterday afternoon at the tea that Mrs. A. Watson Armour gave for the debutantes who will take part in St. Luke's annual fashion show. Mrs. Armour, smart in black, received the buds with a half dozen board members who are taking active part in managing the show, among them Mrs. I. Newton Perry, who has charge of models, and Mrs. Walter B. Wolf, who is contacting the shops that will exhibit.

Mrs. Wolf will tell the history of St. Luke's hospital and the allocation of the funds raised through the annual fashion show of the woman's board at a tea this afternoon at the Fortnightly. Mrs. Grant Laing and Mrs. Selim W. McArthur, members of the St. Luke's board, will be hostesses.

ALTHOUGH the epitaph department is officially closed, we feel you ought to know about this fanciful one, contributed by Anne J. Targ:

"Killed by an omnibus—why not?
So quick a death a boon is Let not his friends lament his lot—
Mors omnibus communis."

SIGNA M. JOHNSON contributed the inscription found on a tombstone in Garden Prairie cemetery at Garden Prairie, Ill.:

"Daniel Stott died
June 12-1881
Poisoned by his Wife and
Dr. Cream."

That interested us because of the reference to Dr. Cream. Was it the Dr. Neal Cream who was hanged in London in 1892 after six English women had tasted his poison pellets? Dr. Cream had been convicted of murder in the United States and later pardoned, and if we remember correctly, there was at least one Illinois murder traceable to his "long pills." A section of a book called "Murder and Its Motives" was devoted to Dr. Cream and its activities, but the book is not to be found at the book-sellers' today. Anyway, readers cognizant of the macabre history of the late Dr. Cream may be interested to know about the Illinois gravestone.

Sees Molitore Gaining Place on Opera Stage

Tenor Has Voice Made to Order for "Faust."

"Faust," by Gounod, presented by the San Carlo Opera company at the Auditorium Tuesday, Oct. 2.

THE CAST.

Marguerite	Mary McCormic
Faust	Edward Molitore
Mephistopheles	Leon Rothier
Valentine	Mario Valle
Siebel	Charlotte Bruno
Wagner	Fausto Bozza
Martha	Philine Falco

Students, soldiers, villagers, etc.
Conductor, Carlo Peroni.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

One of the items of news in last night's performance is the fact that Edward Molitore seems destined to become a factor in the tenor branch of operatic singing in the United States. His voice would seem to have been planned in weight and quality expressly for this opera. It is heavy enough to be dominating where a dominant degree is desirable, light enough and mellow enough to project all the loveliness of the suave love music that Gounod wove around this Parisian version of the Faust legend.

They say that the second night of an opera season always lets down from the first. It is not true and the San Carlo Opera company proves that it is not true. "Faust" was quite as eager, as smoothly running, as well balanced as "Aïda" had been the night before. Here was Miss McCormic as ornamental to the stage picture as she has ever been in an operatic performance and singing Marguerite's luscious music in a way that, if it was not altogether even, brought out phrases of great beauty and emphasized brilliant points just at the spot where they ought to be emphasized. As a result, when she finished the Jewel song, the audience indulged itself in a burst of applause that was hearty and prolonged even for San Carlo audiences.

And there was the striking Mephistopheles by Mr. Rothier. He was celebrating the thirty-fifth anniversary of his entrance upon the operatic stage, but there was only one way you could have noticed it. This was in the ripened, superbly expert delineation of the character, the unfailing and experienced knowledge of the technic of the stage. From a vocal standpoint you would have been willing to testify that he had just recently arrived at full maturity and was rejoicing in the fact. All of which means that he knows about all that there is to know about the art of singing.

Likewise there was the brilliant, if brief, appearance of Mr. Valle as Valentine, Miss Falco's Martha, hardly new in these regions but richly and unfailingly comic, and some excellent singing by Miss Bruno as Siebel. Also the well trained and alert chorus was as much of a factor in the performance as it had been for "Aïda."

Cort Theater Ends Career as Playhouse

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

The close of the history of the Cort theater, 132 North Dearborn street, as a legitimate playhouse was marked yesterday with an announcement that "The Pursuit of Happiness," booked for a première at the Cort next Monday night, will have its Chicago engagement at the Blackstone.

U. J. [Sport] Herrmann, owner and manager of the Cort since its dedication in 1908, intends to have the structure remodeled for use either as a theater restaurant or for commercial purposes.

"It is impossible for me to operate the Cort any longer as a theater under its old policy," Mr. Herrmann stated. "I am now considering two propositions, either of which will involve structural changes in the building. One of them will transform the Cort into a theater restaurant, similar to those which are now prospering in New York, with dinner service, cabaret shows and public dancing. The other will turn the site over to regular business uses. I will make my decision within two or three weeks."

The Cort theater, built by Mr. Herrmann, the late H. H. Frazee and associates along unique architectural lines, has been one of the most popular playhouses in Chicago for the last twenty-five years. Its intimate character was admirably suited to the acting of domestic comedies and farces, and more than any of its rivals it had a loyal following. A seat in the back row or in the highest point of the lofty gallery never caused any of its patrons to complain that they could not hear the actors. Thus long runs became a commonplace occurrence at the Cort, and bookings there were eagerly sought by managers of touring companies.

The engagement of "The Pursuit of Happiness" will be under the sponsorship of a new organization called Playgoers, Inc. Seymour Blair and Luther Green, promoters of the recent Exhibition of Theater Arts, are its leaders. They will canvass for subscriptions to a series of three plays at the Blackstone, of which "The Pursuit of Happiness" will be the first.

Portrait of Marion Davies Still Hanging as Exhibit Closes

VENICE, Italy, Oct. 2.—(AP)—The face of Marion Davies, American screen star, smiling down from her portrait at the entrance of the American pavilion at the Biennial Art exposition today had won a complete triumph over Mrs. Juliana Force, director of the Whitney Art museum, New York.

Mrs. Force, who alleged that Miss Davies' portrait was hung in the pavilion without her consent, sued to have all the United States pictures withdrawn. The biennial closed today, however, with the portrait still hanging.

Mrs. Force's suit came up yesterday, was postponed, and now is being withdrawn.

Sweaters Lead Style Parade to Football Games

Knitted Dresses Another Fashion Feature.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Nothing like the first football games to bring out the newest things in spectator sports clothes. Last Saturday's feminine rooters certainly proved the popularity of sweaters and separate skirts. There were almost as many twin sweater sets as seats in the stadium. Fuzzy models, not so fuzzy numbers, and all kinds of slim looking cashmeres.

The new arrivals that button down the back managed to get into the spotlight, and from the majority of matching colors in the slipovers and the cardigan tops, any observing collector will know now that a sweater buyer no longer shops for contrasts. This season both sweaters match exactly as to color.

Smooth looking knitted dresses came in droves, with grand color accents at the neckline, achieved with the new fringed soft wool neckerchiefs. Loose tweed topcoats, with slick eye filling, high colored wool frocks under them, kept the wearers warm as well as pictorially fashionable. Red, russet, and shades of golden brown were the colors that practically wiped out all the somber blacks and blues.

Green in every imaginable shade, besides the goofy little green caps all the very verdant freshmen wear, wangled a large place in the grandstand. Some of the best looking green topcoats and green wool dresses that have been seen in weeks were plentiful.

Bright plaids and checks could, without much exaggeration, be heard for blocks. The young bloods have certainly gone in for width, size, and brilliant color, when it comes to either a checked or plaid wool coat, suit, or three piece ensemble. And the top coverings were nearly all big and better berets, in soft lethers, woolen fabrics, and knitted numbers.

Hairdressers Will Offer Style Show for Public Tonight

BY ELEANOR NANGLE.

The coiffure and fashion show open to the public, to be held tonight in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Sherman under the auspices of the Chicago and Ilinois Hairdressers' association will be an elaborate testimony of that group's belief that Chicago is destined to become the style center of America, and of their immediate aim to make it the center for creative coiffures.

Last year the association, in recognition of the growing importance of hair arrangement in the scheme of feminine fashion, created a hair styles committee of some thirty of their members who were to act as style arbiters and to work with the milliners and fashion designers for complete harmony.

In tonight's show models will display the newest in hair styles and fashions for all ages and activities.

Interspersed with these showings of what's new will be a diverting backward look at what was high style of old.

Tells Fashion Group All Women of U. S. Are Alert to Styles

Twenty-five women from Paris, New York, and Chicago who have made a profession of some phase of fashion, met yesterday at luncheon in the Palmer house under auspices of the Fashion Group of Chicago and exchanged notes on the situation at home and abroad. They heard Mrs. Mary Brooks Picken, head of the Fashion Group of New York, assert that sartorial smartness in America is by no means exclusive with the country's two largest cities.

After a tour of fourteen of the important style centers, Mrs. Picken asserted that everywhere in the hinterlands are found women who are keenly aware of the developments in Paris, New York, and Chicago almost as promptly as they occur. Women on the west coast and in the central cities, she added, are equally chic with those in the east and abroad.

Hollywood, where she spent much time with Adrian, Orry Kelly, Travis Banton, and other leading designers, cannot be denied credit for tremendous talent and ingenuity, Mrs. Picken declared. The fabrics employed by these artists, she added, contribute vastly to the superb creations they turn out for various actresses.

Mrs. Ford Carter, regional director in Chicago for the international Fashion Group, introduced Mrs. Picken and other visiting members, including Mrs. Dora Loues Miller of the Paris orginzation, and Miss Alice Rickert.

BLAZING GUNS

By WILLIAM MacLEOD RAINE

SYNOPSIS.

Mary Landis inherited the Lazy B ranch from her uncle. It adjoins the Circle 3 T ranch, owned by Chet Radbourne, powerful boss in the country and Mary's legal guardian. He has been stealing Mary's cattle and trying to force her to marry him. To escape his tyranny Mary marries Cole Sanburn, fearless young outlaw and suspected train robber, within an hour after meeting him. The marriage is one in name only, giving them both better advantage to fight against their common enemy. Jordan, one of Chet's men, captures Mary and sends her back to Circle 3 T. Cole, unaware of Mary's plight, rides into Jonesboro with Rusty Hunter, one of his trusted men. He gets Judge Fairley to terminate Chet's guardianship over Mary. Cole kills Jordan in self-defense and is exonerated. Chet sends Slim Calhoun, a good looking young outlaw, to ride the range with Mary. After a run-in with Chet and Haskell, Chet's foreman, Slim leaves the Circle 3 T and takes a letter from Mary to Chet, who accepts Slim as a recruit. By a trick, Cole outwits Chet's men, among them Gray Shirt, and captures Lazy B ranch without bloodshed. He returns Chet's men to him, making Chet the laughing stock of the country. Cole makes Chet realize public opinion will be against him if he harms Mary—a woman. Even Gray Shirt, the hired killer, deserts Chet because of his tactics. Mary worries when she realizes she is safe, but her husband—though in name only—is in danger. Cole brings Mary back to Jonesboro and the protection of the kind Peters family and gets a triumphant welcome.

INSTALMENT XXXIII.

AN UNWELCOME JOKE.

The editor's gimlet eyes fastened on Cole. "The Beacon comes out tomorrow. You want to read it, young fellow. I'm sure going to make the eagle scream. I'll betcha when the Circle 3 T gallows birds read it they will want to sell themselves a dozen for 30 cents."

"Much obliged, Tim. I've got another job for you, if you have time to set it up."

"I'll be working half the night anyhow," Alderson said. "I haven't any time to take on odd jobs. What is it you want?"

Cole explained.

The bright eyes of the small man fairly smoked. "Say, I'll take on that job. You sit right down at my desk and write your poster."

Sanborn was no journalist. He spent some time at his task before he got it finished. Alderson made some suggestions, then set up and ran the job.

"How many you want?" he asked before he finished the printing.

"A hundred will do. I want to plaster the town with them and stick some up at crossroads here and there in the country.

"Then I'll strike off two hundred," the editor said. "There are going to be a lot of citizens in this town come to me to get a copy of this poster as a souvenir. If you whip Radbourne they will paste this masterpiece of yours on their walls; if you don't, they will bury them deep in their trunks."

As he swung to the saddle a puff of wind lifted the hat from his head. Almost at the same time there was the crack of a revolver.

"Looks like I'm going to be either a live hero or a dead dog," Cole said dryly.

"One or the other," Alderson agreed.

The poster read:

FOUND.

Sixteen broomtails with the Circle 3 T brand straying at the foot of Big Pine point. Picked up Wednesday afternoon. May be reclaimed at the Longhorn corral by paying feed bill.

Also sixteen rifles and six guns come upon at same time and place after having been abandoned by tenderfoot owners. These may be called for at Poston's blacksmith shop and can be gathered from the junk pile of scrap iron. COLE SANBORN.

An irruption of six bowlegged men in chaps created a diversion.

"I got the hammers and the tacks for you, Cole," Dave shouted. "Though what in time you want with them is more than I can guess."

Cole divided the posters. He gave each of the men fifteen.

"I want them posted all over this town. Stick 'em on trees, walls, fences, in saloons, and any other conspicuous spots you notice."

The six bowlegged bipeds read the poster and whooped.

"That'll bring the lid off'n Jerry Haskell's private can of cuss words," Rusty said. "Dawged if it won't peel the thick hide from two-three gents who don't feel noways loving toward you."

"Meet me at Hal Peter's house in about an hour," Cole said. "And don't get careless, boys. We corralled most of the Circle 3 T riding stock, except what is on the range or in the big pasture. I don't expect the warriors of Chet will be down here on the peck for quite some time yet, but you never can tell. I wouldn't want any casualties among you at the end of a perfect day."

The six men in chaps trooped out to see that Cole's advertising got a good display.

Cole talked with Alderson a few minutes before he followed his men into the street. He pulled the slip knot that tied the bridle rein of his horse to the hitch rack in front of the Beacon office.

As he swung to the saddle a puff of wind lifted the hat from his head. Almost at the same time there was a crack of a revolver. Swiftly Cole slid to the ground, on the same side of the horse from which he had mounted. Before his feet touched earth a .44 had leaped from its holster to his hand. Back of the animal he waited, watching the dark alley where he had seen the flash.

He heard a rustling sound and flung a random shot into the alley.

Alderson's voice came from behind him. "What is it?" the editor asked.

"Some one fired at me from the alley," Cole explained. "He's there yet. Better drift back into the office, Tim. You're in the line of fire."

"You better come too," Alderson advised, and vanished.

Cole did not take his advice. He had important business on hand. His senses were keyed to an acute pitch. Intently he listened. The faintest murmur of a sound might be invaluable information. His eyes bored into the patch of darkness that was the alley. Crouched against the wall there somewhere was a man with murder in his heart.

Again the stealthy rustling. Cole's gun flashed. There came to his ears the pounding of feet in rapid retreat. The ambusher was no longer trying to conceal his whereabouts. He was flying in panic for his life.

Snatching up his hat, Cole vaulted to the saddle, swung the horse, and drove straight for the alley. A shadowy figure ducked round a corner. The rider wheeled his peg pony into an alley at right angles with the first. Abruptly he pulled up. Nobody was in sight. No sound came to him, except the roar of many voices from the Arcadia. The back door of the gambling house was open.

Cole dismounted, pushing the six gun back into its holster. A black object on the ground caught his eye. It was a hat. Cole picked it up. He trailed the bridle reins and passed through the door into the Arcadia.

The place was filled with drinkers, gamblers, leafers milling about, and onlookers "sweating" the games.

Cole's entrance created some attention from those nearest him, and that interest moved with him as he walked through the crowd. A dozen men greeted him. He answered perfunctorily, his eyes sweeping the place, back and forth. He was looking for some man who might be an enemy, and he did not want notice of that person's presence to come to him in the form of a bullet.

Cole continued toward the front of the house. He saw Lauret. The man was pretending to watch a faro game, but Cole observed that he was breathing deeply. He noticed also that he could not keep his eyes on the table. They went stabbing here and there uneasily. As yet he had not seen Cole.

Sanborn stepped in close to the man, back of him, on his right side.

"I've brought the hat you dropped, Mr. Lauret," he said evenly, in a low distinct voice.

Lauret could not prevent a start. He swung round, hand at hip.

"What do you mean my hat?" he demanded.

"Isn't it your hat?" Cole drawled, his words spaced. "You dropped it at the back door, and it has your initials in it."

There were tiny beads of perspiration on the white forehead of the gambler. He swallowed a lump before he answered.

"Not my hat," he answered, huskily.

"Never saw you without a hat before," Cole said, watching him intently. "Where is your hat?"

"That's my business."

"And mine. You look like you have been running, Mr. Lauret."

"That's not true."

"Bad for the heart when a man leads the kind of life you do," Cole told him. "You're out of practice, both as a runner and with a six gun."

Doris Blake Answers

It Speaks for Itself.

"Dear Miss Blake: I like a boy, but he does not give me any attention. How should I go about seeing if he likes me? FRECKLES."

His lack of attention speaks for itself, Freckles. You'll find there are always dates and more dates when there is sufficient interest.

She'll Appreciate Call.

"Dear Miss Blake: We became good friends while working together. She has left the firm. Will it be polite if I called her up and made a date? "BILL."

Very polite and friendly and no doubt she'll be delighted to know you haven't forgotten her, Bill.

Residence Called Example of New Movement.

parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Clark, will receive from 4 to 7 o'clock in their home in Barrington. Carrington Clark and his bride, Carol Crocker of Boston, are in Kansas City now, but Mrs. Clark doesn't expect that they will be able to come to Chicago for Miss Clark's debut.

The members of the board of the Lighthouse for the Blind announced yesterday that they have taken over the performances of the San Carlo Opera company, now playing a three weeks' engagement at the Auditorium, for the evenings of Oct. 10 and 17 as a benefit for their philanthropy. Mrs. Stanley Morrill has been elected the general chairman of the enterprise, with Mrs. James C. Ames chairman of the box committee and Mrs. Oliver Perry Kline chairman of tickets.

At a meeting of the Lighthouse Volunteer Aids at 11:30 Friday morning at the home of Mrs. Wilbur C. Smith, 1400 State parkway, the senior board will enlist the support of the youthful aids. At this meeting the aids will also elect officers.

Convalescent Home Plans Benefit Party.

In the interest of its annual dinner dance to be given on Nov. 3 at the Palmer house the junior board of the Chicago Home for Convalescent Women and Children entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Woman's Athletic club. The enthusiasm with which Mrs. Alan Lockard, the new president, and Mrs. Edwin S. Ford, chairman of the benefit, spoke of the party convinced every one that it will be the best ever given. Mrs. Carl Leigh and Mrs. Wilbur McWhinney, who are assisting Mrs. Ford, explained that the ballroom will be decorated à la Halloween with autumn foliage and that the popular Sammy Williams will play in the bar for those who become song minded later in the evening.

Dynamic little Mrs. F. David Meachem, thinking of the children that the junior board supports, announced that they would be given a Halloween party, too, but on the proper date.

Otto Teegen Will Be Guest at Party.

An unusual party on today's calendar is the cocktail shower at which Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Patrick Geraghty are entertaining from 5 to 7 at their apartment at 11 Scott street for Otto Teegen. On Saturday Mr. Teegen, who arrives today from New York, will take Miss Dorothy Schmidt, daughter of Mrs. Frederick M. Schmidt, for his bride at a service at the Schmidt home.

The Geraghtys have asked each one of their guests to bring a gift appropriate for a bridegroom and now they are waiting anxiously to see just what the shower will be. After the party Miss Schmidt and Mr. Teegen will be guests at a dinner party to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas I. Underwood at home. On Friday noon Arthur Meeker and his sister and brother-in-law, the Ambrose C. Cramers, are giving a luncheon for Miss Schmidt and Mr. Teegen at the Casino.

Everything from sports clothes to evening gowns is in order this evening for the farewell party at the Century club, although, it is pointed out, the affair which is to be carried off in a carnival spirit will be more informal than formal. The official party of the evening will be that of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeker, for Mr. Meeker has served the club as president these two World's Fair seasons.

At 4:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Indian Hill club Miss Margaret Cowden Harding, daughter of the John Cowden Hardings of Evanston, will become the bride of Charles Hogg Cecil, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Samuel Cecil of Hazel Green, Ky. Mrs. Harding Starrett will be her sister's only attendant, and Horace Miller Clay of Lexington, Ky., will attend Mr. Cecil as best man. Mr. Cecil and his bride will reside at 319 Sheridan road, Winnetka.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

One of the most important of the beauty items that sneaked into town while we had our back turned is a pretty miraculous product that takes adequate care of the broken or brittle nail situation.

It's just come to town from California; seems that movie stars have that nail difficulty, even as you and I—and they're crazy about this red oil. One luscious lady buys it in slathers to keep her finger tips so glamorous. She's a heavy liquid polish user and feels it's only wisdom to keep this nail nourisher on hand.

We got our bottles for experimentation some time before the Chicago shops were stocked and took one with us while we vacationed. We'll admit that we went back to nature to the extent of leaving liquid polish off but that alone wouldn't account for the improvement in our nails. It was the daily—well, almost—massage with this heavy oil. Must have been. We've carted two broken nails around with us for years, as dozens of this town's manicurists can testify. Cutting them below the split didn't help and exercising decent restraint in our attack on the typewriter keys didn't either. We felt we were scarred for life.

This nail rejuvenator did the trick—and in two weeks, mind you. We can recommend it highly to all of you who yearn for long nails, sans ridges and with smooth, shapely tips. If yours are pretty ratty looking, take the polish off every night and work the oil in and around the nail. If they're just a bit bumpy and inclined to break off more frequently than they should, seeing as how you don't break rocks with your fingers, a couple of times a week will be sufficient.

This blessed oil that makes new nails out of old won't break you, you'll be glad to know, and it will groom your finger tips to new and shining lengths. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Women Should Work for Own Eyebrow Line

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

A good many women do not take to eye shadow. They feel conspicuous and because they haven't been at the practice of its application long they do not make effective jobs. No other branch of makeup calls for quite the same fine artistic hand as does the touching up of the eyelid and lashes, for day wear, especially, although it is a question whether inexpert eye make-up for night wear isn't just as hardening. If this eye work isn't done cleverly it ages one, in addition to hardening the expression. So, I think it wiser for one without the gift or the practiced technique of making up eyelids, to try other measures of eye beautifying.

There's one trick of making eyes appear larger in the way the eyebrows are trimmed. Plucking the under eyebrow lines does it. You widen the space between the eye socket and the brow, throwing the eye into more definite prominence. In shaping the brow the arch center can be raised a bit higher than one has been wearing. In fact, all eyebrow work should be done with intent to improve the eye, rather than to follow a movie star's eyebrow design.

There isn't any reason on earth why you can't change the shape of your eyebrows if you can see a promised improvement to your eyes. Not a freak change, however. Besides, the freak brow is passé anyway, whether it is the extremely thin line or the line that goes off in a tangent at the outer corners. Another freak shaping that is frowned upon in better informed circles is that odd development of recent days which allots an inch of heavy growth near the eyes and then a long, thin trail out to the temples. It does the very thing that close meeting brows do. It's a funny thing to do with an eyebrow, anyway. It destroys the eye beauty, too, for that long, thin tail is not what the eye needs.

Keep the pencil away from the lower lid. That line sometimes drawn along the roots of the lower lashes makes he eye appear smaller. And you want to be a big-eyed girl this season, you know.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

HANDLING A VOID SUIT.

Assuming that the opening bidder olds the same hand as we were emloying yesterday,

Sp. A Q x	Di. K Q x
Ht. A J x	Cl. K 10 x x

but the responding hand is a freak—a magnificent freak—

Sp. —	Di. A J x x x
Ht. K Q J x x x	Cl. A x

the bidding will be as before—one no trump, three hearts, four hearts [accepting the slam try on two aces], four primary tricks, and a sound hand in type and composition. Now the responder knows he can discard his losing club on the ace of spades in case opener's clubs were Q J x x. He needs to know only about the diamonds, and should bid five in this suit.

Advanced Constructive Slam Bidding.

The opening bidder, with K Q x, should respond to five diamonds by bidding six diamonds. He must realize that his partner has no intention of playing the hand in diamonds, having at best only A J at the top of his holding. Diamonds may be a secondary suit, a cue bid, or a constructive short suit bid. One thing is certain—the responding partner has an urgent reason for finding out about the diamond suit. With K Q x opener is called on to raise. If his partner has the single ace, two discards are provided for losers in other suits. If the suit is longer, the K Q will fill it out and eliminate losers. This five-diamond bid is not necessarily calling for the ace of diamonds—the plea is for diamond support for purposes of a slam in hearts or no trump.

Over the raise to six diamonds, the responding partner bids seven hearts, which only a first-round ruff will defeat. Opener naturally passes, having duly resigned control of the bidding after saying four hearts.

The Same Bidding for Another Purpose.

Opener's hand:

Sp. K Q J	Di. A 10 9
Ht. A J x	Cl. K Q 10 x

If the bidding went one no trump, three hearts, four hearts, five diamonds, now the ope[ner], having the [ac]e, should realize that it is the ace of diamonds that his partner wants to locate, and should again raise diamonds. His attitude should be "I am not doing your thinking for you; I am complying with your requests as I understand them. It is up to you to control the bidding. I follow my leader." Such bidding is likely to be the partner's method of locating a probable duplication. The grand slam depends on exact knowledge when responder holds, for the above bidding,

Sp. —	Di. K Q J x
Ht. K Q 10 x x x	Cl. A x x

Overcoming Duplication, the Bugbear of Slam Bidding.

Having located the ace of diamonds, he is no longer uncertain where to put his third club. Partner surely has the king; if he has not also the queen, he cannot have four primary tricks without also having the ace of spades, on which the third club can be shed. Seven hearts should therefore be bid over six diamonds. Even if opener has cut a corner somewhere, there should be a club finesse or a play through in spades. If the spade ace is missing, it is likely to be led against a seven bid if held by the opponent on opener's left. If held by the other adversary, the dummy must hold K Q, so that the ace may be trapped, and a spade set up for the needed discard of a club. That is, an error or shading of a half primary trick in bidding by the opener is still likely to be overcome by the playing facilities of the hand on no worse than an even chance.

Silly to Foster Amours Among Young Children

Adults' Simpering Often Ruins Boy-Girl Friendships.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"Ugh!" she said with a look of disgust as she hung up the receiver.

"Why this registering of deep annoyance?" asked her friend.

"I'm having a party for Susan's seventh birthday," the disgusted one mimicked, "and I want to ask Susan's boy friend the very first one," she mocked in a mincing voice. "She's never had a birthday yet without her little sweetheart." Another grunt. "'Boy friend!' 'Sweetheart!' Honestly, Joan Smith makes me sick. Why does she have to do that? Will you tell me? And she even does it in front of Billy and Susan.

"If she wants to put such ridiculous ideas in Susan's little blonde head, all right—but I don't want her to put them in Billy's. They've known each other ever since they were babies and they could have such a nice, child-like friendship—Susan's really a darling—but Joan's going to spoil it all. She's always talked that silly stuff to them and it has its effect.

"Only yesterday I heard Billy say to John—that high school boy next door—'You're getting all dressed up 'cause you're going to the party with Isabel. You're stuck on Isabel, aren't you? Are you her boy friend? Is she your sweetheart?' I was glad the lad gave him a look of scorn and said, 'Scram, you silly kid. Isabel's my friend, not my girl friend or my sweetheart.' If I wasn't so fond of Joan Smith I wouldn't let Billy go to the old party."

Don't you sympathize with that irate young mother? I've seen the thing she objects to done repeatedly: "Who's your girl? Haven't you got a little sweetheart?" and so on and so on.

It's so silly and so ill-advised to inject this atmosphere into the simple, natural relationships of little girls and boys. They should go all through their childhood and early teens being just friends. Of course, some children become "girl conscious" or "boy conscious" earlier than others, but we should make it our business to see that our boys and girls have boy and girl companionship on as natural a basis as possible.

"Two Mouths to Feed," a booklet containing recipes and suggestions for cooking for two, is on sale at the Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street, Tribune Tower, and Hall of Science, A Century of Progress, for 3 cents. BY MARY MEADE.

The greener it is the riper it is.

That's not a paradox, but a straight fact about these green cheeked Valencia oranges which are sitting about in the fruit markets these days causing careful buyers to raise dubious eyebrows. Which isn't strange. For always before, unless some convincing grocer has given the proper tip-off, we've thought of growing things as being unripe when they were green—ripe when the full glow of color had come to them. But here's a large sized exception. For those same, green tinted oranges a few months ago were a glorious orange color on the trees. Then they hung and hung, every day growing juicier and sweeter, and the riper they became the greener they grew!

Proof positive of this ripeness is the fact that Valencias, whatever their color when they reach us, have hung on the trees from twelve to sixteen months. The crop is a year old and fully ripe before any of the fruit is picked. This first harvest brings us those Valencias which still keep their pure golden color. They also are entirely ripe. But those fruits which hang longer, waiting their turn to be picked and shipped, gradually turn back to a greenish shade, particularly at the stem end.

Having gotten that off our editorial chest, let's fix up a few of these deceptive oranges. Here's an orange cheese salad. I wonder if you have met it?

Prune, Orange, Cheese Salad.

- 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin
- ¼ cup cold water
- 1 cup hot water
- 1-3 cup sugar
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice, strained
- ½ cup orange juice, strained
- 6 orange slices
- ½ pound cottage cheese
- 6 fat cooked prunes

Soak the gelatin for five minutes in the cold water. Dissolve with the hot water and add the sugar and salt. When these are also dissolved, stir in the fruit juices. Fill a shallow pan [rinsed with cold water] one-half inch deep with the orange jelly, using half the mixture. Chill this until firm, allowing the rest of the jelly to cool but only partly to congeal. Then arrange over the surface of the jelly the orange slices, which have been freed of their membrane. Place on each slice a prune, which has been stuffed with the cottage cheese. Pour over this the rest of the gelatin mixture and chill until all is firm. To serve, cut in six squares and place on plates garnished with lettuce. Pass mayonnaise or serve it over the salads.

Or make it an orange refrigerator cake. It looks a bit longish, but once you taste it you'll forget all about the few minutes extra it took.

Orange Refrigerator Cake.

- ¼ cup strained orange juice
- 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin
- ⅓ cup boiling water
- 1-3 cup sugar
- ¾ cup strained orange juice
- 13 marshmallows
- ½ cup cut-up orange pieces
- 1 cup whipping cream, beaten stiff
- 2 dozen ladyfingers

Soak the gelatin in the orange juice for 5 minutes, then dissolve it over hot water. Dissolve the sugar in the boiling water and add this, and the ¾ cup orange juice, to the gelatin mixture. While this cools cut the marshmallows into eighths with scissors wet in hot water. When the gelatin begins to stiffen beat it with a whip or an egg beater until it is fluffy and light. Then fold in the orange pieces, the marshmallow sections and, finally, the whipped cream. Line the bottom of a spring mold with the split ladyfingers. Cut off one of the rounded ends of each of the remaining split ladyfingers. Stand the ladyfingers upright around the inside of the mold, resting them on the cut end. Pour in half the filling, lay on the ends of the ladyfingers and any others which were left over. Add the rest of the mixture and chill overnight, or for several hours, in the refrigerator. To serve remove sides of the spring mold and serve on a platter. Decorate, if you wish, with more whipped cream and with cleaned orange segments placed around the edge of the mold.

PERHAPS THE "LIQUID TEST" WOULD DO THESE THINGS FOR YOUR CHILD!

The mother who has tried this on an ailing child can tell you in no uncertain words what it can do.

If you have a youngster who occasionally gets upset and bilious no matter how careful you are about the diet — don't resort to strong cathartics which may only make matters worse.

There is a preparation of fresh herbs, pure pepsin, and senna which does away with all need of harsh cathartics. The active senna in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is laxative enough, even for adults. And there is no more delightful preparation to take.

"Billie is a different child since we took him off harsh cathartics and use only Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin," says Mrs. W. J. Mecklenborg of 3532 Idlewild Ave., Cincinnati, Ohio.

Amazing Results

Any cathartic should relieve a constipated condition at the time. But the child who gets a strong cathartic time after time, often pays dearly for that relief. Even six-year-old children have acquired the cathartic habit.

Syrup Pepsin will usually relieve a condition of constipation overnight. If necessary to repeat the dose you give a smaller dose. Each time, you give less. Until the bowels are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all!

Mothers are often astonished at the changes that take place after a change to this safer more sensible treatment. Children look better, feel better, are better when you avoid the wrong use of strong mineral cathartics.

What the Doctors Say:

Many doctors say that strong cathartics have caused more constipation than they have helped. They decry the use of laxatives that drain the system (beware of any that leave you thirsty, or weak).

You may have observed that hospitals use liquid laxatives. There are good reasons, and parents should know what they are: A liquid laxative can be measured to the drop, and its action thus controlled. When necessary to repeat, the dose can be slowly reduced, giving the bowels a chance to help themselves. A liquid laxative containing cascara and senna does not harm the youngest child or form a habit.

Won't you try Syrup Pepsin for your children? Its very taste will tell you it is wholesome! Its action is good for anybody. Your system may be strong enough to stand cathartics which would fairly paralyze the bowels of a young child—but why use them when you can get thorough, comfortable movements without taking anything to upset you or affect your appetite?

Doctors advise a liquid laxative. The world is returning to the liquid form. We doubt if anyone who ever made the liquid test with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin ever returned to the things that act just like dynamite! Any drug store will supply you with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and it may end many bowel worries in your household.

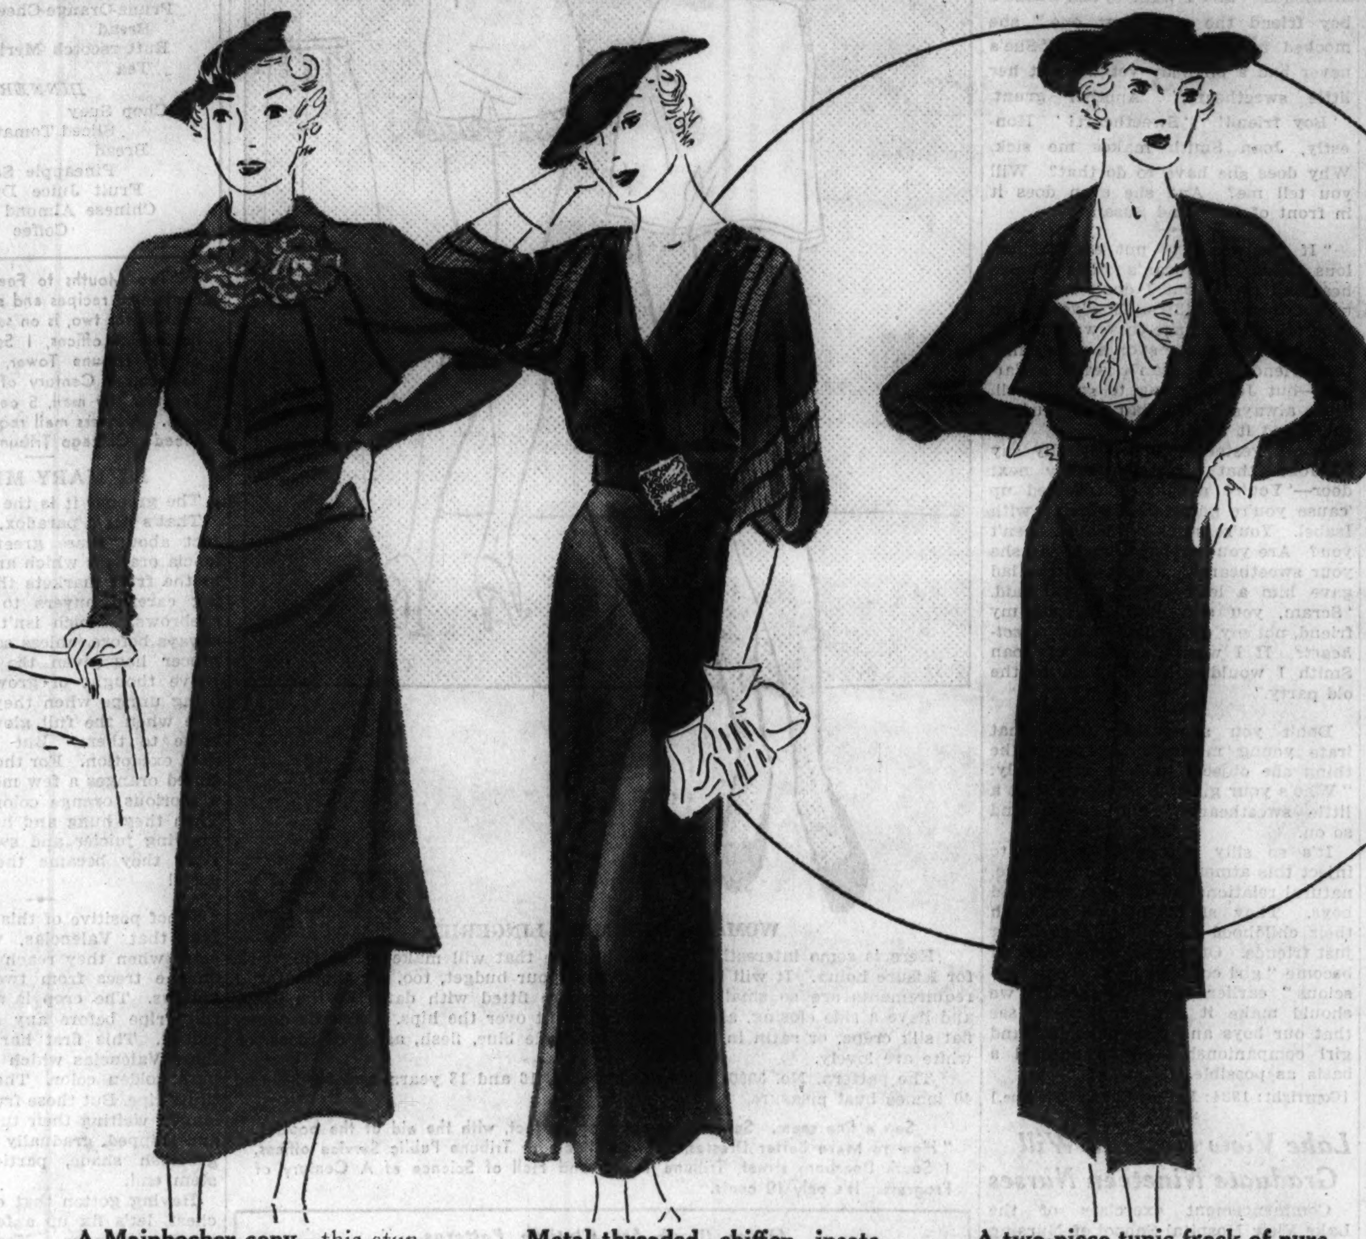
When Good Fashions Get Together in Such Variety as These It's a

Carson Selling of Frocks

$8.95 to $29.75

The fashions you read about—here they are "in the flesh"—grouped together for you to choose what best suits your taste and type and temperament. Glittering fabrics, velvets, kolinsky trimming, jeweled clips, peplums and tunics, the exciting new color "black tulip," these are the things to look for in determining the chic of a 1934 frock—and you'll find them all represented here.



A demure white lace collar creates an effective contrast for the sophisticated lines of this tunic frock. Of fiance crepe (dull on the outside, lustrous on the reverse) in black, green, black tulip. Women's sizes. $29.75.

Better Frocks, Fourth Floor.

A Mainbocher copy—this stunning crepe tunic frock with the crushed velvet flowers at the high neckline, and the wide girdle. It comes in the most gorgeous colors—black tulip, strawberry, and peacock. 12 to 20. $25.

Better Frocks, Fourth Floor.

Metal-threaded chiffon insets contrast effectively with velvet in this formal afternoon frock which chooses a gleaming metal buckle for its only accent. In black, brown, or green. (Also to be had in crepe.) 36 to 44. $19.75.

Moderate Price Frocks, Fourth Floor.

A two-piece tunic frock of pure silk with a white matelasse vestee has covered buttons marching smartly down the front. There's a deep V yoke in front. In black, green, rust, navy, or blackberry. 35½ to 43½. $17.75.

Moderate Price Frocks, Fourth Floor.

An exact copy of a Chanel model, even to the jeweled clips—this frock of Guna crepe in alpaca weave. Note the wing-like frills at the shoulders. In black, rust, or green. Sizes for misses. Priced at $25.

Misses' Better Frocks, Fourth Floor.

A cellophane pin-stripe threads its way through this crepe frock with a soft velvet collar and flared velvet cuffs. A slender wrap-around style in sizes 14 to 20. Black or brown. (Shown below.) Priced at $19.75.

Moderate Price Frocks, Fourth Floor.

A plaid handkerchief scarf brings a glow of color to the neck of this soft woolen frock. Wooden buttons and buckle add a sporty touch. In rust, green, brown, blue, or black. 14 to 20. $8.95.

Every Day Frocks, Fourth Floor.

Dolman sleeves and a high scalloped collar of glittering sequins are the "big news" about this crepe tunic frock. Note, too, the patch pockets on the tunic. 14 to 20. Black, brown, green. $19.75.

Misses' Moderate Price Frocks, Fourth Floor.

Kolinsky bands encircle the sleeves of this crepe afternoon frock. The draped high neck tightens into tucks on each shoulder. In green, brown, peacock blue, or carioca. 12 to 20. Priced at $19.75.

Misses' Moderate Price Frocks, Fourth Floor.

"La Loie Splendour" velvet and cross-bar net join forces to create an enchanting dinner frock in black. 12 to 20. (At left.) $22.75.

Moderate Price Frocks, Fourth Floor.

Teenya's tunic goes in for contrast in both color and fabric. The tunic top is of light-colored satin shot with metal; the skirt is of dark crepe. In brown with aqua or flesh; black with aqua or flesh. 11 to 17. At $15.

Teenya Frocks, Fifth Floor.

Box-scalloped peplum and revers on a frock of Kenya crepe (a wrinkle-resisting pure silk fabric with a little wool). Metal threads give a sheen to the white vestee. Black, brown, blue, green, rust. 33½ to 41½. At $19.75.

DIZZY DEAN CAN PITCH 4 GAMES —HE SAYS SO

And Boy, Are Those Detroiters Easy!

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 2.—Dizzy Dean is proving a severe trial for the literary gents who gave him a chunk of currency and assigned him a ghost writer to tear off those exclusive "By Dizzy Dean" pieces for some of the papers. Paying Diz to conserve his thoughts, observations, revelations, and prophecies for "exclusive" journalistic distribution is like retaining Mother Nature to blow her breezes so they will operate but one windmill. Diz hadn't been in town thirty seconds this morning before he revealed that he belongs to the whole baseball world, retainers or no retainers.

He started with the photographers who scampered on the St. Louis Cardinal train shortly before 8 o'clock this morning. First he proved the truth of Lon Warneke's observation made in 1932 in commenting on Babe Ruth. Lon, you remember, said that he found baseball stars pretty much alike in that they all put on their pants one leg at a time.

Right Leg First.

So the photographers took portraits of Dizzy, revealing to the pulsating world that he, like Ruth and all the others, puts his pants on one leg at a time, the only difference being that Ruth usually puts in the left leg first, whereas the Detroit photographers' picture studies prove beyond any question that Dean uses the right leg first.

Another thing which the train portraits showed clearly is that Dizzy shaves up his throat, whereas Ruth and several other world series stars of the past usually shaved with a sort of oblique stroke. According to a Detroit barber who was writing an exclusive series for one of the papers, this is due to the fact that Dean's beard has a different grain than Ruth's.

After posing for the washroom series Dizzy went direct to the Book-Cadillac hotel and announced that he and his brother Paul had hired a hall and would hold a "press conference," something like the President of the United States holds, only a little more informal.

Willing to Pitch Four.

The conference was a great success, though, of course, a shock to the industrious literary agent who thought he had bought up all of Diz's thoughts.

Among other things the elder Dean revealed that he had told Manager Frankie Frisch of the Cardinals that he not only was prepared to pitch the opener of the world series here but that he could, and would, if Frisch desired, pitch the first four games of the series. He conceded, however, that this, perhaps, would be unfair to his brother Paul and other St. Louis pitchers whose names have slipped us just now.

Dean made it clear that he has a vivid memory of some of the Tigers he'll face during the series. Schoolboy Rowe, Hank Greenberg, Jo-Jo White, and Pete Fox all were in the Texas league while Diz was doing his stuff in that league. Beaumont invariably spared Rowe's feelings by not asking him to pitch against Dean. Greenberg is a sucker for a high one inside and White and Fox used to specialize in strikeouts or high fouls to the catcher when they tried to hit Dean.

Dizzy Likely Choice.

There were increasing indications that Dizzy will pitch the series opener, in the face of earlier hints that Bill Hallahan would get the nomination. Believing that Dean might be a bit tired as a result of his Herculean duty in the last week of the pennant drive, when he would have had three shutouts except for a ninth inning homer by Arky Vaughan in one of the contests, Frisch made a mystery out of his choice for the first game while en route here and during this morning. This afternoon he had changed to the extent of saying that he wouldn't start Diz unless Diz asked for the assignment. To those who know the great right hander this seemed tantamount to saying that Dizzy Dean will pitch in tomorrow's game.

Paul Dean constantly was at his big brother's side during the day's hysteria and frequently broke his contrasty silence with a crack in the best Diz vein. For instance, interviewers familiar with most no hit pitchers' claims that they did not know they were pitching a hitless game, asked Paul if he knew that he was pitching a no hit game in Brooklyn last month.

"I sure did," answered Paul.

"When did you first know you had

New York Odds Favor Cardinals in World Series

New York, Oct. 2.—[Special.]—The St. Louis Cardinals were picked to defeat the Detroit Tigers in the world series along Broadway today. The National league champions, according to figures posted by Jack Doyle, veteran Broadway commissioner, are 7 to 10 to win the first game, and 3 to 5 to win the series. Last week the Tigers were 6 to 5 to win the championship and 11 10 to take the opening game.

MISS VAN WIE IS DOUBLE VICTOR IN WOMEN'S GOLF

Advances to Third Round of National Meet.

Today's Pairings

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Pairings for the third round in the women's national golf championship follow:

Mrs. Leona Cheney vs. Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd.

Mrs. Opal Hill vs. Charlotte Glutting.

Mrs. Carl H. Donner vs. Maureen Orcutt.

Mrs. R. C. Lake vs. Dorothy Traung.

Glenna Collett Vare vs. Barbara Stoddard.

Mrs. Burt Weil vs. Wanda Morgan.

Rosamond Vahey vs. Virginia Van Wie.

Mrs. Carl Scheidt vs. Frances Williams.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 2.—(AP)—All but one member of England's Curtis cup team were eliminated from the 38th women's national golf championship tournament today at the Whitemarsh Valley Country club.

While Wanda Morgan, 1931 English women's champion, remained the sole survivor of the foreign challenge, six of the American cup team reached the third round. Their three youngest teammates fell by the wayside.

Diana Fishwick, 1931 British champion and the most feared of the British empire invasion, was beaten in the second round by the husky 16 year old Dorothy Traung of San Francisco.

Beats British Captain.

Miss Fishwick had beaten her compatriot, Doris Chambers, nonplaying captain of the British team, two up, in the morning, and was generally expected to make short work of the youthful Californian.

Betty Jameson, 15 year old Dallas holder of the southern championship, defeated Diana Plumpton of England, 3 and 2, in the first round, but she met the champion, Virginia Van Wie of Chicago, in the second round and was eliminated.

Miss Van Wie had some anxious moments during her morning triumph of 3 and 1, over Mrs. J. L. Welsh of Philadelphia, but whipped Miss Jameson, 8 and 7.

The advance of the six older American team players found Glenna Collett Vare, five times former champion; Mrs. Leona Cheney of San Gabriel, Cal.; Mrs. Opal S. Hill, Kansas City veteran; Charlotte Glutting, South Orange, N. J., as well as Miss Van Wie, winning with ease in comparison with the struggle Maureen Orcutt of Englewood, N. J., had before she disposed of Estelle Lawson, of Raleigh, N. C., former holder of the North and South Carolina state championships, in the second round.

Three Youngsters Lose.

Three youthful American team players eliminated were Lucille Robinson of Des Moines, western champion for the last two years, and one of the three qualifying round co-medalists; Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Dallas, and Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky. The first two went out in the opening round, Miss Robinson losing, 3 and 2, to Edith Quier of Reading, Pa., and Mrs. Goldthwaite, 1 up, to Mrs. Tom Wallace of Tulsa, Okla.

Miss Morgan, who will be Britain's lone standard bearer in tomorrow's third round, beat Mrs. G. E. Hackney of Glen Cove, N. Y., 6 and 5, in the first round, and beat young Dorothy Richards of Boston, 5 and 4, in the afternoon.

FIRST ROUND.

Virginia Van Wie, Chicago, Ill., defeated Mrs. J. L. Welsh, Philadelphia, 3 and 1.

Bernice Wall, Chicago, defeated Mrs. Charles Martel, New York, 2 and 1.

Diana Fishwick, England, defeated Doris Chambers, England, 2 up.

Glenna Collett Vare, Philadelphia, defeated Mrs. Charles Newbold, Wichita, Kas., 2 and 1.

Mary K. Browne, Cleveland, defeated Helen Schoff, Philadelphia, 7 and 6.

Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, Philadelphia, defeated Mary Rogers, Jacksonville, Fla., 4 and 3.

Mrs. Opal Hill, Kansas City, defeated Mrs. Leo Federman, New York, 5 and 4.

Mrs. Leona Cheney, San Gabriel, Cal., defeated Mrs. Henri Prunaret, Boston, 7 and 5.

Estelle Lawson, Chapel Hill, N. C., defeated Virginia Nye, Buffalo, N. Y., 8 and 7.

Charlotte Glutting, South Orange, N. J., defeated Margaret Maddox, Atlanta, Ga., 7 and 5.

Mrs. Mark McGarry, Pasadena, Fla., defeated Mrs. William Ferris Jr., Boston, Mass., 6 and 5.

Mrs. William G. Hamilton Jr., Philadelphia,

Above: Navin field, scene of today's opening game of the world series, where the St. Louis Cardinals will battle the Detroit Tigers. Upper left, Frank Frisch, who led the Cardinals to the National league pennant, and upper right, Manager Mickey Cochrane, who gave Detroit its first American league title since 1909. Neither manager has decided who will pitch, but it is likely Dizzy Dean or Bill Hallahan will work for the Cardinals, with Lynwood Rowe or Alvin Crowder pitching for the Tigers.

WHERE'S MY CUT IN SERIES DOUGH? ASKS STENGEL

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—Casey Stengel, who Svengalied his Brooklyn Dodgers into knocking the New York Giants out of this year's world series, shared the spotlight with the Deans and other series celebrities here today.

Frankie Frisch and his Cardinal players made a joyous rush for the unofficial mayor of Brooklyn when he appeared in the Book-Cadillac hotel lobby.

"Your felicitations are all very well, gentlemen," Stengel responded with mock dignity, "but I can't deposit them at my bank. You should have voted me, as the most valuable Cardinal of all, a full share of that world series swag."

Talking It Over

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 2.—Bill Klem, Beans Reardon, and Bill Rigler, the umpires who worked the Cardinals' final series with Cincinnati, were required to report to President John Heydler of the National league after every game as to whether they detected any tendency on the part of the Reds to ease up. . . . Each gave Cincinnati a clean bill of health. . . . Andy Frain of Chicago will have charge of the ushers at Navin field tomorrow and Thursday. . . . Dizzy Dean and his brother Paul won within four games of the total compiled by the entire White Sox staf this season. . . . Between them they lost 18 games while the Sox pitchers were dropping 99. . . . John Rothrock, outfielder, and Jim Collins, first baseman, played every inning of every game for the Cardinals this year. . . . Rothrock was hurt in the second game of the recent Cincinnati series when he ran into a wall chasing a fly ball, but refused to leave the game. . . .

This is the fourth time Detroit has won the American league pennant. . . . The others were in 1907, '08, and '09. . . . Hotel architects apparently figured there never again would be a world series in Detroit. . . . There isn't half enough lobby space in hotels erected since the 1909 series. . . . Will Harridge, president of the American league, says the pressure for tickets has been the worst in his memory. . . . He needs only 3,326 box seats to take care of his unfilled orders.. . .

Charles Jacobs, manager of concessions at Navin field, has purchased three tons of peanuts, 48,000 wieners, 48,000 rolls, 50,000 programs, 5,000 pounds of hamburgers, 1,000 pounds of coffee, a ton of pretzels, and several truckloads of beer to take care of the world series trade. . . . Asked how he was able to estimate his requirements Mr. Jacobs explained: "Our records show that in cool weather we sell at least one hot dog for every spectator and one in five will drink coffee. Hamburgers are sold to one out of six, and if the weather is warm one out of seven buys ice cream." . . . The longest world series game was played Oct. 9, 1916, between Brooklyn and the Boston Red Sox. . . . It went 14 innings. . . . Babe Ruth was the Boston pitcher in that game, succeeding Dutch Leonard, and he hurled 13 scoreless innings. . . .

John Heydler has reserved a box directly behind the Cardinals' dugout. . . . Will Harridge, accompanied by Mrs. Harridge, Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Caveney of Park Ridge, and George Hildebrand will be located back of the Tigers' bench. . . . Midway between the two will be Commissioner K. M. Landis, who will throw out the first ball. . . . The Cubs are represented at the series by President William Walker, John Seys, and Boots Weber. . . . Vice President Harry Grabiner of the White Sox and Manager Jimmy Dykes arrived this evening. . . . President Lou Comiskey has gone to his lodge in Wisconsin. . . .

Dazzy Vance of the Cardinals was moving around the lobby of the hotel where the club is quartered this afternoon muttering to one and all, "And in the confusion the old Dazzler got into the series." . . . This, by the way, is the first time since 1920 that a team in the western division has won the American league championship. . . . Cleveland did it that year. . . . Kibitzers were more numerous than usual in hotel lobbies today. . . . Wherever players or reporters gathered you would find an uninvited guest trying to listen in. . . . Lew Fonseca, American league lecturer, finally turned around to one of them and said: "My good fellow, are you looking for some one?" . . . The

SOPWITH ORDERS YACHT DESIGNER AVOID PUBLICITY

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Oct. 2—(AP)—C. E. Nicholson, designer of the yacht Endeavour, unsuccessful challenger for the America's cup, arrived today from New York without anything to say.

"Anything I could say would only hurt people's feelings," Nicholson said. "I could say enough to fill a book, but I am not going to say it now."

Nicholson admitted he was greatly disappointed at receiving a message from T. O. M. Sopwith asking him to avoid publicity.

"I haven't an idea what are Sopwith's reasons," he said. "Maybe he has changed his opinion about the methods employed in the race and reached a friendlier footing with the Americans. It seems hardly likely."

REDS, BROWNS GET CHOICE OF MINOR LEAGUE PITCHERS

Eight Players Taken in Annual Draft.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Eight minor league ball players, and possibly two more, were claimed tonight by seven major league clubs in the annual draft.

Two pitching stars of the Pacific Coast league, Leroy Herrmann of the San Francisco Seals, and Fay Thomas of Los Angeles led the list in the final combing over of talent. Cincinnati, with first choice as the club of lowest standing, took Herrmann, who won 26 games and lost 12 this year, while the St. Louis Browns captured Fay Thomas, with a record of 26 victories and four defeats.

Both are former major leaguers. Herrmann has been tried out by the Chicago Cubs. The White Sox wanted to buy his contract this summer until a price tag of $50,000 and five players was placed on him. Thomas has been up before with Cleveland, the New York Giants, and the New York Yankees.

Cubs Get Kowalik.

Cincinnati also drafted Henry Erickson, who hit .264 in 69 games with Louisville after being turned back to the minors by the Philadelphia Athletics this spring.

The Cubs drafted two former big leaguers, Ed Cihocki, infielder, from Syracuse in the international league where he hit. 262, and Fabian Kowalik, pitcher who won 18 and lost 14 with Buffalo in the same circuit. Cihocki had a trial with the Athletics and Kowalik with the White Sox. The Athletics claimed Charles Lieber, a pitcher who won 16 and lost 13 with the San Francisco missions.

The Boston Braves took W. H. Lewis, a catcher who hit .313 for Rochester in the international league, and the White Sox drafted Robert Fenner, St. Paul catcher who hit .295 in the American association, and Vernon George Washington, Indianapolis outfielder, who finished second in A. A. batting with a .367 average.

Dispute Over Washington.

The final status of Washington will be decided by Commissioner K. M. Landis as there is some question of his eligibility under the draft. The White Sox brought him up a year ago from the Texas league and sent him to the association.

Although the Phillies drafted Chester Morgan, an outfielder who hit .347 for Beaumont in the Texas league, his status too must be decided by Landis on the claim that he has not played enough professional ball to come under the draft.

COLUMBUS WINS, 4 TO 0; LEADS IN TITLE SERIES, 3-1

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Big Ed Heusser shut out the Toronto Maple Leafs with two hits tonight, while the Columbus Red Birds won the fourth game of the little world series, 4 to 0.

The victory gave the American association representatives a 3-1 margin in games as the teams ended their stay in Toronto. A homer by Mickey Heath brought two of the Columbus runs.

BOSTON DOUBLES ATTENDANCE FOR SEASON OF 1934

Boston, Mass., Oct. 2—[Special]—Robert Moses Grove, purchased for a fabulous sum from the Athletics, may not have declared a dividend for the Red Sox this year, but the fans did. Unofficial figures show the Red Sox played to twice as many customers during 1934 as in the previous season. Approximately 675,000 people attended Red Sox home games this year.

The season's record crowd was 45,955, which turned out for a Sunday double header against Detroit.

Fred Perry Advances in Pacific Coast Tennis

Berkeley, Cal., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Fred Perry, England's world champion tennis player, easily defeated Edmund Levy Jr., San Francisco, 6-3, 6-2, today in the third round of the Pacific coast tournament.

MANAGERS WILL NAME PITCHERS AT GAME TIME

St. Louis Confident; Detroit Uneasy.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 2.—The world series is steeped in mystery. It opens tomorrow in the home of the Tigers, champions of the American league, with the St. Louis Cardinals, sensational stretch finishers of the National league, in the visiting dugout.

Beyond that there is a doubt which stands as a new all time record for baseball's annual money gathering event. Neither manager will name in advance the athlete who will be delegated to carry the important assignment of pitching the inaugural.

The mystery angle annoys only the experts assembled to cover the big event which will go on until one team has captured four games. The Tiger fans are confident despite the menace of the Dean boys. The few St. Louis adherents who followed the peppery Cardinals into town this morning are equally sure about the eventual outcome. But the experts who want to pick the winner are holding back because of the strategy being employed by the managers in connection with their pitching plans. However, there is an undercurrent of feeling that has a Cardinal tint.

Cochrane Has Two Choices.

In the last moments prior to the start of festivities, Mickey Cochrane, the worry laden youth who led his Tigers to a pennant, repeated his declaration of yesterday. With him it is either the angular 22 year old Lynwood [Schoolboy] Rowe or the beady eyed, experienced Alvin Crowder. Frankie Frisch, the Cardinals' manager, who conducted himself today as if he were merely facing a few more ordinary ball games, refused to go even that far. Frisch simply said he did not know what he might do. He has about four choices and does not plan to make up his mind until the show is about to go on.

Neither manager, in dodging the announcement of opening day pitching choices, is stealing a page from the book of Connie Mack, who in 1929 unexpectedly sprung on the Cubs a pitcher who was old at the time and had not entered much in the reckoning. Howard Ehmke was the man, and the ease with which his slow foolers flattened the swinging Cubs that afternoon is history, but not forgotten.

Not Sure of Rowe.

Cochrane is in doubt for two reasons. He is not so sure of Rowe's ability to win when there is an extra something at stake. The other is that he is fencing until he can determine who is going to start for the Cardinals. There is no strategy about Frisch's hesitancy. He would reveal his plans for tomorrow if Jerome Herman [Dizzy] Dean had not worn himself ragged pitching three full winning games the last six days of the season.

If the carefree, genial Dizzy works tomorrow it is logical to figure that Cochrane will nominate Crowder. If Dizzy isn't picked, then it would not be surprising to see Rowe operating for the Tigers.

Anybody listening to the famed Dizzy this afternoon wouldn't have much trouble figuring who would draw the big job. He announced that the opening day pitcher would be none other than Dizzy in person. Dizzy based his choice on the fact that Dizzy felt fine despite his excessive labors in the last week of the race. He also declared he wanted to have the honor of appearing in the first game. And, as a sort of afterthought, he added that there would be hell apopping if he didn't pitch.

Depends on Dean's Warmup.

Frisch, of course, will pitch him if Dizzy looks strong in the pre-game warm-up. He wants to pitch him, but he wants to have his star at his best. If Dizzy doesn't give a healthy impression when he warms up, the assign-

IOWA'S BIG THREE GIVES N. U. TEAM A WEEK OF WORRY

Simmons, Crayne, Teyro—Can They Be Stopped?

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Richard Crayne, 190 pound full back, a junior.

George Teyro, 151 pound quarter back, safety man, a senior who played regularly in 1932 and was Iowa's leading ground gainer from scrimmage.

Oze Simmons, 175 pound Negro half back, a sophomore.

These are Iowa's ball carrying backs who are expected to cause Northwestern many minutes of trouble Saturday afternoon when the Hawkeyes and Wildcats open their conference schedule at Dyche Saturday.

Attendance Saturday should be at least 30,000, according to the management. However, Northwestern will also admit all boys under 18 years of age for 40 cents. These seats will be located in the bleachers at the ends of the gridiron. This bargain likely will increase the attendance.

Northwestern's major weaknesses against Marquette last week have been subject of intensive drills. Scrimmage was held yesterday, in which the regulars participated following a light afternoon of labor on Monday. These failures, strangely enough, are matched by Iowa's strongest points of attack, and therein lies the reasons for Dick Hanley's trepidation.

Just the Spot for Teyro.

George Teyro is an excellent receiver of punts. He is fast and shifty in the open field.

Consider Northwestern's record against Marquette on covering kickoffs and punts. Buivid of Marquette returned the opening kickoff forty-one yards. He was stopped on his forty-six yard line. In the second period Art Guepe of Marquette returned one of George Potter's punts thirty yards before he was tackled on Northwestern's twenty-four yard line.

There were other instances of faulty covering of kicks by the ends and linemen, but these will serve as examples to show what Tayro may accomplish for Iowa Saturday.

"Simmons is a better half back than Joe Laws." This is the report of Maurie Kent, Northwestern coach who scouted Iowa last Saturday.

An extravagant statement, perhaps, in view of what Laws did last fall and his play in the All-American game at Soldiers' field, but if Kent feels that way about this Texas boy, it means that Crayne will have support for his own line smashes.

How about Crayne? He was Iowa's leading scorer and ground gainer last year. His delayed plunges from a spinner at the center of Northwestern's line did more to defeat Northwestern 7 to 0 last fall than Laws' scoring sprint. He forced Northwestern to concentrate its line defenders and thus rendered them vulnerable to a flank attack.

Kawal Key Man of Defense.

Hanley hopes that Capt. Al Kawal will set the pace in the center of the line to stop Crayne. Kawal did not play in last year's Iowa game. He injured his left shoulder just prior to this game and hurt it again later in the season. The same shoulder was thrown out of place in the final basketball game last winter, with the result that an operation was performed, which it is believed will enable Kawal to get through this season successfully. The Northwestern captain is wearing a special brace, which includes a chain attached to his shoulder and anchored at the hip, which prevents him raising his left arm higher than parallel to the ground.

Finally, Northwestern is drilling this week on protecting against short forward passes, particularly over the center of the line. Marquette completed several of these passes principally because Northwestern guards, center, and first line of secondary did not cover according to plan.

Potter's Passes May Win.

Northwestern's problems for effective offense are equally difficult of solution as the above defensive problems. Potter's forward passing is the brightest ray of hope for victory. Bob Swisher's speed, provided he gets assistance from his interference, and Walter Cruice's left handed passes, are Wildcat aces. The joker in the deck may pop up in the form of blocked kicks. Marquette, certainly not an aggressive defensive eleven, crashed through to block two Northwestern kicks in succession late in the third period.

FROSH TEST IOWA

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—Using freshmen as the guinea pigs, Coach Ossie Solem turned the University of Iowa football practice field into a laboratory for testing new plays and the varsity defense against Northwestern formations today.

Whether the varsity showing against the yearlings using the Wildcat tactics was a reliable indication appeared doubtful, for the freshmen executed the Northwestern plays in a haphazard manner. Regulars were able to bottle up the mock Wildcat attack with little difficulty. The freshmen, however, retaliated on defense by holding down the varsity to scant yardage.

Herman Schneidman, starting half back in the South Dakota game, turned up with a swollen eye which prevented his use in scrimmage, Dr. A. S. Fort, medical adviser, said that the Quincy, Ill., back would be able to play again within two days.

Corney Walker, rangy Colorado right end, appeared likely to start against the Wildcasts after a setback in early practices, because of injuries.

DE PAUL PLAYERS BUILD DEFENSE FOR ST. AMBROSE

De Paul university football players were on the defensive yesterday as they skirmished with the freshmen, using St. Ambrose tactics. Coaches Jim Kelly and Ben Connor are determined to have an ironclad defense before developing the offense.

They strove to impress the Demons with the strength of St. Ambrose, which is to be met in the second game of the season Friday night at Loyola stadium. Since 1931 the Davenport, Ia., squad has lost only six of twenty-six games under Coach Dukes Duford. The invaders will be led by Capt. Leavengood, half back.

SMITTY—FREE WHEELING

Layden Finds New Star in Steinkemper

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—Bill Steinkemper, sophomore tackle, may prove to be the find of the 1934 season, his performance in Saturday's freshmen-varsity game and today's scrimmage indicated.

The former De Paul academy star, who weighs 210 pounds and stands six feet tall, dominated play in an intensive scrimmage today, being particularly impressive on defense. Coach Elmer Layden said after the drill Steinkemper may replace Ken Stilley, junior left tackle, with the shock troops, and that with a little experience he may be moved up to the varsity.

Layden sent his varsity into its only scrimmage scheduled this week, placing it on defense against Texas plays as executed by Bill Cerney's reserve team, and on offense against the freshmen.

It stopped the Texas running attack, as used by the reserves, but was trapped several times on passes which worked for long gains over the head of little Bud Bonar, varsity quarter back.

On offense it again met with stubborn resistance from the freshmen, scoring only twice in the session. Texas will open the season here Saturday.

TEXAS IS READY.

Austin, Tex., Oct. 2.—(AP)—The University of Texas may not defeat Notre Dame Saturday at South Bend, but the Irish will know they have been in a football game, Coach Jack Chevigny predicted today at the conclusion of practice for the game.

Chevigny, a former Notre Dame star under the late Knute Rockne, will take his team north tomorrow.

"I rate Notre Dame about four touchdowns better than Texas—on paper," Chevigny said. "It may be different on the field."

OHIO RESPECTS INDIANA.

Columbus, O., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—Ohio State returned to the single daily football practice session today with study of defense against Indiana's plays. The Buckeyes will meet Indiana here Saturday.

Coach Francis Schmidt is attempting to build up a counterplay against those introduced by Bo McMillen, new coach of the Hoosiers, and especially against the five man back field formations.

The Buckeyes will use a starting lineup composed of Wendt and either Rees or Cumiskey at the ends, Hamrick and Yards at the tackles. Capt. Monahan and either Inwood Smith or Neal at the guards, with Gomer Jones at center. The starting back field probably will be Pincura, Jack Smith, Heekin, and Kabealo.

INDIANA DRILLS DEFENSE.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—Indiana held a secret practice today against an aerial attack Ohio State is expected to use in the opening game of the season at Columbus Saturday.

A freshman eleven executed Buckeye pass attack in dummy scrimmage, then took the defensive while varsity worked on new plays.

MICHIGAN FEARS PASSES.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—A defense against the passes it is believed Michigan State will use Saturday was worked out today by the Michigan squad.

Coach Harry Kipke remembers that Kurt Warmbein, Spartan half, threw the pass last year that gave State the only touchdown it has scored against Michigan since 1918, and he also has had reports that Warmbein is as good as ever.

On the other hand, his Wolverine back field is an uncertain quantity, as a pass defense combination as well as on offense.

John Regeczi was still in University hospital and although doctors said he should be able to play, the hope of his getting into shape was waning.

PURDUE GROOMS RESERVES.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—Coach Noble Kizer devoted a great deal of attention to the second and third string Purdue football candidates this afternoon as the regulars were sent through a long drill on offensive blocking for Saturday's game with Rice institute here.

Fred Hecker, Purdue scout, returned from Houston impressed not only with the all around power of the Rice eleven, but its outstanding physical condition.

With the exception of left end and the quarter back and full back posts, Purdue seems fairly well settled on its starting lineup. Purvis and Carter are slated for the half backs, Loebs at one end, Capt. Heldt and Fehring at tackles, Dennis and Sandefur at guards, and Skoronski at center.

BADGER QUARTER INJURED.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—Carl Ockerhauser, Baraboo junior, playing his first year of Wisconsin varsity football, suffered a fractured left arm in practice this afternoon. He had been alternating with Bill Parrott, a sophomore, at quarter back, on the first string eleven.

Reports from scouts that Marquette uncovered a powerful passing attack against Northwestern prompted Coach Clarence Spears to send his squad through its second long passing drill.

Spears indicated he would give the varsity only a little scrimmage this week. A shift in the varsity line sent Bill Millar and Jim Nellen back to their old positions at tackle and guard, respectively.

GOPHERS CLOSE GATES.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—Gates were closed today as Coach Bernie Bierman began speeding up drill for the Nebraska game Saturday, in which Minnesota faces one of the best passing attacks in the west.

Bierman named a squad of 20 players upon whom he will concentrate in preparation for the game. They were: Capt. Pug Lund, George Roscoe, and George Rennix, left half backs; Art Clarkson and Julie Alfonse, right half backs; Stan Kostka and Sheldon Beise, full backs; Glenn Seidel and Babe Levoir, quarter backs; Bob Tenner and John Roning, left ends; Dick Smith and Ed Widseth, left tackles, Milt Bruhn, left guard; Dale Rennebohm and George Svendsen, centers; Bill Bevan and Vern Oech, right guards; Phil Bengtson, right tackle, and Butch Larson, right end.

ILLINI RUN OVER FROSH.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—Bob Zuppke today mounted the stadium balcony, from where he coached the Illinois varsity football squad as it overwhelmed the freshmen in a regular game. The first year squad was powerless before the running and passing of the varsity players, and the new offense, with its many laterals and forwards, clicked nicely. Fischer, sub full back for two seasons, showed improved form.

The Illini play Washington U. at St. Louis Saturday.

NORTHWESTERN'S WILDCATS.

NORTHWESTERN'S Wildcats, judged by potential wares displayed against Marquette Saturday, promise to be more interesting to watch than the somewhat colorless aggregation of 1933. Even if the Purple establishes no better record, which was one victory, one tie, and four defeats against Big Ten opponents, there may be more thrills.

The 1933 Wildcats were a great defensive eleven with no consistent running attack, fair forward passing, and great kicking by Olson. There was no man in the back field fast enough to break away for a touchdown. Opponents knew just about what to expect and planned their defense accordingly.

The 1934 brand of Wildcats is almost the reverse. Its forward wall, on the one game played, was not as effective as Purple walls usually are; its secondary was an easy victim to Marquette aerials, and its kicking was only slightly better than mediocre. BUT there was the threat of shaking loose the sophomore backs, Swisher, Mole, and Hayskar. Veteran George Potter supplied field generalship and he tossed passes with accuracy which was the margin of Northwestern's victory. Inexperience of the many sophomores given trials by Coach Hanley was patent, but the whole show, while not suggesting title hopes, was far from discouraging.

Naturally the question may be asked: Just how good was Marquette? The Hilltoppers were not on the Purple schedule last year. They, too, were experimenting with sophomores. Not as heavy in the line as Northwestern, Marquette was an alert, well coached squad which refused to quit when Northwestern obtained an apparently safe early lead, later actually threatened to take the game until Potter intercepted a pass in his own territory with the Purple leading only 14 to 12. That interception changed the whole situation.

Marquette had good backs, one great end, and a good passing attack which repeatedly caught the Purple flat-footed. Its showing was highly creditable. The Wake asked Irving Uteritz and Eddie Lynch, scouting both elevens in behalf of Wisconsin, how Marquette compared with a year ago. Their unhesitatingly reply was that it was much better.

Northwestern needed just such a hard game in preparation for its more stern conflict with Iowa at Dyche stadium Saturday. Marquette, too, was preparing for its annual state rivalry fray with Wisconsin at Madison.

The Ways of Man.

In summer it's a pleasant thing
To think of ivy winds that blow
When winter has us in its grip
And we must scramble through the snow.
But when our hands are chafed with cold,
Our noses red and funny,
We turn our thoughts around again
To muse on climes quite sunny.
For man is ever discontent
Because of everything he's not
And takes up time to sulk about
More things that he hasn't got.

Park Ridge Wins League Golf Title

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Members of the Northwest league relaxed for the first time last night as their seventh season of competition, the closest in the history of the organization, ended with a windup program at Westward-Ho. The Park Ridge team, a newcomer to the league's list of champions, won the title with a season total of 133½ points, one more than the home club's aggregate. The winning sextet was composed of Charles Christopher, Tom Robbins, Dr. A. O. Young, Ray Bowen, George Fairbairn, and Bill Lane.

Following Park Ridge and Westward-Ho in the final team standings were Bunker Hill, the defending champion, 129 points; Kildeer, 114; Medinah, 92½; Edgewater, 91½; Rolling Green, 81½, and Ridgemoor, 79½. Bunker Hill and Ridgemoor each hold two legs on the championship trophy, but three victories are necessary for permanent possession.

The final schedule yesterday was decided on a basis different from that used throughout the season, twosomes from each club being drawn from a hat and paired against other twosomes, instead of the usual method of an entire team against a team. Westward-Ho won 21½ points and lost 5½; Kildeer won 18 and lost 9; Park Ridge won 17 and lost 10; Medinah won 15½ and lost 11½; Edgewater won 15½ and lost 11½; Bunker Hill won 12 and lost 15; Rolling Green won 6½ and lost 20½, and Ridgemoor won 2 and lost 25.

A trio of 72 shooters headed the individual scoring. They were Pick Wagner of Kildeer, Fred Wagner of Westward-Ho, and Chick Evans of Edgewater, followed by Charley Christopher of Park Ridge, 74; Dave Adams of Medinah, 75; Tom Robbins of Park Ridge, and Art Sweet of Ridgemoor, 76.

The fourteenth and last of the one day handicap events conducted by the Chicago District Golf association will be held today at Park Ridge. A good field of the best scorers in the district is expected for this farewell tournament.

The last event of the Chicago District Golf association's 1934 schedule will be held Sunday at Bunker Hill, where the association will conduct its second annual Champion of Champions tournament, bringing together the titleholders of all member clubs. A number of champions already have entered the tournament, including Charley Christopher of Park Ridge, Jim Ferguson of Tam o' Shanter, Fred Wagner of Westward-Ho, Peter Raap of Medinah, William Walrath Jr. of Kildeer, Maurice Bein of Bryn Mawr, Fred L. Plane of Calumet, George K. Whyte of Glen Flora, John Bersbach of Indian Hill, Albert Oppenheimer Jr. of Lake Shore and Carl T. Deufel of Midlothian. Ruth Lake has entered its medal play champion, A. W. Porter, as well as the match play winner, C. H. Mann. The tournament will be at 36 holes of medal play. The fee is $3. Entries should be sent to the Chicago District Golf association, 14 East Jackson boulevard.

The Glen Flora club will introduce a novel angle in tournaments Saturday when it holds its annual sports and pastimes event. Each player's caddy will shoot the first and tenth holes for him, and the bag carriers' scores for those two holes will go on the members' card.

Morenz, Irked Over Trade Talk, Will Quit Hocky

MONTREAL, Oct. 2—(AP)—Howie Morenz, veteran center of the Montreal Canadiens, today announced he would abandon hocky to devote his time to business.

Morenz recently had been reported to be involved in a deal that would send him to the Chicago Blackhawks for the 1934-'35 season.

Long regarded by many as the fastest skater in the game, he said he was "tired of picking up newspapers each day to see myself being traded all over the country."

He said he believed he was a big enough figure in hocky to be consulted as to any change in his playing future.

BRUINS GET GAGNON.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Johnny Gagnon, high scoring right winger of the Canadiens, was traded to the Boston Bruins hocky club tonight. Joe Lamb, Bruins right wing player of the last two seasons, goes to the Canadian team.

HOW GOOD ARE BEARS? YOU'LL LEARN SUNDAY

Game at Brooklyn Offers Hardest Test.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Chicago's place in the National Professional football league race will be more clearly defined this week-end in Brooklyn, where the Bears, last year's champions, meet the surprising Dodgers. Victory in this contest will confirm the Bears' claims of championship strength. Defeat will handicap them greatly in their quest for another title.

Brooklyn became an important factor in the league race last week by defeating Boston 10 to 6. The Braves were one of the three teams rated as favorites for the championship at the beginning of the season. Brooklyn's victory was made possible largely through unexpected line strength.

Have Star Kickers.

Shipwreck Kelly, regarded last year as one of the most dangerous backs in professional football heads the running attack, and in addition the Dodgers have the best kicking staf in the league. Dick Nesbitt, for several years the league's outstanding punter, went to Brooklyn after his release by the Cardinals. Helping him is a newcomer, Ralph Kercheval of Kentucky, whose long punts last week kept Boston at bay through the greater part of two periods.

The Bears' victory over Green Bay and last week's triumph at Cincinnati got them away to a good start in defense of their title. The true strength of the team, however, will not be defintly established until after Sunday's game. The Dodgers' line will afford a test for the new running attack built around Beattie Feathers, Tennessee star last year.

Three Teams Unbeaten.

Only three teams remain undefeated in the league, attesting to the better apportionment of strength among the various elevens. The leaders are Detroit, Brooklyn and the Bears. Detroit plays Green Bay Sunday. A Packer victory, while the Bears are winning, would give the champions undisputed possession of first place with three victories in as many league starts.

Coach George Halas will take the Bears east Friday. The Brooklyn game will be the first of three contests scheduled within eight days. On Wednesday night the Bears stop off in Pittsburgh, then hurry home to open the league season in Chicago against the Cardinals on Sunday, Oct. 14.

GIANTS PLAY PIRATES.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—The New York Giants who were runnersup to the Chicago Bears for the National professional football championship last year will try for their first victory of the season tomorrow night against the Pittsburgh Pirates. Thus far the Giants have lost to Detroit and Green Bay.

CARDINALS AND TIGERS IN FIRST BATTLE TODAY

Frisch, Cochrane Undecided on Pitching Choices

ment probably will go to Bill Hallahan, to whom a world series game is no different than a spring exhibition. Wild Bill earned his reputation as a money player by two great games against the Athletics in the series of 1931.

There is another reason for believing that Hallahan, if he doesn't start tomorrow, will be a cinch to get the call in one of the subsequent games. He faced the Tigers twice in exhibitions during the last summer and made their tails curl both times. The Cardinals did the same thing to the Tigers in two spring games. The happenings in these four games constitute a good portion of the argument advanced by those who favor the National leaguers. The belief is that the Tigers, in view of their unhappy meetings with the Cardinals, have built up a sort of inferiority complex. That may explain why the American leaguers would have preferred to see the Giants as their world series opponents.

All the Cardinals, as they worked out at Navin field this afternoon, had the same nonchalance as their gray haired manager. There was nothing of the scared look so noticeable in the American league entry. The Cardinals were even cocky in appearance this morning when they hopped off their special train from St. Louis. You couldn't make them admit they had accomplished anything unusual by their last minute pennant drive.

Should Have Won Sooner!

Mike Gonzales, the platinum toothed Cuban who once caught for the Cubs, expressed the sentiment of the entire Cardinal gang when he said that they would have reached the pennant without being pressed if Pepper Martin, who starred as an outfielder in the 1931 series and who now plays third base, hadn't been injured. The so-called Wild Horse of the Osage was out for just about one-third of the season because of muscular trouble in his arms. It was during his absence that the new National league champions hesitated in their pennant drive. Another setback was the broken arm suffered by Bill Walker, the southpaw pitcher, early in the race.

Dizzy Dean, when he walked out on the field for practice this afternoon, stole the show when he was attended by a flock of newspaper men and several hundred others who knew how to crash the guarded gates. Dizzy didn't even wait until all the Tigers, who worked first, had quit the field.

Doesn't Bother with Uniform.

Dizzy didn't even put on a uniform. He picked up a bat, walked to the plate and hit a couple. He removed his coat and hit a few more. He took off his vest after that and continued hitting. Then he picked up his garments and walked away as if he was just having a good time. Because he didn't put on a uniform proved to the experts that Frisch had told him to get all the rest possible before tomorrow afternoon.

The big play accorded the Dean boys has sort of slighted the remaining talent of the team that put Bill Terry, the manager of the Giants, in front of the fire of his many enemies. The Dean boys are not the entire Cardinal layout. The National league entry can field, hit and run. The Tigers can do the same thing so far as is known, but they didn't have to prove it. They clinched the pennant without serious opposition and without having to contend with injuries. The Cardinals took their flag under pressure and the feeling that the same snap and dash that carried them to the heights in the regular race will be continued to carry them on for another week.

Vance Finally in Series.

There was one old figure that drew more than a few eyes during the Cardinals' drills this afternoon. He was Dazzy Vance, born way back in 1893. He was in the American league and out again without attracting attention. The Brooklyn club thereafter located him somewhere in the west and dragged him into the National league. He became the league's greatest pitcher of his period, but he eventually was knocked around, finally ending with the Cardinals. Now he is with a pennant winner for the first time.

"Well, Brooklyn finally aided me in getting into a series," he remarked this afternoon as he was warming up.

Pennant Saves Cardinals.

There's another interesting angle about the Cardinals, but it concerns only their winning of the pennant. The slack attendance in St. Louis put Sam Breadon, the club president, and Branch Rickey, the genius behind the scene, against the wall. Their extensive farm system was about to collapse. Plans were already afoot for the breaking up of the team, if not the outright sale of the entire structure. Dizzy Dean and Pepper Martin were to go to the Cubs for Chuck Klein and Lon Warneke, according to one of the stories. Other men were to go elsewhere. All that is out now.

Pitching Didn't Keep Fox Busy Enough; He Moves to Outfield

[This is the tenth of a series of sketches on members of the Detroit Tigers who will battle the St. Louis Cardinals of the National league in the impending world series.]

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—During the last summer Ervin [Pete] Fox was the regular right field patrolman for the Tigers, but when he started out in baseball he didn't figure he'd make his mark, if any, as a fly chaser. The lad had an idea he wanted to be a pitcher and that's the department he occupied when he launched his career in an obscure way. But he soon discovered that pitching was irksome. Not the work itself, but the long rest between appearances. He craved daily action and figured the best way to get it would be to remove his work bench to the outfield.

Fox is a true Hoosier in his own right. He was born at Evansville, Ind., March 8, 1909, and unlike a lot of fellows, didn't have to leave his own home town to receive recognition in baseball. He first dabbled in the game by playing independent ball in Evansville after finishing his elementary schooling. When 18 years of age he pitched for one Evansville semi-pro team on Saturdays and played the outfield for another team on Sundays. In between times he was a radio cabinet inspector. His zest for work is easily explained. He was a married man at 18.

Signs with Evansville, Ind., in Three Eye League.

In 1928 Fox was the ringleader in a coup that fetched a pennant for Huntingburg, member of a semi-pro circuit called the Indiana-Kentucky league. He assisted in this bit of enterprise by his pitching and his hitting. Between the two he began to attract the attention of journeyman scouts but all of the latter, after giving him the eye, figured he was just another one of those cornfield stars who never would go far. In 1929 things took a turn for the better. He was in an Industrial league game at Evansville and nudged a couple of drives over the fence. Officials of the Evansville Three-Eye league club of that time observed this and made overtures. Fox was signed for 1930 at a salary of $250 per month, which he regarded as big money.

He got busy immediately. He spent his spare time that winter in gymnasiums. He was determined to have himself in the proverbial pink of condition when spring rolled round. His industry, however, availed him nothing, at least not immediately. When the 1930 season started he didn't look so hot and the Evansville management dispatched him to Wheeling, W. Va., in hopes he would learn a few things. He did. He went well at Wheeling as a center fielder, so he was recalled by Evansville.

Peter Rabbit Nickname Melts to Pete.

As an Evansville employé in 1931 he continued to show improvement which eventually carried him to the Beaumont, Tex., team, the finishing spot for all Tiger rookies. He topped the Texas league batters in 1932, a feat which prompted the Detroit club to call him in for serious inspection. It was while in the Texas league he acquired the nickname of Pete. No one knows exactly how he got it. The closest explanation is that somebody noted his excessive speed afoot and called him Peter Rabbit. This finally melted down to plain Pete.

In his first season [1933] as a regular with the Tigers he wasn't the hitter they thought him to be. For more than the first half of the race he was down around the .250 mark, but he finished the year with an average of .288, indicating a marked reversal of form along the route. However, his hitting this season has been nothing to write home about. He finished well below the .300 mark. Neither has his fielding been exceptionally keen.

TERRY DENIES CLUBHOUSE TIFF WITH PITCHER

New York, Oct. 2.—[Special.]—Displaying no evidence of the black eye he was reported to be wearing, Bill Terry, manager of the New York Giants, today vigorously denied the story that he had exchanged blows with Hal Schumacher, one of Giants' pitching stars.

"Some people seem to forget that the big league season, like the war, is over," commented Terry. "We had enough of a scrap on our hands with our National league rivals without winding up by fighting among ourselves."

SAM CRAWFORD OF 1909 TIGERS PICKS DETROIT

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Sam Crawford, hard hitting outfielder of Detroit's 1907, '08 and '09 pennant winning teams, will be watching the returns of the world series tomorrow, more than two thousand miles from the scene of action.

"The Cards are going to find in Detroit a little different opposition than they had in the National league," said Wahoo Sam.

"Of course, I favor Detroit. Back in the days when we played Chicago and then Pittsburgh we were a bit stale after a hard pennant race. That might bother the Cards this time."

Dizzy's Sure He Was Born and That's About All

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 2.—(AP)—J. H. [Dizzy] Dean settled two personal questions personally today, the first regarding his birthplace, the second as to his real name.

"I was born," said Dizzy, "either in Holdenville, Okla.; Lucas, Ark., or Bond, Miss. None of us remembers rightly, and the family wasn't keeping any records in those days."

His name is Jay Hanna Dean, but he adopted the Jerome Herman by which he is now known when a neighbor's son by that name, close friend of his family, died years ago.

"All I can do," Dizzy told his playmate's father, "is take his name. Some day I'll make it famous for you."

Blondy Ryan Weds Girl He Met While with Sox

New York, Oct. 2.—[Special.]—John [Blondy] Ryan, member of the New York Giants baseball team, and Kathleen Barry of Belmond, Ia., were married last night at St. Andrew's church, it became known today. The couple plan to visit the bride's home and later travel to Lynn, Mass., Ryan's home town. They met four years ago when Ryan was with the Chicago White Sox and she was a hostess on the United Air lines.

DIZZY DEAN SAYS HE'S ALL SET TO PITCH 4 GAMES

a no hitter in prospect?" was the next question.

"I gave the matter some thought after the first inning," replied Dizzy Dean's little brother.

Crowder Instead of Rowe?

The Deans, of course, took some of the play away from Schoolboy Rowe, even though an effort was made to revive kidnaps stories by saying that Rowe was in a secret hideaway and didn't even come out to meet his father and sister, who rolled into town this morning on a bus.

The consensus continued to be that Crowder, not Rowe, will pitch the opener for the Tigers.

Crowder did not do so well in the games he pitched for Washington in last year's world series, but he was tired then and is now rested after some fine work in the closing games of the American league race.

Last year Crowder faced Hal Schumacher in the second game of the series and gave up nine hits and six runs in the 5 2-3 innings he pitched before being relieved by Al Thomas.

Goslin Hits One.

In that game, you may recall, Goose Goslin, another transfer from the Senators to the Tigers, hit a home run in the third inning to give Crowder a 1 to 0 lead which prevailed until the sixth inning, when the Giants busted loose and made six runs, all after two were out. The final score was 6 to 1.

In the fifth game Crowder allowed three runs and seven hits in 5 1-3 innings in a game which the Giants eventually won 4 to 3 in the tenth.

The weather prediction is for weather somewhat warmer than the summer temperatures which prevailed today. Of all the eligible pitchers, Rowe is the only one who expresses dislike of chilly days.

CARDINALS PLAY MAYWOOD AT NEW STADIUM TONIGHT

The Maywood Athletic club football team, which has lost only six games out of 60 played in six years, will meet the Chicago Cardinals in the feature contest at the dedication of Proviso High school's new stadium at First avenue and Madison street, Maywood, tonight. In addition to the Maywood-Cardinal game, which starts at 8:20, four Proviso High school teams will perform.

These games will be limited to one period each.

The national championship American Legion band from the Board of Trade post will give a concert before the game and an exhibition drill between halves.

WEINERT WINS DECISION OVER MICKEY O'SHEA

Puggy Weinert, Brighton Park welterweight, won an eight round decision over Mickey O'Shea of the north side in the windup bout last night at Western stadium. Weinert scored four knockdowns. Other results:

Phil McQuillen beat Steve Padon [5]; Tony Mandell beat Eddie Chinski [4]; Al Pahl and Jack Lazar, draw [4]; Joey Bozak beat Augie Mandell [4]; Gene Caggiano beat Gary Baldwin [4].

Talking It Over

man replied: "O, no, I'm just here to attend the series, and I want everything that goes with it." . . .

Mike Gonzales, Cardinal catcher and coach, said Dizzy Dean seemed a trifle tired in the ninth inning of the final game. . . . Dizzy denies it. . . . Asked this morning if he expected to pitch the opening game he said: "Hell, yes, and the other three, too!" . . . Baseball observers, however, say Manager Frisch will not start Dizzy unless he should threaten to burn his uniform over the disappointment. . . . This would be no time for the Cardinals to aggravate their ace hurler. . . . Mrs. Dean, a Mississippi girl with a southern drawl, who accompanied Dizzy to the series, says he isn't hard to manage at all. . . . "I handle the money," she explained, "and all I say is, 'Jerome, we'll not buy this; it's too expensive.' He agrees just like that. Anything is all right with him. That's why I am his banker, bookkeeper, manager, and girl friend." . . . A crowd of autograph seekers swarmed around Dean in the hotel lobby this morning, but the Missus shooed them away, saying: "He's got to have orange juice and a real breakfast," and in a businesslike way she led him off. . . .

Trafic at Michigan and Washington streets was blocked for ten minutes this morning when word spread that Will Rogers was entering his hotel. . . . Joe Penner, Joe Brown, John Boles, and George Raft were other screen notables who arrived today. . . . Newspaper writers were here from all parts of the country, but honors went to Tom Laird of the San Francisco News as long distance traveler. . . . Henry P. Edwards, director of the American league service bureau, and Charley Ward of the Free Press were in charge of press arrangements. . . .

George Moriarty, American league umpire, revealed at a banquet last night some of the lively repartee that goes on between players and officials. . . . "In the last series between the Athletics and Yankees," said Moriarty, "Lefty Gomez shot two in so fast that Jimmy Foxx missed them by four inches. The next one cut the plate and I shouted, 'Strike three!' Foxx started toward the dugout, but stopped and said, 'Moriarty, you missed that one.' My reply was: 'You shouldn't kick; you missed the first two.'" . . . Howard Ehmke, whose floater fooled the Cubs in the opening game of the 1929 series, was telling friends tonight that the Tigers were a cinch to win. . . .

Ten years ago today—Ban Johnson, president of the American league, and Barney Dreyfuss of the Pittsburgh Pirates demanded that Commissioner K. M. Landis be ousted for not calling off the world series on account of a bribery scandal. . . . Manager Bucky Harris of the Senators and Manager John McGraw of the Giants were announcing their starting lineups as though there never was a hint of a scandal. . . . The White Sox took the lead in the city series by whipping the Cubs, 6 to 3, in the third game.

Schurz Wins City League Opener, 19-0

Schurz opened its north section schedule in the Chicago Public High School Football league with a 19 to 0 victory over Sullivan at Logan Square park yesterday. Touchdowns were made in the first, second, and third quarters.

Paul Primack scored in the first quarter when he ran ten yards after catching a 35 yard pass from Ed Zydowsky. In the second period another 35 yard toss, Prasse to Zydowsky, brought the second score. Block, substituting for Devine, scored on a ten yard run through the center of the line in the third quarter. Lineups:

Fred Wardle, 6 foot, 215 pound tackle on the Glenbard eleven of the West Suburban conference, has been lost to the squad for the rest of the season. Wardle recently underwent an operation for appendicitis. Al Heaney, regular full back, may replace Wardle in the line, according to Coach Charley Butler.

Four regular members of last year's Fenwick team will be in the lineup at St. Philip Sunday in the opening game of the Catholic league. They are Johnny Murphy, right tackle; Ed Norris, left half; Bernie Masterson, quarter back, and Jim Maloney, left guard.

Morgan Park Military academy will open its season at Pullman Tech, Saturday afternoon. The Cadets will play five games on foreign fields and wind up the season with two home games.

Capt. Bill Krause, left end, will be the only veteran in the De Paul starting lineup when it meets St. Rita Sunday in an east section Catholic league game on De Paul field. Ray Durkin and John Cella will divide the quarter back duties, Coach Jim Kelly announced.

American Giants to Play Mills 2 Games Sunday

The American Giants, champions of the Negro National league, will meet the Chicago Mills semi-pro baseball team in a double-header at Mills stadium, Lake street and Kilpatrick avenue, Sunday.

PA DEAN TELLS HOW HE TAUGHT SONS TO PITCH

Houston, Tex., Oct. 2.—(AP)—A slender, wrinkled old man who was the great Deans' first baseball teacher, will board a bus tomorrow night for St. Louis where, he is confident, he will have the pleasure of watching his pupils stand the Detroit Tigers on their respective ears.

He is Albert M. Dean, 62, minor league baseball player himself in the long ago and the father of the major portion of the St. Louis Cardinal pitching staf.

Dean lives here with his son, Elmer, the ace peanut and soda water vendor in the Texas league and a brother to Dizzy and Paul. The two "batch" in one room in a frame rooming house close to the railroad tracks.

His Dad Is Different.

Strange as it may seem to those who know the loquacious Dizzy, the elder Dean is of a retiring nature. However, he unhesitatingly admits that it was he who taught Dizzy and Paul to throw a curve and thereby started them to become the greatest one family pitching staf in baseball history.

As for their control, that's another matter. They got that in the Arkansas hills "chunking" at squirrels with rocks, Papa Dean said. "It never took Dizzy more than two throws to knock a squirrel out of the highest tree," he boasted.

The elder Dean also attempted to settle the controversy concerning Dizzy's right name.

"His name is Jay Hanna," Dean said. "We named him for a politician and a millionaire—Mark Hanna and Jay Gould."

The Old Man Is Pleased.

"The boys' mother died when young Paul was 5 years old," their father continued in a low voice. "I have tried to do the best I could for them. Naturally it does me good to see them making great names for themselves."

Having abandoned farming, the elder Dean now lives in the exploits of his sons. He hasn't missed going downtown and getting inning by inning reports on a single game the Cards have played all year.

"What with my boys going so good and that wonderful comeback of the team in the last month, I've had a great summer," he said.

He'll be with "my boys" in spirit at Detroit. The modest furnishings of his one room don't include a radio, but there's one at an automobile repair shop next door and he will be there when the umpire calls "play ball" tomorrow.

TEXAS AGGIES LEAVE.

College Station, Tex., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Headed for Philadelphia and Friday night's game with Temple, thirty-four Texas A. & M. football players entrained today.

The Custom Tailor and Economy—

Under pressure of economy, many men attempted to uphold the standard of their personal appearance . . . without the aid of the Custom Tailor.

These men have learned that it was not economy.

They have learned that only the Custom Tailor is able to provide the personal touch of fashion, form and fabric . . . from which distinctive apparel evolves.

HEIRESS WINS LINCOLN FIELDS PURSE BY HEAD

Slim Rosie Has Not Quit, It Seems.

BY FRENCH LANE.

When Albert Sabath, head of the Hawthorne race track, stepped into his compartment on a Miami bound train yesterday he left the divers problems connected with his racing stable entirely up to Trainer Bert Michell. Sabath found it necessary to go south because he is vitally interested in the reopening of the Oriental Park race track at Havana.

But Trainer Bert Michell has little or no interest in the reopening of the Oriental Park track. He is simply a trainer of race horses. His sole interest is whether the horses he trains win the percentage of races required.

He Knows His Horses.

And as a trainer it must be admitted that Michell, once the guardian of such outstanding thoroughbreds as the champion Reigh Count, made good with a vengeance. Because of his careful preparation of Heiress, a daughter of Bunting out of Dixie Bird, she came from behind through the stretch at Lincoln Fields yesterday to win the Southmoor purse by a head.

It was a seven furlong event and featured an attractive seven race card and considerable courage on the part of Heiress, plus more than the usual amount of riding skill on the part of the rider, Harry Lindberg, was necessary to bring Heiress home in front. Away well, the good filly dropped back during the early stages, and it was not until the field of nine had rounded the first turn that she began to move up.

What! Slim Rosie?

She began to advance on the outside as the field came into the stretch turn, and by the time they turned for home she had come up to fourth place. For a filly of her stretch running disposition, it was easy from there, and she came charging on to triumph. She paid $15.44.

Slim Rosie, which Ike Weil announced last week had been retired for the year, did not retire. She came back in the Stony Island purse at six furlongs and scored a sensational head victory over Irksome from the Milky Way farms stable. Spicate, also owned by a Chicagoan, L. M. Severson, was running gamely at finish and wound up third.

Watch the Entries.

Slim Rosie was in front all the way, but one jump after the finish line had been passed Irksome's nose was showing in front. Slim Rosie had her backers and paid off at $8.44 to win, $3.12 to place and $2.28 to show. Irksome's place price was $3.08, and Spicate, the medium of a last minute plunge, paid $2.42 to show.

Owner Weil says Slim Rosie will not run again this season. He said the same thing last week. So if you see Slim Rosie's name in the entries tomorrow or the next day, it will be the sign to place a bob or two on her nose. She's a good 2 year old.

M'NAUGHTON, TRAINER, DIES OF HEART ATTACK

Rockville Center, N. Y., Oct. 2.—(AP)—George W. [Sandy] McNaughton, veteran race horse trainer, died of heart trouble at his home today, following a brief illness.

Rated at one time the biggest better in the east among the trainers, McNaughton came to New York from San Francisco where he broke into the racing game 30 years ago while operating the famous Cliff house on the bay. He was born in Watertown, N. Y., 62 years ago.

McNaughton raced Judge Denny, one of the greatest long distance horses of the century. His best horse, however, was Audacious, on which he was reported to have won a small fortune. Several years ago he retired. He is survived by his widow.

Gizzy Perils Ring Record of Frank Sigilio

Frank Sigilio, undefeated in professional boxing, may have his record spoiled when he fights Battling Gizzy, unorthodox Pittsburgh, Pa., boxer, in a ten round bout at the Coliseum next Tuesday night.

Sigilio, the Cicero junior welterweight contender, went two rounds with his 140 pound stablemate, Joey Palazzola, at Trafton's gymnasium yesterday. Gizzy boxed several rounds with Eddie Vlk, former Seattle, Wash., welterweight. Vlk will meet Young Joe Firpo, Philadelphia, in the ten round semi-final at the Coliseum, while Palazzola will box Steve Padon in a supporting bout.

Tracey Cox, Indianapolis, Ind., and Mickey Joy, Chicago, were matched yesterday to clash for ten rounds at Arcadia Gardens a week from tomorrow. . . . Jackie Sharkey and Bus Breese, lightweights, have been paired for eight rounds in a contest which precedes the windup. . . . Art Sykes, Elmira, N. Y., heavyweight, is expected back today to open drills in anticipation of fighting at one of two Chicago clubs or at Detroit this month. . . . Jack Kranz, Gary, and Billy Lighthart, Toronto, have been signed for a ten round bout at Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 10.

Tommy Paul, former featherweight champion, is being sought to oppose Leo Rodak of South Chicago in a 10 round fight to be promoted by Johnny Coulon at White City Oct. 15. . . . Shows at the Garden of Champions at A Century of Progress have been discontinued weekdays and will be held only on Saturday and Sunday during the rest of the Fair. . . . Dave Barry of Springfield, Ill., stopped off in Chicago last night en route to Detroit where he fights Roger Bernard for 10 rounds Friday.

Verne Patterson, Northwest gymnasium representative, who holds the 1934 Central A. A. U. bantamweight crown, has been signed to appear in the five round main event at Community Recreation center Monday. . . . Matchmaker Dick Mastro is seeking Dave Schimmel of the Jewish Organized Youths' as his opponent.

Barney Ross, lightweight and junior welterweight crownholder, will head for Loretta, Wis., after attending the world's series at Detroit today to join Art Winch, his co-manager with Sam Pian. They will rough it in the woods there for an indefinite period. . . . Billy Celebron, Rockford welterweight, may head the card at Rockford on Oct. 23.

GOOD SHOOTING SEEN ON OPENING OF DUCK SEASON

Report Many Birds Now in Illinois River Marshes.

BY BOB BECKER.

Duck hunters who plan on going into the Illinois river next week-end for their first shoot of the season will find many pintails and mallards in the marshes. We have been hearing from points along the river as far north as Hennepin and Bureau down to Bath, and in nearly every letter received the writer has commented on the possibility of good sport the first day of the season, which is Saturday. Of course, the real flight of pintails and mallards is not due until later in the month. When we get a blow and a storm around Oct. 20 the ducks come down in numbers.

Even if there may not be a large number of pintails and mallards on opening day we always find considerable compensation in listening to and watching the wood ducks. At Cuba island the duck hunting preserve near Saidora owned by L. H. Barkhausen of Chicago, where we have done considerable shooting at ducks in other years, the wood ducks always are abundant, because the combination of timber holes and water is just to their liking.

Hang On to Your Hat.

On opening day one can always count on having a chorus of squealing wood ducks all day long. Usually some of the birds all but knock one's hat off before the day is done. The way those birds swoop down to decoys or come up from behind at top speed doesn't permit of a single dull moment.

This year the wood duck is a protected species. It is against the law to kill them. The little ruddy duck also is on the protected list. Whereas the wood duck likes shallow water and timber the ruddy prefers open water. The latter is a deep water bird, spend its time on lakes or bodies of water with considerable depth. Along the Illinois river we have seen few ruddy ducks in other years. However, in the Wisconsin canvasback and redhead country we used to have them swim into our decoys as if they knew that no one would rise out of a blind and disturb them.

Wings Small, but He's Fast.

Along the east coast the hunters who go out into open water for their shooting consider the ruddy a great little game bird. We never could take this point of view until the autumn we went to Saskatchewan for a duck hunt. There we stood on a pass and saw ruddy ducks fly past us with a stiff breeze on their tail feathers. Trying to drop them was like attempting to stop a bumble bee in full flight. The little ruddy is a fast bird, even if his wings appear small and incapable of speed.

Irene Hanover Wins Stake in Grand Circuit

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 2.—(AP)—The Hanover farm's Irene Hanover won the Castleton stake, feature of a rather indifferent card at today's Grand Circuit races. The finish of the second heat was one of the hardest fought and closest of the meeting. Former Sherif Ross Stout of Clarksburg, W. Va., celebrated his 70th birthday by winning the 18 trot with Tondinella Stout, giving him a new record of 2:02¼. Oil in the Can, heavy favorite, was third in the summary. Lindy Volo won the second heat.

The 18 pace was a hard fought affair, going a limit battle of four heats. W. E. T., winner of a race earlier in the meeting, proved best in the final struggle. Theo Guy, favorite, won the opening heat, but the two Illinois horses beat him for the final.

The claiming trot was declared finished at the close of the second heat after the handsome gelding Integrity had won both of them. Gov. Eugene Talmadge of Georgia was a guest of the association. Results:

PLAYER PROTEST PERILS COLLEGE FOOTBALL GAME

Brookings, S. D., Oct. 2.—(AP)—The question of eligibility of Solomon Kramer, star quarter back of South Dakota State college's North Central conference championship football team, threatened today to bring cancellation of the scheduled game between State and Morningside at Sioux City, Ia., Saturday night.

Kramer has been protested by Coach J. M. Saunderson of Morningside because of his enrolment at the University of North Dakota and the University of South Dakota before he came to State. The question to be decided seemed to be whether the rule barring an athlete from competing for a school if previously enroled at another conference member is retroactive.

Tuskegee and Wilberforce Elevens Play Here Oct. 20

Tuskegee institute of Alabama, and Wilberforce university of Ohio will meet at Soldier Field Oct. 20. This will be the sixth annual game between the two institutions, four of which have been played in Chicago. Officials of the two schools arrived in the city yesterday to complete arrangements for the game.

Templeton Polo Four Runs Over Eastcott, 22 to 5

New York, Oct. 2.—[Special.]—Winston Guest's Templeton team galloped into the final round of the open polo championship tournament at the Meadowbrook club today, defeating Eastcott, 22 to 5. The first few minutes of the game, played on Cochran field, pointed definitly to the result when Templeton scored three quick goals and from there to the close the youthful riders who, in this same formation, won the open in 1932, galloped steadily along piling up their score.

Mike Phipps, Guest, Stewart Iglehart and Ray Guest in that order formed the Templeton team this afternoon, and they made a smooth quartet that had speed and power combined with excellent accuracy, despite the fact that the rainsoaked field cut up badly. The machine gun fire of goals was led by Winston Guest, who sent eleven through the opposing posts, with Phipps, who had seven, the next scorer for his side. The back field divided the remaining four scores evenly between them.

The second semi-final is to be played tomorrow, on International field, bringing together Greentree and Aurora. This is the first appearance in the tournament of the Aurora team in defense of its title won last fall. Greentree came through with an impressive display against the Aiken Knights. Lineup:

TEMPLETON [22].		EASTCOTT [5].
M. G. Phipps	No. 1	C. V. Whitney
W. F. Guest	No. 2	E. A. S. Hopping
S. B. Iglehart	No. 3	E. W. Hopping
R. R. Guest	Back	Stephen Sanford

Score by periods:

Templeton	3	2	3	2	2	1	5	4	22
Eastcott	1	0	0	0	0	1	2	1	5

Goals—Templeton: Phipps [7], W. Guest [11], Iglehart [2], R. Guest [2]. Eastcott: Whitney [2], E. W. Hopping, E. A. S. Hopping, Sanford.
Periods—7½ minutes each.
Referee—Capt. W. J. White.

W. G. MENNEN DEVELOPING RECENT IMPROVEMENTS IN SHAVING CREAMS

YOU'VE HEARD some shaving cream fellows shouting 'Throw away that shaving brush.' You've heard others saying just the opposite. Who is right? Neither. Take it from me, gentlemen—that's the plain truth.

"I make both lather shave and brushless. Why? Because there is no one best shave for all faces.

"If you have an oily skin, you should use a lather shave—Mennen Lather Shave, because it flushes out your over-active pores; loosens imbedded grease deposits; leaves your face healthier.

"If you have a dry skin, I recommend a brushless shave. Mennen Brushless is a cream, not a grease; it contains special ingredients good for a dry, thin, tender skin.

"If you have a normal skin, then it's a question of convenience—do you like to use a brush, or don't you?

"Let me add this: both Mennen Lather and Mennen Brushless are what I call whisker-wilters. Choose the one that best suits your type of skin, and I'll promise you the smoothest, sweetest shave you ever had. I mean it. So go to it, men."

MENNEN Lather shave and Brushless

GETS 6 MONTHS IN BRIDEWELL AS DRUNKEN DRIVER

Motorist Must Pay $544; Boy Dies in Mishap.

John G. Schneller, 35 years old, 415 Sullivan street, was sentenced to serve a total of six months in the Bridewell and pay $544 in fines and costs, after being found guilty yesterday of seven traffic violations, including charges of drunken and reckless driving. He was found guilty by Judge Frank M. Padden in the Safety court.

The other charges arose during a police chase after an automobile collision Sept. 21 at Addison street and Pulaski road, during which Schneller passed four traffic lights and blew an exhaust whistle. The jail terms were imposed for driving while intoxicated and for reckless driving.

Leniency Plea Denied.

Pleading for leniency because of his seven children, John Allen, 46 years old, 4328 North Hermitage avenue, an awning hanger, was sentenced to 10 days in the Bridewell and fined $100 for drunken driving last Saturday. In denying the leniency plea, Judge Harold P. O'Connell, sharing the duties of the Safety court, remarked that 210 children were killed by automobiles last year. A similar charge brought a sentence of five days to John Potock, 26 years old, 1405 North Artesian avenue, a clothes presser.

One death yesterday raised the toll of automobile fatalities in the county since Jan. 1 to 897. The victim:

Year's Total Now 898.

Two deaths, one yesterday and one early today, increased the Cook county motor toll since Jan. 1 to 898.

Max Scholz, 75 years old, 1624 Komensky avenue, was fatally injured after midnight when he was struck by an automobile at 16th street and Komensky avenue. He died an hour later in St. Anthony's hospital.

The driver of the car, Nunzi Santori, 41 years old, fled after the accident. Witnesses reported the license number of the car to the police and Santori was arrested at home by Policemen William Sexton and Charles Belzer. He said he had fled because he became frightened.

John Mills, 13 years old, 4048 Maypole avenue, was fatally hurt when he fell from a truck on which he was hitching a ride at Western avenue and Fulton street.

Driver Unaware of Tragedy.

Unaware of the accident, the truck driver continued on his way. Charles Cook, 13 years old 4032 Maypole avenue, who was with the Mills boy, jumped off and ran home after the accident. The Mills boy died en route to the Washington Boulevard hospital.

A woman who died early Sunday in the Belmont hospital after being struck by an automobile at North Central and Belmont avenues was identified by her daughter yesterday as Mrs. Mary Woodell, 3333 North Ozark avenue.

Dr. Rice, Noted Engineer, Stricken and Dies at 65

New York, Oct. 2.—[Special.]—Dr. Calvin Winsor Rice, well known engineer and for the last 28 years secretary of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, died tonight. He had been taken ill during the afternoon. Dr. Rice was 65 years old.

BUREAU COUNTY PROTESTS RISE IN RELIEF COST

Even Democrats Join in Objection.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Princeton, Ill., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—In Bureau county, where the cost of handing out relief has been boosted 400 per cent since early this year, even the Democratic central committee is protesting against the present system. The county board of township supervisors has recorded a strong objection to the skyward trend of expenditures.

Three months, February, March, and April, show an average administrative cost of $320. Precisely four times this much is shown for the subsequent three months' average—$1,280. In July it was $1,550.

As to the reasons for the skyrocketing overhead expense, one may be simply illustrated by the fact that $250 a month is Bureau county's prorated share of the cost of running the Chicago office of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission. This is slightly more than the total cost of relief administration in February, when the county relief committee appointed by the township supervisors had control.

Elaborate Office Setup.

Other reasons may be explained by the elaborate office set-up of 27 employés and examples of red tape which were found here.

Administrator P. M. Kownacki of Chicago recently moved the county headquarters from a former postoffice building to a much larger residential structure away from the business section.

In the old quarters the relief bureau managed to get along with one telephone, but in the new place ten telephones have been installed, one in each of eight rooms and two in another room. This layout now requires two trunk lines, a switchboard, and an operator.

To supervise the cultivation of 34 acres of land by relief "clients," Administrator Kownacki employs a garden expert and four overseers at salaries totaling $318 a month. None of the men is expected to do any hoe or spade work, but all are supposed to advise the relief gardeners. In the six month period ending Oct. 15 the supervisor cost will amount to $1,908.

The new regulations for operating the medical department of the relief bureau have aroused considerable resentment among both "clients" and taxpayers. If a member of a relief family develops an illness not believed to be of an emergency nature the "client" calls the case worker, who is the judge of whether the illness is chronic or not.

Attacked by County Board.

If the case worker, who has had little or no medical experience, decides it is chronic, she may decide that the bureau will not furnish a doctor. Otherwise she reports to the supervising nurse, who selects a physician, if the "client" has not asked for a doctor who is on the relief list.

After the doctor has made a visit, and if he writes a prescription, the "client" must again seek out the case worker to get her authorization to have it filled. If the prescription is to cost more than 50 cents, the druggist can not fill it until he obtains permission from the county nurse at relief headquarters.

The county board of supervisors in a resolution attacked the relief set-up and especially the "outside control," stating that administrative costs had only been from $200 to $300 a month under the local committee which had many volunteer workers. As in other counties, they held that relief should be administered by elective officials familiar with local needs.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The world series goes on the air at 12:15 p. m. today, central standard time. While millions of listeners from coast to coast and from Canada to the gulf tune in the annual baseball classic, thousands of matinée entertainers from more than 175 stations will be free to go bicycling, or watch the Fords go by, due to the broadcast.

W-G-N is the only independent station to carry the broadcast. The entire NBC and CBS nets will broadcast the series, local chain outlets being KYW, WMAQ, WBBM and WIND. WENR, an NBC outlet, cannot carry the broadcast because WLS, with whom it shares time, is allotted part of the daytime hours during which the series broadcasts will fall.

The Tribune station will pick up the NBC broadcasts with Tom Manning and Ford Bond giving the play by play account and Graham McNamee describing the spectacle. The CBS report will be given by France Laux, Pat Flanagan, and Ted Husing.

A survey of all 95 broadcast channels from 550 to 1500 Sunday evening while President Roosevelt was speaking revealed that only seven were not outletting the chief executive's talk. Music was coming in at the 590, 850, 890, 1110, 1230, and 1410 marks.

It's a busy day in the George Olsen household today. This morning George and Ethel Shutta, who is Mrs. Olsen, are starting their two youngsters, Charles, 7, and George Jr., 5, off to the Boys Latin school. And tonight they open their engagement at the College inn and over NBC. Olsen was all set to go on a new sponsored radio show for a refrigerator concern a few weeks ago. Then the government went into the ice box manufacturing business and that was the end of that.

Rudy Vallee's orchestra will stay over one day after they finish at the Chicago theater to play at the Aragon ballroom on Friday evening, alternating with Wayne King's orchestra. Rudy put in about three hours at the rate of about $1,000 for each 60 minutes. His music is not likely to be broadcast on that evening.

When the new Sigmund Romberg radio program goes on the air at 7 o'clock next Saturday evening over NBC an elderly world famous composer will be listening in more than 3,000 miles away. At the cabled request of Franz Lehar, composer of the "Merry Widow" and close friend of Romberg, NBC will shortwave the program of original Romberg music to the old musician in Vienna.

"The Story of Mary Martin," a new dramatic sketch, will have its première on WMAQ at noon today. The title rôle will be played by Joan Blaine, a great-grand-granddaughter of James G. Blaine, the statesman. Other players will be Art Jacobsen and Carleton Brickert. Jane Crusinberry is writing the show.

Seek Chef as Physicians Battle for Stabbing Victim

While physicians at the Lake View hospital were trying to save the life of Maurice D. Reisman, 26 years old, 832 Sunnyside avenue, the Town Hall police continued yesterday their search for Joseph Pedroza, 906 Wilson avenue, a chef, Reisman's alleged assailant. Reisman was stabbed in the left side and abdomen after quarreling with Pedroza over the latter's attentions to Reisman's wife, Ruth, 23 years old, according to the wife's story to police. She said she and her husband had recently agreed to a two months' trial separation, she to have custody of their son, Irwin, 4 years old.

Frederick Kreil, 73, Dies at Home of Heart Attack

A heart attack caused the death in his home yesterday of Frederick Kreil, 73 years old, 6400 Eggleston avenue, a retired farmer, and father of seven sons and seven daughters. The body was found by the widow, Walburga, 63 years old.

MINER IS KILLED ON ROAD; BOMB SMASHES TRAIN

Lincoln, Ill., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—Flareups in the recurrent southern Illinois mine warfare today cost the life of a United Mine Worker in a street fight at Harrisburg. The same strife was blamed for the dynamiting of a coal train this morning on the Illinois Central railroad near Mount Pulaski.

The latest fatality in the bitter factional troubles between the United Mine Workers and the Progressive Mine Workers was the death of Charles Gaddis, 36. He died early today of a bullet wound received last night in a gun fight on a Harrisburg street. Russell Silvers, 24, a Progressive miner, may die as the result of the fight. Police said the shooting occurred when Charles and his brother, Harry Gaddis, 27, encountered a group of Progressive miners and quarreled with Silvers. Harry Gaddis was arrested and taken to the county jail at Benton to avoid further trouble.

Nine of the 20 loaded coal cars in the dynamited Illinois Central train left the track two miles south of Mount Pulaski. The engine and eleven cars had passed safely over the hidden mine, the explosive being set off almost in the center of the train.

Five cars went into a ditch and four others were derailed.

EVANSTON RITES TOMORROW FOR CHARLES OZMUN

Funeral services for Charles T. Ozmun, 72 years old, 824 Sheridan road, Evanston, who died of a heart attack yesterday, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow from the home. Mr. Ozmun was founder and chairman of the board of the Chicago Cardboard company, and was active in its affairs until his death.

Born in Rochester, Minn., July 15, 1862, Mr. Ozmun as a young man entered the hardware business with his father in Rochester and later became an associate of the wholesale hardware concern of Farwell, Ozmun, Kirk & Co. of St. Paul. He came to Chicago in 1902 and founded the cardboard company.

He is survived by his widow, the former Effie Eugene Murphy, and two sons, Kenneth L. and Donald C. He was a prominent Mason and belonged to the Chicago Athletic association and the Evanston Golf club.

R. E. HAMILTON'S FUNERAL TO BE IN SAN DIEGO TODAY

Funeral services will be held in San Diego, Cal., today for Richard E. Hamilton, member of a pioneer Chicago family, who died in the California city on Sept. 30.

Mr. Hamilton was the grand nephew of Gurdon Hubbard, one of the original Chicago settlers, and a grandson of Col. Richard Hamilton, prominent in early Cook county history. Col. Hamilton at one time held all offices of newly organized Cook county simultaneously. Mr. Hamilton was born in Chicago in 1865 and moved to San Diego about 15 years ago. He is survived by his widow, Ethel L. Hamilton; Henry R. Hamilton, Oak Park, a brother, and by Mrs. Harriet H. Allport, Glencoe, a sister.

ADMINISTRATORS APPOINTED FOR THREE ESTATES

Letters of administration were filed yesterday in Probate court for the following estates:

EDWARD A. KENT, died July 28. Estate $12,000, to four sisters. Miss Emma Kent, sister, administratrix.

FRANK J. BARRY, died Sept. 7. Estate $11,000, to two sons and seven daughters. Mary T. Barry, daughter, administratrix.

ELIZABETH S. REID, died Sept. 18. Estate $4,500, to father and three sisters. John W. S. Reid, father, administrator.

The will of Louis Schenk, who died Aug. 14, leaving an estate of $20,000 to two sons and five daughters, was also filed. Mrs. Tillie Woehlck, daughter, was made executrix.

EDWIN BEDERMAN, YOUNG CHICAGO LEGISLATOR, DIES

State Representative Edwin B. Bederman of the 25th district, a west side Republican who had served three terms in the lower house at Springfield, died yesterday of a heart ailment of long standing in a sanitarium at 2637 Prairie avenue. He was 39 years old and is survived by his parents, his wife, and two sons, Stuart and David. His home was at 5010 North Drake avenue.

During the regular session of the legislature in 1933 Bederman came into prominence as the sponsor of a one per cent tax limitation on property and succeeded, after a battle, in having a resolution favoring it passed by the house. It was killed, however, in the senate.

One of the younger members, Bederman was very active on the floor of the house. He was defeated for renomination last April and went to the sanitarium shortly after.

Walter Raymond, 83, Dies; California Hotel Pioneer

Pasadena, Cal., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—Walter Raymond, 83, Southern California pioneer millionaire hotel operator, founder of the Raymond Whitcomb tours, and so-called "Father of Southern California's tourist trade," died of uremic poisoning today in a bungalow cottage on grounds of the palatial Raymond hotel which was an enterprise of his ownership until its foreclosure last year. Mr. Raymond was born near Boston and came to this section in 1883. He interested wealthy men from other sections of the country in buying and building show place homes in Pasadena's "Millionaire's Row."

Funeral to Be Friday for L.E.Gibbs; Burial in Ottawa

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Friday in the chapel at 5708 Madison street for Leon E. Gibbs, 56 years old, 209 South Taylor avenue, Oak Park, who died yesterday in his home after a brief illness. Burial will be in Ottawa, Ill., Mr. Gibbs' birthplace. The funeral will be conducted by the Siloam commandery, Knights Templar. Mr. Gibbs had lived in Chicago or its suburbs for 32 years. He owned two drug stores in Chicago and one in Oak Park. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Katherine S. Gibbs.

FOREIGN.

10 govt. issues	108.55	108.39	106.97	103.96

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 2.—Bond prices rallied substantially on the stock exchange today in the slowest trading since Aug. 2. The turnover was $7,846,000, compared with $8,431,000 the day before, when the market moved generally lower.

United States government long term issues finished generally higher, up 6-32ds to off 2-32ds point. The only losers were the Federal Farm Mortgage corporation and Home Owners' Loan corporation issues. In the over the counter market dealers reported a firm market for government short term obligations.

Corporation Bonds Rally.

Recoveries in domestic corporation bonds ranged fractionally to a point or two. Three issues of Chicago and North Western bonds advanced around a point each and two New Haven loans sold slightly higher. Carrier bonds improving around one-half point included some obligations of the Santa Fe, Baltimore and Ohio, Chesapeake and Ohio, Erie, Illinois Central, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific, and Southern Railway.

There were some weak spots such as the obligations of Laclede Gas, Lehigh Valley, Missouri Pacific, and Central of Georgia. New York rapid transit issues were strong on the belief that a municipal tax on fares for unemployment relief will not be passed at this time.

Foreign Liens Irregular.

Foreign loans showed considerable irregularity. German loans were again under pressure, the government 5½s losing 2⅛ points and descending to little more than a point from the record low levels. French and British issues were firm, and Italian government 7s jumped 2¼ points. Other European loans closed irregular. South American bonds closed generally lower, many losing ground fractionally to more than 2 points.

On the curb exchange, domestic bonds were generally higher and foreign loans lower in quiet dealings.

Heads of Bank Holding Company Deny Charges

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 2.—(AP)—A general denial to all allegations in the suit filed by George S. Grimes, a stockholder, against the First Bank Stock corporation, was made today by attorneys for the corporation. Their answer was to be filed in District court. A. McC. Washburn, counsel for the corporation, branded as "comic strip action" the $2,261,250 suit filed against officers and directors.

Mobile Bay Bridge.

Investors' Guide: Please give me what information you can on Mobile Bay Bridge first 7s.—K. W. J.

Answer: Mobile Bay Bridge company operates a series of bridges connected by causeways in the shallow waters at the head of Mobile bay. It is on the most direct route from New Orleans to Pensacola, on the Old Spanish trail and the Florida Mid-West highway.

The three year record of earnings follows:

	Number of vehicles.	Gross revenues.	Times charges earned.
1933	210,479	$223,000	0.90
1932	236,387	254,102	1.02
1931	276,363	312,000	1.32

Current assets on Dec. 31, 1933, including $13,000 cash, totaled $15,000 and current liabilities were $17,000. Working capital deficit was $2,000, against net working capital of $133,000 the year before. Profit and loss surplus during 1933 dropped to $38,000 from $74,000.

The $1,420,000 first 7s, due 1951, are senior to $1,280,000 general mortgage 7s, due 1951.

The first mortgage bonds are a speculation.

Seneca Copper Mining.

Investors' Guide: Please give me information on Seneca Copper company. If there is any charge for this information please let me know before answering the request.—N. E. H.

Answer: Seneca Copper Mining company fell victim to receivership proceedings in September, 1931, the result of many years of unprofitable operation, aggravated by then current low copper prices.

The Jan. 1, 1931, interest on the $1,500,000 first mortgage bonds remains unpaid. Properties have been completely shut down. Pumping operations have even been suspended.

No earnings statement later than that for 1930 are available. For the five years through 1930 the company suffered losses ranging from $221,000 [before depletion] to $722,000. At the close of 1933 current assets, including only $387 cash, totaled $1,827 while current liabilities, including $367,000 accrued interest and $56,000 tax reserve, aggregated $515,000.

The 630,000 shares of no par capital stock are just about a hopeless speculation. Nothing has ever been paid on the shares in the form of dividends.

There is no charge for any service rendered by the Investors' Guide.

LESS THAN HALF ILLINOIS BANKS JOIN FHA PLAN

Only 1,904 Sign for Home Repair Loan Program.

BY AL CHASE.

Out of a total of 2,547 banks in the states of Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky and Wisconsin, which comprise Region No. 7, of the Federal Housing administration, less than 50 per cent, or 1,094, have signed up to go along with the better housing program provided for in the national housing act, according to an announcement made by Percy Wilson, district director, yesterday. Other official figures, made public for the first time, show that up to the first of this month, 7,374 inquiries had been received at these banks; 2,301 of the inquirers had asked for loans and 981 actually had loans made, totaling $383,170.

In the northern district of Illinois, comprising sixteen counties, directed by Carrill Sudler, 133 of the 228 banks now in business, have signed up with FHA. Inquiries have been received from 387 families and of these 204 asked for loans. Sixty-one qualified and got a total of $47,273 for repairing and modernizing their homes. Forty of these loans were in Cook county.

279 Join in Southern Illinois.

In the southern half of the state, out of 653 banks, 279 agreed to go along with FHA. So far these banks have received 2,831 inquiries and 1,033 applications for loans. Of this total 448 families have been granted $150,432.

Kentucky made the poorest showing of the four states in region No. 7, according to Mr. Wilson. Only 77 loans were made, totaling $39,000, for the entire state. The entire state of Wisconsin showed less interest than the southern part of Illinois. Loans numbering 134 were negotiated calling for $50,223. Indiana reported 261 loans totaling $96,242.

The size of the loans varied considerably in the four states. In the sixteen northern Illinois counties the average was $775. In the southern half it was only $335. The average for the entire state was $388. The average loan in Indiana was for $368, in Wisconsin $375, and in Kentucky $506. The average for the entire region was $390.

Conduct Special Campaigns.

Special campaigns are now under way, Mr. Wilson announced, in the ten largest cities in each of the four states, to inform the public of the methods and benefits of the national housing act and how to secure loans from banks, building and loan associations and other lending bodies, under FHA authorization.

Mr. Wilson stated that in 301 cities in the four states under his direction community chairmen already have been appointed and are conducting community campaigns.

REORGANIZATION IS SOUGHT FOR LUBLINER & TRINZ

Reorganization of the Lubliner & Trinz corporation under section 77B of the amended bankruptcy law was asked in a creditors' petition filed in federal court here yesterday. Liabilities were placed at $1,239,000 and assets at not more than $500,000.

The action is directed specifically against the $250,000 residue of a bond issue on the Lincoln-Belmont building which was assumed by the corporation. Considerable litigation has been started in an effort to keep the issue from defaulting and Attorney Harry J. Myerson, who filed the petition, said he would seek to have equity receivership proceedings pending in Cook county Circuit court dismissed in favor of the federal petition.

Creditors also filed a petition for ordinary adjudication in bankruptcy of the Czechoslovak Restaurant, Inc., at the Twenty-third street entrance of the World's Fair. Creditors' claims total $1,300. According to the petition the cafe is insolvent.

2 CLOSED BANKS MAKE PAYMENTS TO DEPOSITORS

Payments to depositors of two Chicago banks was announced yesterday. They include a 7½ per cent disbursement, amounting to $3,597, to depositors of the Mount Greenwood Trust and Savings bank, and a 10 per cent payment, amounting to $5,647, to depositors of the Parkway State bank.

This is the third payment for depositors of the Greenwood bank and brings the total to 22½ per cent. Checks will be given out this week.

The payment to depositors of the Parkway bank was the second to be made, bringing the total to 20 per cent. Checks were given out ... 29. In addition to this payment $4,417 has been paid to other preferred creditors.

Abel Davis, Title & Trust Head, Ill in Glencoe Home

Abel Davis, 60 years old, chairman of the board of the Chicago Title and Trust company, is confined to bed in his home at 600 Sheridan road, Glencoe, it was learned yesterday. Members of the family said he was suffering from arthritis complicated by exhaustion from overwork. They described his condition as not serious, but said it would be necessary for him to be absent from duty for several more days at least.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

In a communication published in the "Letters" column of the financial section Monday morning, Oct. 1, C. E. Synreb, a reader in Cedar Rapids, Ia., erroneously included the name "North American Life" in a list of insurance companies that had failed. This was obviously a mistake in names. There are three companies whose names begin with the words "North American Life." All three are active companies in good standing.

In the estimates of the farm stocks of corn published yesterday the figure of R. O. Cromwell was given incorrectly as 266,000,000 bushels. Cromwell's estimate was 213,000,000 bushels.

MUNICIPAL BOND NOTES

The First Boston corporation yesterday purchased $500,000 of Manchester, N. H., tax notes due on April 10, 1935, at .81 of 1 per cent. The notes have all been sold.

The commissioners of Cuyahoga county, Ohio, have presented a plan for the conversion of $3,625,000 bonds now past due. Out of a refunding issue of $4,248,000 offered, $623,000 was sold to the Parent-Teachers' association of Columbus. The plan provides that general bonds outside of limitation will receive cash in full, while bonds payable for taxes within limitation will receive 40 per cent in cash and 60 per cent in refunding bonds. Special assessment holders are offered 10 per cent cash and 90 per cent new refunding bonds.

E. H. Rollins & Sons, Inc., are offering $30,000 Carthage, Ill., sewerage disposal 5 per cent bonds, due 1936 to 1947, at prices to yield from 3 to 4 per cent.

The City of Manchester, N. H., has scheduled a new issue of $500,000 of temporary loan discount notes for award. The notes will be dated Oct. 3, 1934, and will be payable on April 10, 1935.

Gloucester, Mass., will offer a new issue of $15,000 of water bonds today. The issue will be dated Oct. 1, 1934, and will mature 1935 to 1939.

Further details of the issue of $1,000,000 of emergency relief bonds which the state of Texas plans to offer for bids on Oct. 6 were disclosed yesterday. The issue will be dated Oct. 1, 1934, and will mature from 1935 to 1944, with the rate of interest to be named by the bidders at not to exceed 4¼ per cent.

A new issue of $121,200 city of Danville, Va., 4 per cent serial bonds has been awarded to the Richmond corporation of Richmond, Va. The price paid was 102.116.

Stranahan, Harris & Co., Inc., have been awarded a new issue of $100,000 city of Owasso, Mich., sewage disposal plant bonds. The issue, dated Oct. 1, 1934, and due from 1937 to 1949, fetched a price of 99.110, with the interest rate named as 4½ per cent.

Award of a new issue of $65,000 city of St. Charles, Mo., water works bonds, due serially from Oct. 1, 1939, to 1954, has been made to the Metropolitan St. Louis company. The price paid was 100.079 for the bonds as 3½s.

WARNS ATTACKS ON CAPITALISM HURT INSURANCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 2.—"An attack upon capitalism is an attack upon insurance," Merle Thorpe, editor of the Nation's Business, said here today in an address before the insurance advertising conference.

"There are millions today who pin their hope and faith to their insurance policies, yet go about bitterly assailing 'capitalism,'" he said. "Yet insurance represents the largest accumulation of capital, exclusive of the banks.

"With all our intelligence we cannot seem to realize that capital is merely the savings of the people collected by managements, of which insurance is one, and brought to an effective focus where those savings are pumped into trade and industry, quickening economic activity, furnishing markets, making more opportunity for jobs, and raising the standard of living by enlarging the benefits of workers and consumers alike. A successful attack will bring the institution of insurance to its knees."

A. T. Falk of the Advertising Federation of America declared that "purchasing power and volume of production must move upward together. No power is strong enough to defy economic realities and force up the one before the other."

BUTTER PRICES DROP; EGGS REMAIN STEADY TO LOWER

Bearish statistical reports caused a decline of ¼ to ⅜c at the opening on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange yesterday but the market recovered, closing unchanged to ⅛c lower. Butter was ⅛@⅜c lower and potatoes unchanged.

Last week, 35 cities moved out 115,000 cases less eggs than in the same week last year. The daily four market report showed withdrawals 9,000 cases less than last year. This continued indication of poor consumption brought selling into the market at the opening but the pressure died out within a short time.

Butter was more active. Statistics were bearish, the weekly report showing 600,000 lbs. less out and the four markets 433,000 lbs. more in.

DEFICIT OF U. S. FOR 3 MONTHS IS 541 MILLIONS

Emergency Costs Show Sharp Upturn.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2.—The treasury ended the first quarter of the 1935 fiscal year on Sept. 29 with a deficit of $541,671,971. Expenditures for that period were $1,495,571,502 compared with receipts of $953,899,530, according to figures issued at the treasury today.

At the end of September, last year, the deficit was $237,493,083, while for the quarter receipts totaled $672,001,525 and expenditures, $909,494,608.

The feature of the first quarter of this fiscal year was the rapidly mounting volume of emergency expenditures. These costs amounted to $838,383,747, compared with $295,128,150 the corresponding period of the preceding year.

Customs Receipts Gain.

With the exception customs receipts all forms of government revenue gained in the three months. The main receipts were:

Income taxes	$216,358,901	$163,169,848
Misc. internal rev.	454,061,493	362,150,005
Process'g. tax on farm products	124,262,938	32,378,985
Customs	78,457,529	91,564,930
Siegnorage	49,845,991	6,340

On Sept. 29 the public debt amounted to $27,189,648,737, compared with $27,079,860,564 on Aug. 31; $23,050,754,554 a year earlier, and $26,596,701,648 on Aug. 31, 1919, when the war time peak was reached. For the three months, new issues of the public debt totaled $2,443,518,304, compared with $2,417,929,358 the corresponding period of the year before. Retirements amounted to $2,307,010,981 against $1,905,847,364 in the fiscal year 1934.

Detail Emergency Costs.

The principal emergency expenditures were given as follows: Federal Emergency Relief Administration, $365,852,009; public highways, $132,048,619; agricultural adjustment administration, $81,038,354; emergency conservation work, $97,817,501; loans to railroads, $46,038,000, and rivers and harbors work, $47,025,507.

The reconstruction finance corporation showed a credit of $142,741,414 as a result of loans repaid, as compared with expenditures of $130,978,626 last year.

Gold assets at the end of September were given as $7,977,829,633, compared with $7,960,066,617 at the beginning of the quarter.

NEW YORK CITY TO PAY 2¾ PCT. FOR BANK LOAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 2.—As a result of a conference today between the members of the banking syndicate handling city issues and Mayor La Guardia and Controler McGoldrick, the city was enabled to borrow $6,000,000 on certificates of indebtedness due March 25, the controler announced.

Interest will be at the rate of 2¾ per cent. The collateral for the loan will be the tax of one-tenth of 1 per cent on business incomes. The tax will be due and payable on March 15. The loan will be completed on Friday.

Today the first tentative budget prepared by a fusion administration, elected on an economy program, was ready to be delivered to the board of estimate by Mayor La Guardia and Budget Director McGahen. Estimated to be $36,000,000 higher than the last Tammany-executed instrument, the 1935 tentative budget will probably total nearly $590,000,000. Former Mayor O'Brien's last budget totaled $551,000,000.

COURT EXTENDS NOTE MATURITY OF M. & ST. L. LINE

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Renewal or extension of $1,185,000 in receivers certificates of the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad which fall due in November, was authorized in federal district court today by Judge Wilbur S. Booth. The extension will be for six months or longer, depending on prospects for a reorganization of the road under a loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

The court has ordered the road sold, but the sale has been deferred pending action of RFC authorities.

In another order Judge Booth ordered the restoration of one-quarter of a ten per cent pay cut ordered two years ago to the unorganized employés of the road, other than those in a supervisory capacity. This pay increase is effective as of July 1.

I. C. C. TOLD RATE BOOST IS VITAL BY ERIE CHIEF

Trade Upturn Fails to Aid Income.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2.—Asserting that the anticipated upturn in business had not been sufficiently important to do the railroads much good, Charles E. Denney, president of the Erie railroad, yesterday requested the interstate commerce commission to grant the railroads' request for higher freight rates to help them meet their higher operating costs. At the same time he recommended that regulatory legislation fair to all forms of transportation be passed by congress next year.

Denney was unable to appear before the commission personally because of illness, but his message was read into the records by attorneys for the railroads.

Ask 170 Million Increase.

The increases sought by the roads total around $170,000,000 and would apply to certain commodities instead of representing a blanket boost.

Denney said it had been hoped various emergency activities of the government would bring a substantial increase in business. However, he insisted that a survey of the situation had convinced railroad executives that any increase in trafic would not come in time nor in sufficient amount to obviate the necessity for increased rates.

Meanwhile, in another hearing room of the ICC, commercial air lines which have air mail contracts pushed their case for higher subsidy rates from the government. T. J. Dunnion, treasurer of American Air lines, Inc., said the government should make up in mail subsidies the difference between income and operating losses. He said his concern will suffer a loss of $2,500,000 in the year ending next May, despite an increase in passenger trafic.

Pledge Coöperation.

To their request for approval of the rate increase the railroads added a pledge to coöperate with the administration in any reasonable plan for placing them on a more sound financial and operating basis.

R. V. Fletcher, general counsel of the Association of American Railroads, said the carriers are disposed to cooperate with President Roosevelt in any practical program for reorganization, but added that many executives considered some plans of Joseph B. Eastman, transportation coördinator, as being "too advanced."

L. W. Baldwin, president and a trustee of the Missouri Pacific railroad, asserted that lines operating 62 per cent of the 135,000 miles of road in the west had operating deficits in 1933.

Deficits Soar Sharply.

"Deficits on roads having no net income increased in round numbers from 7 millions in 1929 to more than 93 millions last year," he said.

Western lines were represented by L. E. Wettling of Chicago, manager of the statistical bureau of the western railroads. He told the commission western carriers operating in drouth areas had contributed more than $4,100,000 during 1933 and 1934 to the relief of agriculture in reduced rates on live stock and feed. From Jan. 1 to Aug. 1, 15 railroads in drouth areas lost $3,593,000 in that way, he said.

"Under normal conditions charges on this trafic would be $105.72 a car," he pointed out. "Voluntary reductions made by the railroads cut this figure to $63.09, or 59.67 per cent of the normal rate."

INSULL RECEIVER COLLUSION CASE IN COURT OCT. 11

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday set Oct. 11 for oral arguments on the question of whether there was collusion in the appointment of the receivers for the various Insull companies. The hearing date was set by the Circuit court simultaneously with the beginning of the trial of Samuel Insull and sixteen codefendants on mail fraud charges before Federal Judge Wilkerson.

Already there are two conflicting federal court decisions on the collusion question. Judge Evan A. Evans of the Appeals court held that the receiverships by implication were collusive. Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley, who named the receivers for the company, held that there was no collusion involved after he conducted extended hearings know as the Insull "town hall" meetings.

The Evans decision alone will be considered Oct. 11, while hearings on the Lindley opinion will be held during the January term of the court.

Present Market Prices of Metal Stocks Compared With 1929 Peak

Gold, Silver Rise to New High Prices

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 2.—Gold and silver prices reached new peaks today under the influence of financing for fall commitments and treasury buying. In London the price of bar gold in shillings soared to the highest point in history.

The net rise for London bar gold was 8½ pence to 142 shillings 2½ pence a fine ounce, or $35.03 at the closing price for the pound of $4.92¾. At the new price bullion valued at $2,056,560 changed hands.

Reach Five Year High.

Bar silver prices reached the highest level in five years in both the New York and London markets. In New York there was a rise of ⅛ cent to 50⅛ cents a fine ounce for old bar silver, while in London the quotation was lifted 3-16 penny to 22⅝ pence a fine ounce.

The treasury has received 90,969,584 fine ounces of silver under the nationalization order of Aug. 9, while 13,601,000 fine ounces of newly mined silver, which is unchanged at 64⅛ cents a fine ounce, has been acquired. All monthly records for silver receipts at the Denver mint were broken in September when 426,249 fine ounces, worth nearly $250,000, were received.

Dollar Loses to Pound.

The dollar gained against the franc but eased against pound sterling in the foreign exchange market here today. The pound rose 1 cent to close at $4.92¾, while the franc dipped ⅜ point to 6.63⅛ cents. The value of the dollar in terms of the franc was 59.08 cents, or 2 points above the new par for the dollar.

The Canadian dollar gained ¼ cent to close at $1.023125, while the German mark rose 2 points to 40.55 cents, and the Italian lira 1½ points to 8.63 cents. The Swiss franc lost 2 points at 32.83 cents, and the Dutch florin 3 points at 68.22 cents.

FEAR EXCHANGE WAR.

[Copyright: 1934: By the New .ork News.]

PARIS, Oct. 2.—Violent currency fluctuations here today has led to an obvious feeling in financial circles that another major exchange movement is under way. This realization is causing distinct anxiety, particularly as the belga is again showing signs of weakness that may well shake the whole gold bloc to its foundation. Only the hope that the movement in question will end when the pound reaches its old dollar parity of $4.3685 is preventing even greater nervousness.

The Belga dropped back to the gold export point of 3.5425 francs today and held there only by official support in London. It is admitted here to be a delicate situation which the French not only are watching anxiously, but very probably attempting to better by material aid.

FDIC CHIEF MUM ABOUT ACTION ON NICHOLS' BANK

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2.—(AP)—L. E. Birdzell, counsel for the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, refused to comment specifically concerning contemplated action in the case of the First National Bank of Englewood, which has refused to become a subscriber to the corporation. J. M. Nichols is president of the bank.

His only comment was: "The regulations formulated are designed to regulate the advertising of banks in the federal reserve. These were promulgated by congress."

Birdzell refused to answer any specific questions concerning action which the corporation might take against the Englewood institution.

CHICAGO AUTO SALES DROP IN SEPTEMBER BUT TOP LAST YEAR

Although registrations of new cars in Cook county last month declined sharply from those of August the total was still ahead of that reported for September, 1933, according to figures tabulated by R. L. Polk & Co. New cars sold last month numbered 4,914, against 6,521 in August and 4,386 in September, 1933. Part of the drop is due to the Labor day holiday and part to seasonal factors.

Of the twenty-five classifications reporting only two reported increases in September over August, one was unchanged, and twenty-three reported drops. Only those makes in the first three positions held the same rank in September as in August. Comparative monthly figures follow:

BANKS INVEST MORE RESOURCES IN U. S. ISSUES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 2.—The first bank statements to appear today displaying condition figures for the end of the third quarter disclosed percentage of resources employed in government securities to have increased compared with June 30 figures. Aggregate amounts of government securities owned were not greatly different in total from those shown at the end of June, which normally is the peak deposit period of the year.

The Bank of New York and Trust company increased its holdings of government obligations from $50,510,011, or 31 per cent of resources, to $53,834,546, which is 32 per cent of total assets.

The New York Trust company increased its investment in government securities from $80,081,992 to $83,591,455 in the quarter, the percentage of its resources so employed rising from 24 to 27 per cent in the period.

The Philadelphia National bank decreased its holdings of government securities in the quarter from $87,078,430 to $83,125,617, but the percentage of resources so employed rose from 22 to 23 per cent.

The Guaranty Trust company, first of the big banks to report, had deposits of $1,181,095,182 on Sept. 30, compared with $1,103,475,411 on June 30, and $1,031,012,304 on Sept. 30, 1933. Total resources were $1,497,373,748, against $1,539,221,443 three months ago and $1,399,406,384 a year ago. Capital and surplus were unchanged at $90,000,000 and $170,000,000.

RUSH TO GET CAPITAL OUT OF CALIFORNIA

EPIC Plan Approval Breaks Bond Prices.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 2.—Liquidation of holdings in California state, county, district and city bonds has caused a shrinkage of more than $50,000,000 in their value since the August primary, reports compiled by San Francisco financial houses show.

They declare that disturbed political conditions in California, due to the Democratic nomination of Upton Sinclair for governor and his advocacy of EPIC [end poverty in California] program are responsible.

The liquidation is in holdings which have an aggregate value of about $1,250,000,000.

Decline Above Average.

"State of California bonds," says a report from William Cavalier and company, "have declined more than six per cent, while bonds of Missouri have declined only 1½ per cent and bonds of Illinois less than 1 per cent.

"In other words, capital is getting out of the bonds of the state and cities of California and is investing elsewhere."

A statement from Blyth and company says "the average twenty year bonds of these classifications, selling at the time of the primary for $1,050, now is around $1,013.

"Under these conditions, attempts to market the $30,000,000 war veterans' bonds and the $24,000,000 of relief bonds proposed by the legislature will mean taking a loss of around $50 a bond, or a total of $2,700,000," the firm declares.

Predict Hasty Removal.

"Capital invested in California securities employing the workers of California and on which the prosperity of merchants and whole communities depends, will move out of California with all possible celerity and into places where the tax burden will not be confiscatory."

The Cavalier report comments as follows:

"Conclusive evidence that the flight of capital from California has commenced is supplied by the comparison of the stock market decline of California issues in municipal bonds, corporation bonds, preferred stocks and common stocks, with the course of prices of comparable eastern issues."

It declares that since the August primary and the Sinclair nomination last month, "the stock market has been generally declining, but California issues have declined out of all proportion with the decline of comparable eastern issues.

New Deal Again Puts Banks on Spot; Perhaps to Get Control

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Are the New Dealers laying a smoke screen preparatory to taking over more complete control of the banks of the nation?

A year and a half ago when the New Dealers were getting ready to run through congress such laws as the securities act of 1933, the Glass-Steagall banking act of 1933, and the securities exchange act of 1934 the stage was properly set by having the senate banking committee put on a series of performances in which the errors and misdeeds of the New Era type of banker were repeatedly and forcefully brought to public attention.

Having created the impression in the minds of many that the American banker was, by definition, a composite of Charles Mitchell, Albert Wiggin, and John Bain, the rest was easy. The electorate, having taken it on the chin in bank closings and having been shown how lightly some bankers regarded their trusteeship, was ready to applaud almost any punishment meted out to bankers as a class.

Now the banker is on the spot again. This time, however, it's the conservative banker—the fellow who kept faith with his depositors and who has sought to protect their money by careful investment.

He's on the spot because New Dealers, with an election coming on, think that the banker isn't lending liberally enough.

First they attacked him for not being careful with his depositors' money and now they criticize him for being careful with it.

But it isn't the banker's cautiousness regarding commercial loans that is going to bring his head under the guillotine. The New Dealers have already begun to soft pedal their criticism in this respect. No less a personage than Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, the nation's biggest banker, has already whitewashed the banking fraternity in this respect by agreeing with the bankers that the failure of bank loans to expand is due to disinclination of business men to borrow rather than unwillingness of bankers to lend.

No. The big argument will come when the bankers begin to ease up on their purchases of government bonds. That touches the very heart of the New Deal, because already other classes of investors in government bonds have taken to the woods and left the banks as practically the only agency upon which the government can dump its paper.

President Roosevelt in his radio speech Sunday night fired what may be the opening gun in a movement to increase federal control of banks to the point where their investment policies are directed from Washington. There have been rumors for weeks that such a movement is under way.

The President, although avoiding direct criticism of American banks in this respect, spoke of the patriotism of the British banks in supporting their government bond market. Recalling the success of the British government's bond conversion operation, he said: "And let it be recorded that the British bankers helped."

The implied criticism which they see in this remark has stirred the ire of bankers throughout the United States. They regard it as a very unfair attack in view of the fact that American banks now hold nearly 40 per cent of the government's debt, whereas it is estimated that British banks hold not more than a tenth of their country's national debt.

In other words, banks of the United States have backed up their government four times as far as the British bankers have backed up theirs.

There is, however, a limit, and if the government of the United States continues spending billions in excess of income it is only a question of time before the banks will arrive at a point where they are unwilling to load up with more government bonds. Already more than a third of their deposits are tied up in such paper.

Thus, either one of two things must happen if the government keeps on spending billions more than it takes in.

1. The banks will get to the point where they refuse to buy more bonds, or,

2. The government will obtain such complete control over the banks that it will be able to "persuade" them to continue plugging up the federal deficits despite their own better judgment.

The move to extend federal control over the reserve banks is a step in this direction. It is reported that New Deal spokesmen are prepared to demand that the treasury have the power to name the governors of reserve banks and to tell the reserve banks how many government bonds to buy.

Should the government get that much power over the reserve banks it would not need to extend its control over the commercial banks. The reserve banks could be made to buy government bonds indefinitly and print money against them.

That, of course, would be inflation of the greenback variety.

STEEL INDUSTRY, UNION AT GRIPS ON BARGAINING

Authority of Labor Board Challenged.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Management and labor in the steel industry came to grips today with a vice president of the United States Steel corporation defending the employé representation plan against a charge that the system is "a nullification of the rights of union workers to self-organization."

ARTHUR H. YOUNG. [Assoc. Press Photo.]

Arthur H. Young told the National Steel Labor board that he devised the representation plan now in effect in 165 mills of the steel corporation and its subsidiaries as a "legal vehicle for collective bargaining." He appeared as a witness for the company after Charlton Ogburn, counsel for the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel, and Tin Workers, charged the plan "impeded the progress of the workers."

Challenges Board's Authority.

Almost at the outset, Attorney R. E. Desvernine for the corporation, challenged the board's authority, saying: "We want it understood we are not submitting to any jurisdiction by this board."

The dispute which the steel board has been asked to settle, the first in which a United States Steel corporation subsidiary has been involved since enactment of NRA regulations, came from union workers in the steel community of Duquesne, Pa., near Pittsburgh.

Members of the Amalgamated employed at Duquesne by the Carnegie Steel company, a United States Steel subsidiary, asked the board to authorize a secret, government supervised election, to choose representatives of the workers to deal with the company. Attorney Ogburn charged a "company union," the Amalgamated's term for the employé representation group,

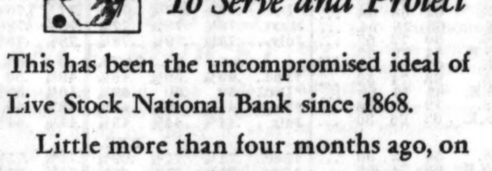
TRUE TO AN IDEAL.

A word of thanks.. and an invitation



To Serve and Protect

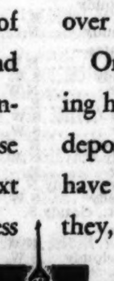
This has been the uncompromised ideal of Live Stock National Bank since 1868.

Little more than four months ago, on Sunday morning following the disastrous stock yard fire of May 19th, a depressing sight met the eyes of managing officials. A chaotic mass of debris, four walls—little more. Over it all, fire scarred but inspiring, stood the famous clock tower, a mute reminder of an ideal to be fulfilled.

There followed twenty-four hours of inspired activity. Over wooden counters and borrowed furniture, behind boarded windows and hastily erected partitions, in these very quarters, business was resumed the next morning without loss of a single business hour. Before the embers had cooled, reconstruction began. A banking home was restored! Strikingly though conservatively modern . . . equipped with the latest developments in banking systems. A home that expresses the fine financial service rendered within.

Much to the regret of the management, little inconveniences that could not be helped were suffered by depositors. But they showed great patience, great faith, great loyalty. To the $11,000,000 they had on deposit at the time of the fire, they have added $6,000,000 more, to increase the bank's deposits by more than $12,000,000 in little over a year.

On Thursday, October 4, this new banking home will be dedicated to the service of depositors. The management would like to have you visit the bank on this day so that they, in friendly greeting and spoken word, can personally express their appreciation and gratitude for your loyalty and patience. Won't you try to come?



The LIVE STOCK NATIONAL BANK of Chicago

UNION STOCK YARDS

1917 1934

Chicago's unique Bank

This is the only bank in Chicago—and in the State of Illinois—which confines its lending activities to making personal time loans, from $50 to $5,000 or even more—to meet the needs and desires of salaried people, wage earners, professional and business men. We make these loans on liberal terms and at a moderate cost. You may put up marketable collateral or give us your own note signed by two friends—the best backing in the world.

An Object of this Bank

To provide an appropriate banking atmosphere—and an effective plan—where the citizen of character of this community may borrow liberal amounts—on liberal terms—at a moderate cost—for stress or strain . . . convenience . . . or to make something more of his opportunities.

Of course you know that we moved from the corner of Madison and Clark to a new address—Eighty One West Monroe—where all departments and our entire staff are on one floor and where we aspire to be a bank of even greater usefulness than ever before.

STOCKS MANAGE MILD RECOVERY IN DULL TRADE

Price Range Is Narrowest in Many Weeks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 2.—Fractional recoveries were made by the majority of stocks figuring in today's extremely dull proceedings on the New York share exchange. Evidence of special interest, however, was almost totally lacking, and the trading range was the narrowest for a full five hour session in many weeks. The turnover fell to 371,170 shares.

Exceedingly thin markets were uncovered in a scattering of less active shares, causing some rather sharp price swings on nominal turnovers. Sloss-Sheffield encountered such a scarcity of bids when pressed for sale that it fell over 9 points before finding a taker and was never able to get much above the low this registered. Midland Steel Products preferred tumbled six points, but recovered about half its loss on desultory trading later.

Two Issues Rise Sharply.

Bohn Aluminum and Brass and Cluett Peabody rose more than 3 points each in light dealings.

Metal stocks provided the nearest approach to a feature. Their show of fresh strength after yesterday's sinking spell, attributed in some quarters to the statement of Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau to the effect that this government's silver policy will remain unchanged in spite of the sharp rise in prices for the metal here and abroad, and in the face of China's protest.

U. S. Smelting was active as the group leader and at one time was up about 3 points, but showed only about half this improvement when the closing gong sounded. American Smelting and Howe Sound recovered nearly a point each, while Dome and McIntyre, among the gold miners, rose about a point.

Farm Implements Firmer.

Farm implements ignored the break in wheat to trail along on the advance after a fashion. The net gains of both Case and International Harvester however were confined to all fractions.

Merchandise shares were prominent at times, although none of them displayed any great activity.

Pivotal stocks were content as a rule to hold firm, U. S. Steel and others getting barely a half point from their bases at their best. Some of the liquors met with fair demand, notably National Distillers. Food and tobacco stocks more than held their own.

In the automotive group Chrysler was active in the early dealings but eased to around its starting point in the afternoon. Utilities were unable to attract a following and the oils also were onlookers.

AM. SMELTING PAYS ARREARS ON 7% SENIOR STOCK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 2.—Directors of the American Smelting and Refining company today cleared up all arrears on the 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock with the declaration of an extra dividend of $2.50 in addition to the regular quarterly payment of $1.75.

The company paid a dividend of $4.50 on this issue on Sept. 1 on account of accumulations, which reduced the total to $2.50. Today's disbursement, payable Dec. 1 to holders of record Nov. 9, clears all arrears and leaves the way open for payments on the 6 per cent second preferred.

Arrears on the later issue totaled $12 a share as of June 1. No payments could be made toward eliminating these accumulated dividends until all arrears on the 7 per cent preferred stock had been cleared.

The Newmont Mining company voted a dividend of 50 cents a share on the common stock, payable Oct. 31 to holders of record Oct. 16. In April this year a similar payment was made. The company pointed out that the distribution was to be regarded as payment from earned surplus and was not to be construed as the establishment of a regular dividend basis.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was unchanged today, although it developed that sales of Cubas from store yesterday were made at an advance of 1-32c or at 3c duty paid. The transactions amounted to 21,000 bags, and today an additional 28,000 bags were sold at the same level to local refiners.

After holding steady during the forenoon, futures eased as demand slackened and liquidation increased with the market closing 2 points to 3 points net lower. Sales were 19,600 tons, of which 10,800 were in December. Prices:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. close.
December	1.96	1.96	1.94	1.94	1.96
January	1.93	1.93	1.91	1.91	1.93

July	2.00	2.00	1.98	1.98	2.01
September	2.04	2.04	2.02	2.02	2.04

Refined was reduced 10 points to the basis of 4.65c for fine granulated, but demand was only moderate and mostly of a hand-to-mouth character.

RUBBER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(AP)—RUBBER—Crude rubber futures closed steady, 27@34 points higher. October, *14.46c; December, 14.70@71c; January, 14.08†; March, 15.09@12c. Smoked ribbed spot closed *14.47c. †Bid. *Nominal.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Unfinished cottons were quiet today with prices showing less irregularity and weakness. Finished goods sold in small lots for early shipment. In men's wear fabrics the chief business consists of spot sales of oxfords and other staples. Silk crepes and satins, and rayon sheer fabrics were the best selling gray goods lines in the silk division. Order books for November shipments of rayon yarns opened with trade slow. Burlaps were steady and quiet.

COTTON CLOSES IRREGULAR AFTER EARLY LIQUIDATION

Cotton futures dropped to a new low on the current downturn yesterday, scattered liquidation being in evidence. However, southern hedging pressure was much smaller than of late, and it took but little buying to cause a rally, with the close somewhat irregular. Chicago was 5 points lower to 2 points higher at the close and other markets 4 points higher to 7 points lower. Spot cotton closed unchanged, with New Orleans 12.60 cents; Galveston and Houston, 12.55 cents, and New York, 12.50 cents per pound. Prices follow:

FIELD SEED

Sudan grass seed crop this season is expected to be 50 to 60 per cent below the subnormal production in 1933, according to the department of agriculture. Drouth was the main factor in causing the lower yields, Texas being especially hard hit. Leading Texas seed firms estimates that the latter state may produce 5,000,000 to 15,000,000 lbs. in case of a late frost. Last year the crop was 18,000,000 lbs.

Price per 100 lbs. in car lots in the local market quoted as follows: Red clover, country run, $17.00@19.00; fancy, received, $20.00; alfalfa, Oklahoma, $16.25@16.75; Kansas, $18.00; Utah, $25.50; Idaho, $25.50; Montana, $27.00; certified origin Grimm, $29.00; sweet clover, country run, $7.50@8.00; red top, 90 to 94 per cent purity, $13.00@13.50; timothy seed, country run, $16.00@17.00; fancy recleaned, $19.50.

Soy beans—Leading Chicago interests bidding 79c per bu., f. o. b., Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, and Missouri country points, basis No. 2 yellow for acceptance by 9:30 a. m. today. Mixed and lower grades at discount; seed quality beans higher.

OFFICE OF THE ARCHITECT OF THE CAPITOL, Washington, D. C., September 29, 1934. SEALED BIDS, in triplicate, will be received in this office until 3:00 P. M., October 17, 1934, and then publicly opened for the installation of an underground lawn sprinkler system in the north and south sections of the west lawn area of the U. S. Capitol Grounds, Washington, D. C. Drawings and specifications may be obtained without deposit by qualified intending bidders on application to this office. DAVID LYNN, Architect of the Capitol.

WHEAT BREAKS SHARPLY IN ALL WORLD MARKETS

Winnipeg Shows Most Loss; Chicago Has Rally

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Wheat prices broke sharply yesterday in all principal markets of the world. The most conspicuous weakness was in the Winnipeg market, where the Canadian government has been actively supporting prices for many months.

Wheat crashed 5 cents a bushel in the Canadian market in the early trading on what appeared to be a sudden withdrawal of government support. About half of the loss was recovered before the day ended. The crack in the Winnipeg market indicated that the attempts of the Canadian government to control its crop is rapidly approaching a crisis.

Wheat Below Dollar.

In Chicago all wheat futures closed below a dollar a bushel, but prices were steadier than in any of the other principal markets. December futures sold at the lowest level since July. At the low prices of the day the losses in wheat futures ranged up to 2¼ cents, but before the trading ended all contracts had rallied.

Closing wheat quotations were off only ⅞ to 1¼ cents from Monday's final figures. The close on December wheat was 99¾ cents. Losses of about 2½ cents were chalked up for wheat in Liverpool, Rotterdam, and Buenos Aires.

The break in wheat unsettled other grains in the Chicago market and prices declined. In the corn pit, however, the early losses were erased and futures closed unchanged to ¼ cent higher. December corn finished the day at 78⅝ cents, which does not include the 5 cents tax. Trading in oats and rye was quiet and final prices were only slightly lower, with oats losing ⅛ to ⅜ cent and rye slipping back ⅛ cent.

Watch Canadian Pool.

The sudden reversal in the Winnipeg market, which has shown sustained strength recently in the face of declining world prices, was interpreted by grain men here as indicating that the Canadian stabilization pool is nearing the end of its rope.

The pool has accumulated between 250 and 260 million bushels of wheat and it is not believed that it will be allowed to continue operations on its past scale. The threat of the government to take over the entire marketing machinery in Canada because of the alleged short selling by foreigners was regarded as preparation for alibiing the pool's stabilization failure.

Some hedging in Winnipeg against the Australian crop is believed probable, but not in important volume. The Argentine government is handling that country's wheat and is not hedging in the Canadian market.

Canadian Pool Faces Crisis.

The Canadian government's stabilization attempts, which are reminiscent of the United States farm board's operations, are now facing a crisis largely because of the decline in the prices of Argentine wheat. Prices in Winnipeg are now far out of line with the Liverpool world market and as a result the foreign demand for Canadian wheat has slowed up.

Argentina, meanwhile, has been selling her old wheat abroad. These two countries are the principal exporting nations, and while Canada has been holding up her prices, Argentina has apparently stolen a march on her by disposing of large quantities of wheat in the markets of Europe.

O. K. REFUNDING ISSUE OF BANGOR & AROOSTOOK LINE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 2.—Stockholders of the Bangor & Aroostook railroad authorized yesterday the issuance of bonds under the consolidated refunding mortgage to provide for the refunding of divisional mortgage bonds issued or assumed by the company, according to information received here after the meeting held in Bangor, Me. The new bonds limited to $5,000,000, will be convertible into common stock at $52.50 a share.

It is understood the company intends to put out immediately only about $2,000,000 of the bonds, which will be used to retire the $2,011,000 outstanding 5 per cent first mortgage issue of the Northern Maine Seaport Railroad company, maturing on April 1, 1935.

Other divisional bonds planned to be refunded later include the $866,000 first mortgage 5 per cent of the Medford Extension, the $1,188,000 first mortgage bonds of the St. John River Extension and the outstanding $1,122,000 first mortgage 5 per cent bonds of the Washburn Extension.

SEE ELIMINATION OF LUMBER CODE MINIMUM PRICES

Washington, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Elimination of minimum price fixing provisions of the lumber code was predicted by lumbermen here today on the eve of a meeting of members of the industry in Chicago. While code officials refused to discuss the problem of prices, a source of considerable trouble during the past few months, it was predicted minimum cost protection prices of the code would be one of the chief subjects discussed at the Chicago meeting which opens tomorrow.

Official announcement of the gathering said it was for the purpose of coordinating various divisions of the authority, but there was a general opinion among some members of the industry that it was probable the minimum price provisions would be eliminated.

W. F. Hall Printing Makes Changes in Official Staf

Frank R. Warren has been elected chairman of the executive committee of the W. F. Hall Printing company and Hadar Ortman has been elected to succeed Mr. Warren as president, it was announced yesterday. Mr. Ortman was formerly director of operations and f[illegible]e of the Meredith Publishing company, Des Moines, Ia.

Winnipeg Grain Market Silent on Threat to Probe Activities

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—The Winnipeg grain exchange is not issuing any statement in regard to John I. MacFarland's request for government investigation into alleged heavy selling of futures on Winnipeg grain exchange and does not intend to issue one for the present, Roy Milner, president of Winnipeg grain exchange tonight told the TRIBUNE correspondent.

"We have not called meetings to discuss the issue nor do we intend to call one," he said. "We have not been asked by MacFarland or the Canadian government for any statement and until we are asked we intend to mind our own business of trading in grain in the best markets available," declared Milner.

Expect Resumption of Support.

MacFarland withdrew his support today from the Winnipeg market and wheat prices broke 3 cents. It is believed however, the government will insist he continue his support.

Winnipeg grain men are convinced that an investigation such as MacFarland suggests would reveal Argentina as the source of heavy selling. They are equally convinced that Canadian operators would be found responsible for no more than normal volume of selling.

Grain men here say that the Dreyfus grain firm of Paris practically controls Argentina's crop. They point out that it was the Argentine that broke up the last wheat conference.

H. H. Stevens, Canadian minister of trade and commerce, stated MacFarland's request for governmental investigation into short selling on the Winnipeg grain exchange would naturally receive his sympathetic and close consideration, adding that any investigation which MacFarland asked should be granted.

Mr. MacFarland's contention is known to have been that he should not be obliged to take all the hedges in the market, but that private grain traders should carry their share. MacFarland is believed to be dangerously near his limit in support of Winnipeg prices.

British Traders Indignant.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 2.—Inclusion of the Liverpool grain exchange in the proposed investigation created indignation here today. Redmayne Jones, president of the Liverpool Corn exchange, declared no government inquiry necessary. Liverpool is a hedging market for millers and merchants throughout the world and there is no unwarranted short selling, he asserted. Present low prices are due to operations of the French government and weakness of the Argentine market, he said.

MARSHALL FIELD ABSORBS 17 OF ITS SUBSIDIARY UNITS

Now Operate Divisions as Departments.

The Chicago Stock Exchange has been notified by Marshall Field & Co., of a general reorganization of its subsidiary companies. The company sometime ago announced that it was reorganizing its subsidiaries to make them departments of the parent company instead of separate units, each with its own officers.

The report to the stock exchange stated that the Silk Textile corporation, a New Jersey corporation, was dissolved in December, 1933, and its assets, which consisted of land and buildings, were sold just prior to the dissolution of the corporation.

It stated that fifteen other subsidiary corporations ceased operations on May 31, 1934 and assets and liabilities were transferred to Marshall Field & Co., an Illinois corporation, which will continue to conduct the business formerly done by the subsidiaries.

The fifteen are: Carolina Cotton and Woolen Mills company, Davis company, Marshall Field Mills corporation [Illinois], Marshall Field Mills corporation [Pennsylvania].

Also Stanford Williams company, Thread Mills company, United Garment Manufacturing company, Marshall Field & Co. [Delaware], Rau & Co., Star Dry Goods company, Arnold Dry Goods company, King Dry Goods company, Phelps Store company, Schaller's and the South Dakota Dry Goods company.

The report also revealed that Marshall Field & Co. [California], transferred its assets and liabilities to the parent company and that the name of the subsidiary known as the Karastan Rug Mills, Inc., was changed on June 1, 1934 to Woven Fabrics corporation.

BUSINESS SLUMP FORCES MERGER OF BROKER FIRMS

Merger of the brokerage firms of Livingston and Co. and Abbott, Proctor and Paine, effective, November 1, was announced last night. The consolidation is taking place because of the reduced volume of business on the stock exchange according to officials of the firms.

All present partners of Abbott, Proctor and Paine will join the consolidated firm as partners. The following partners of Livingston and Company will be partners in the consolidated organization: Gerald W. Livingston, Walter W. Price, William S. Gilbert, John B. Finnerty, John L. Clark, Martin C. Lee, Peter H. Troy and Ross H. Walker.

Brokerage facilities now offered the public are far in excess of the demand, Mr. Price stated, adding that adjustment of the machinery to the volume of the business available appeared to be wise course.

RFC INTEREST CUT FAILS TO AID STOCKS OF BANKS

Bank stocks failed to respond yesterday to the reduction in interest rates on preferred stock and capital notes purchased by the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The cuts, put into effect by the RFC in a new move to stimulate loans to industry, will result in substantial savings to banks affected.

Closing prices yesterday on some Chicago bank stocks in which the RFC own preferred stocks, compared with the close Monday, follow: American National, 110, unchanged; Continental Illinois, 35 bid, 36 asked, unchanged; First National, 80 bid, 82 asked, compared with 79 bid and 82 asked.

In New York, Chase National closed at 21¼ bid, 22¾ asked, against 21 bid, 22½ asked; National City, 19½ bid, 21 asked, compared with 19¼ bid, 20¾ asked.

J. P. Warburg to Address Foreign Relations Council

James P. Warburg, vice chairman of the Bank of the Manhattan company and author of "The Money Muddle" and "It's Up to Us," will speak on "America Has Not Yet Chosen" at the Union League club tomorrow noon. He will appear under the sponsorship of Chicago Council on Foreign Relations, and discuss the need for a definite American foreign policy.

Wholesale Commodity Index Highest Since 1930

Reaching the highest point since Sept. 1, 1930, Dun's index of wholesale commodity prices reached $170.032 on Oct. 1. The increase during September amounted to 84.4 cents, or 0.50 per cent, contrasted with a gain of 0.76 per cent during August.

ILLINOIS WHOLESALE ESTABLISHMENTS RISE; BUSINESS VOLUME OFF

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3.—(AP)—The years since 1929 may have made inroads upon Illinois' wholesale business, but the bureau of census announced that the off years have multiplied the places ready for business.

Basing its report upon surveys made in Peoria, Springfield, Rockford, Decatur, and East St. Louis, the bureau said it found there were almost 20 per cent more wholesale establishments. Between them, however, they were doing, especially in 1933, less than half the business they did in 1929.

Greatest volume of net sales was made by the 251 establishments in Peoria, which sold $53,795,000 worth of goods. There were 16.7 per cent more places than in 1929, and the 251 establishments did 45.5 per cent less business.

The census of American business was conducted by the bureau with funds supplied by the Civil Works administration. Every city, county, and state has been covered collecting data for 1933, it was said, for communities having a population of 50,000 or more.

EPSTEIN OFFERS PLAN TO SPEED INDUSTRY LOANS

Max Epstein, chairman of the advisory board on loans to industry for the seventh Federal Reserve district, yesterday explained to his colleagues the details of a plan which he presented at a meeting in Washington last week through which it is hoped to stimulate the making of small loans to industry and business. The meeting was attended by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, member of the Federal Reserve board and chairman of the advisory committees of the federal reserve districts.

"The present machinery for making small loans under the reserve board's program is not entirely satisfactory and I believe that my plan will correct the defects," said Mr. Epstein, who is chairman of the board of the General American Transportation corporation. "It was well received and I believe that it will be approved."

Mr. Epstein is now going over applications from industries and business for capital loans through which it is hoped to create greater industrial activity and employment. The banks generally have been cool toward the efforts of the reserve board to assist in the extension of such loans, saying that with their coffers choked with money which they would be glad to put to work but cannot find safe loan prospects.

WARNS U. S. MUST PAY ITS DEBTS, BALANCE BUDGET

Debts must be paid, the federal budget balanced and the country must get back to a basis of thrift if real prosperity is to return to the United States, Guy E. Reed, vice president of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, told members of the Grain Market Analysis club at a meeting last night in the Board of Trade grill.

"It is essential that relief rolls be reduced and that people be impressed with the idea that work and savings, not federal doles, form the foundation for success," he assented.

He said if there is no inflation business confidence will be restored and a profit basis again will be regained which will carry commodity prices higher. If further inflation is resorted to people will get rid of their money by placing it in commodities, which will in turn increase business activity, he believes. Reed lauded efforts of the administration in securing reciprocal tarif treaties with foreign nations.

NORTH WESTERN AND NEW HAVEN LOANS APPROVED

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission today announced approval of loans by the Reconstruction Finance corporation of $6,000,000 to the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad and $7,357,000 to the Chicago and North Western railway.

The commission also approved extension for two years of the maturity dates of $12,029,350 already owed to the RFC by the North Western.

The New Haven loan is to be used to help meet obligations during October, November, and December. The loan to the North Western was conditional upon the road paying, extending, or refinancing for two years $5,000,000 which it owes to Kuhn, Loeb & Co. of New York.

STEEL INDUSTRY, UNION AT GRIPS, ON BARGAINING

Hearings Are Started by Federal Board.

Desvernine, consenting to continue with the hearing "informally," pointed out the policy to be pursued in all United States Steel plants with this statement:

"The company is firmly convinced that its plan of employé representation constitutes a fair and impartial arrangement for collective bargaining on the part of all employés, irrespective of their association or nonassociation with any national union. The plan is probably the most forward looking arrangement of its kind in operation in any industrial enterprise."

Vice President Young, who as a boy in 1895 ran errands in Joliet, Ill., echoed these words and asserted he had been told by a member of the old national labor board that three members of that board had termed the employé representation plan as the "fairest ever brought before the board."

Says Labor Approved Plan.

Young said his informer told him of this before the senate committee hearings in Washington on the Wagner labor control bill and he named the three members as William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor; Senator Robert F. Wagner, "and Father Haas."

Chairman Walter P. Stacy of the steel board asked Young if employés had authority to negotiate contracts with the company under the representative plan. Young replied he knew of no contracts but denied the system involved a "company union."

"Unless they have power to make a contract would they be recognized by law as collective bargaining agents?" Chairman Stacy asked.

"I believe they [committees named by the workers] are sufficiently authorized to talk for the men," said Young.

Young Has Snappy Retort.

Henry A. Wiley, another member of the board, said:

"Don't you think that congress knew what it was doing when it put the words 'collective bargaining agency' in its legislation?"

With a wry smile, Young replied: "I am a Republican. Surely you don't want me to tell you what I thought of that last congress."

While not threatening to fight an election if one is ordered, Attorney Desvernine said the company "is constrained to deny the jurisdiction, power and authority of this board," and further:

"However, whilst the company cannot consent to join issue before the board with unnamed parties with whom it has no controversy, it is willing, with the full reservation of its constitutional and legal rights, informally to meet with the board and aid it in any way within its power in establishing the facts."

In effect, the statement by representatives of the employé group set out the same points.

Company Answers Union.

The Amalgamated contention that company unions do not give the men the full right of collective bargaining was denied both by the company's attorney and counsel for the employé group.

In its petition for an election the Amalgamated raised nine reasons for it, chief of which were attacks on the merits of the company union; that the Amalgamated has more than 50 per cent of the employés; that there is a "spirit of unrest in this plant which an election will allay."

The company answered in a six point reply, which set out that there is no dispute between the company and its employés; that the company has not refused to meet and collectively bargain with any of its employés.

It also questioned the Amalgamated's petition because no individuals appear as petitioners and cited the adoption of an employé representation plan by more than 87 per cent of said employés "freely and voluntarily."

Ask for Written Brief.

Evidence in the case was closed and attorneys for the three parties interested, the Amalgamated, employés representation group and the company, were instructed to file briefs instead of arguing them orally. A decision will be returned later.

Chairman Stacy remarked, just before adjournment, that the two sides "might not be as far apart as you think."

He said this in reference to a statement by Counsel Desverine that the company has not refused to deal with the Amalgamated representatives. He asked William J. Spang, Amalgamated lodge president, if he would be satisfied without an election, if the company would give the union a contract to cover its members.

"No, sir," Spang replied. "We want majority rule. Unless we get what we want we have but one weapon left—the strike."

Start Wierton Steel Case.

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Charges that the Wierton Steel company effected its employé representation plan by coercive methods were testified to in Federal District court today as the government opened its case to enjoin the company from interfering with the election of representatives by its employés in collective bargaining.

A primary and a general election were held at the Wierton plants last year when representatives of the employés were elected to deal with the company under the so-called company union plan. The case is expected to test the strength of the New Deal's guarantee to labor under the NIRA.

Government attorneys questioned E. T. Weir, chairman of the board of the Weirton Steel company, with a view to establishing that the defendant is engaged in interstate commerce. The company has contended that its relationship with its employés is not of an interstate nature and therefore any laws enacted by Congress affecting that relationship would be unconstitutional.

RUSH TO GET CAPITAL OUT OF CALIFORNIA

Blame EPIC Plan Approval for Bond Price Break.

[which Sinclair predicts] to California spells keener competition for jobs with resultant lower wages and spread of destitution," the report goes on, "while at the same time the flight of capital from California indicates that there will be less wealth to pay the huge taxes which Sinclair intends to exact in order to maintain the increasing numbers of unemployed."

Use 6 Representative Issues.

Six twenty year municipal bonds, considered the most active and most representative, are used to support the declaration that capital is fleeing from the state. They are Los Angeles 4½s, San Francisco 4½s, Oakland 4½s, Sacramento 4½s, State of California 4½s, and East Bay Utility District 5s.

Reports show that bonds of the four principal gas and electric utilities, in which a great amount of the savings of California citizens is invested, have declined more than 7 per cent since Sinclair's nomination Aug. 28, while bonds of such utilities as American Telephone and Telegraph have gained and bonds of Philadelphia Electric have declined only one-half of one per cent.

Cite Comparative Decreases.

Bonds of the Southern Pacific company have declined 4 per cent, but those of the Pennsylvania railroad have gone down only seven-tenths of one per cent.

Among the preferred stocks of utilities those of Pacific Gas and Electric have fallen off 9 per cent; Southern California Edison, 8 per cent; Pacific Lighting, 10, and Los Angeles Gas and Electric, 12.

In the same period preferred stock of Consolidated Gas of New York declined only 1 per cent; Columbia Gas, 5, and Public Service of New Jersey, 1.

A Dow-Jones average shows Pacific coast stocks have declined 6 per cent, but thirty eastern industrials have gone off only 3 per cent.

Ray Riley, state controler, estimates the proposed Sinclair tax program will cost 345 million dollars annually above the present cost of state government.

GRIGSBY-GRUNOW LIQUIDATION TO COMMENCE TODAY

Liquidation of the Grigsby-Grunow company, Inc., will begin today, according to an announcement made yesterday. Assets of the company will be sold under order of the United States District court by Frank M. McKey, trustee in bankruptcy for the concern.

The company distributed over three million radios, eighteen million tubes, and 189,000 refrigerators, and spent more than $20,000,000 in popularizing the name Majestic as applied to its products. Several million dollars have been spent in engineering and research work.

Machinery consists of metal working and wood working machines, tube, enameling, and plating plant. Inventories include made up parts, parts in process, and raw material for radios, refrigerators, and radio tubes. Real estate consists of factory buildings with a floor area of approximately 950,000 square feet.

NEW ALUMINUM PROCESS IS FOUND BY BOHN CONCERN

Development of a process for manufacturing aluminum from alunite ore with potash as a by-product was announced yesterday by the Bohn Aluminum and Brass corporation. This development will provide a source of potash independent of foreign countries. Potash now comes from Germany and South America.

The Bohn process is the result of five years of research and is claimed to provide a higher degree of purity in the metal and at a lower cost. The project involves an investment between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000, it was stated. It is planned to set up a separate company financed by a bond issue and with all common stock owned by the Bohn Aluminum and Brass company.

LIQUIDATION SALE

of GRIGSBY-GRUNOW CO., Inc.

MAKERS OF Majestic RADIOS, TUBES, REFRIGERATORS

By Order of the United States District Court

PURSUANT to an order of the United States District Court, the Trustee in Bankruptcy of the Grigsby-Grunow Company, Inc., offers for sale all of the machinery, equipment, inventory, good will, patents, trade marks and trade names of the Grigsby-Grunow Company, Inc., as well as real estate and buildings used in the manufacture of MAJESTIC radios, tubes and refrigerators.

The machinery consists of the very finest makes of all types of metal working and wood working machinery, also a completely equipped tube plant, enameling plant and plating plant, all of which are in immediate operating condition.

The inventory consists of made-up parts, parts in process and raw materials for radios, refrigerators and radio tubes. The Service Department on all three items has been kept intact.

The good will consists of the name "MAJESTIC" as applied to radios, refrigerators and tubes, which name has been extensively advertised throughout the world, and which name is secured by copyrights in practically every country in the world. Good will also includes many other names, trade names, patents and copyrights.

The real estate consists of factory buildings which have a floor area of approximately 950,000 square feet, and are suitable for almost any type of manufacturing.

The Trustee is authorized to sell at public or private sale, and is now prepared to receive offers for any part or parcels of the assets, which offer if satisfactory will be approved.

Full opportunity will be given to prospective buyers to inspect the assets. Competent salesmen will be in attendance at the plant, 5801 Dickens Avenue, Chicago, Illinois, at all times and an early investigation of the property is solicited.

REFRIGERATION SERVICE DEPARTMENT

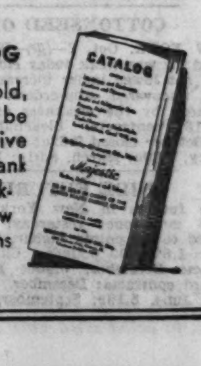
The Trustee, under order of the Court, has set up a Refrigeration Service Department, to maintain service and to sell service parts for refrigerators. This will maintain the name and prestige of "Majestic" before the public and be an asset of major importance to anyone buying the "good will" of the company.

SERVICE PARTS FOR RADIOS

There is on hand a considerable quantity of service parts for radios which are staple merchandise and are being sold to the users of the millions of Majestic radios now in service.

A COMPLETE CATALOG

listing the assets to be sold, has been prepared and will be available to any prospective buyer on request to Mr. Frank M. McKey, Trustee in Bankruptcy, Grigsby-Grunow Company, Inc., 5801 Dickens Avenue, Chicago, Illinois.



HOGS DECLINE ON SELLING OF NEW CROP PIGS

Prices Fall for Fourth Successive Day.

Hog values fell 10 to 15 cents more yesterday to the lowest levels since Aug. 15, showing losses of 65 to 75 cents in four market days. Heavy liquidation of unfinished lights and pigs, which was partly responsible for the drastic slashing of quotations that started Friday showed no signs of abatement yesterday, although total arrivals and tonnage of pork in the receipts were down because of the shortage of "old crop" hogs.

The latter made up only a small share of the receipts. Estimates of the proportion of spring pigs in the run ranged from 70 to 80 per cent, with a big part of them weighing less than 180 pounds. This selling of light weight spring pigs, while temporarily a depressing factor, will eventually result in a shorter supply of pork.

Sees Better Prices in February.

One packer said he looks for higher hog prices in February and March than he does for the remainder of this year, as a result of the liquidation of new crop hogs. He believes that farmers by March 1 will be getting $8 for top hogs, which means that the packers will be paying $10.25 for these kinds, should the present rate of processing tax continue next year.

Selected 225 to 260 pound well fattened hogs topped the price list at $8.60, tax included, of which $6.35 was paid to the farmer, while the bulk, that cost packers $7.50 to $8.40, returned the owner $5.25 to $6.15. Yesterday's droves, tax included, averaged $8.15.

Better action featured cattle, with prices ruling strong to 25 cents higher than on Monday. Many of the best kinds were 25 to 35 cents higher than at the close of last week. Choice medium weight steers averaging 1,222 pounds topped the market at $10.25 and long yearlings averaging 1,092 pounds sold at $9.85.

Bulk Sells at $5.75 to $9.75.

Packers obtained the bulk of the steers of beef merit within a range of $5.75 to $9.75. Some plain quality grassy steers were bought as low as $3 and a few lots of ill bred stock that would yield little beef were bought for less money, in some instances.

Calves brought steady prices, vealers selling at $8.25 and under.

Only 7,000 of yesterday's 29,000 sheep and lambs were commercial stock on the market, and these sold at fully steady prices, with strength evident in some sales toward the close.

A total of 21,000 old sheep arrived for the Federal Surplus Relief corporation yesterday and these are being killed and canned for relief purposes. Packers also had in 1,100 directs of their own. City butchers bought hand picked native lambs upward to $6.75 and packers bought mostly at $6.50 and under.

WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 2.—Only a very limited volume of business is being transacted in the Boston wool market. Woolen mills comprise a large part of the limited current movement. Sales of combing greasy average to good spot 12 months' Texas wools have been reported at 58@63c scoured basis. Lots of similar wools offered direct from the country have sold also at 58@63c scoured basis, delivered east.

LONDON WOOL.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—(AP)—There were 8,516 bales of wool offered at the auction today of which 7,870 were sold. With the good tone being maintained, offerings, including many miscellaneous greasies, were sold mostly to the home trade. The current series will close tomorrow.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2—(AP)—Bleachable cottonseed oil was weak today closing 18 to 20 points net lower under increased liquidation which uncovered stop-orders. Selling was influenced by the weakness of lard. Sales were 137 contracts. Bleachable spot nominal; October closed 7.82c; December, 7.85c; January, 7.89c; March, 8.01c; May, 8.12c.

HIDE FUTURES.

Hide futures in New York developed a firmer undertone yesterday, closing unchanged to 10 points higher. Sales were 40 lots or 1,600,000 pounds. Closing bids—old contracts—December, 6.50c; March, 6.65c; standard contracts: December, 7.55c; March, 7.85c; June, 8.10c; September, 8.35c.

LARD DECLINES TO LOWEST POINT SINCE MID-AUGUST

Liquidation as the result of the break in hogs and grain caused a drop in lard futures yesterday to the lowest levels since the middle of August. Stop loss orders were uncovered on the way down, but cash interests absorbed the offerings and net losses were 10 to 15 cents. Bellies finished 10 cents lower to 12½ cents higher, the former on October. Cash lard was quoted at $9.07; loose at $9.10 and leaf at $9.50 while bellies were held at $14.

Stocks of lard at the 7 leading western packing points decreased 31,452,000 pounds in September, and aggregated 100,600,000 pounds compared with 134,348,000 pounds last year. Meats increased 216,000 pounds and stocks are now 198,592,000 pounds against 263,224,000 pounds last year. Prices follow:

NORTH SIDE RESIDENTS.

This is not a lottery or a game of chance, but it pays better than most lotteries are supposed to—in good, hard money, with checks based on a liberal comm. basis and as sure as each week rolls around—for men who are diligent, vigilant, in their good years, with real family responsibilities!

We have men in this office who started all the way from 4 to 8 years ago, and who have prospered in boom times and depression. We now are ready to talk to a few others who can do equally well, whether they have had electrical unit, service, machinery, or merchandising experience or not. I will be in Room 215 at 1046 Wilson-av., Wed., Oct. 3, at 3 p. m., to talk over details with you.

MEN—I HAVE PLACED 22 MEN IN North Side and North Suburb territories in past few months—men who are making money, are independent, know that they are permanently located. These men enjoy excellent incomes and can depend on their full comm. checks, because the large electrical manufacturing, service and unit company back of them is financially powerful and will spare no investment or pains in putting its men in position to make top earnings.

We shall be glad to discuss locations and all conditions if you will come for an interview to Room 208 at 1753 Howard-st., at 11:00 a. m., Wed., Oct. 3. We are interested only in men prepared to start right in if we come to an agreement.

HELP WANTED—MEN.

Miscellaneous.

THIS INVITATION TO SUCCESS IS ADDRESSED TO WEST SIDE AND WEST SUBURBAN MEN WHO BELIEVE THAT THEY CAN DO WHAT OTHER MEN HAVE DONE IF THEY GET THE SAME OPPORTUNITY!

Mr. S., with positively no knowledge of this type of business, came into this organization a few weeks ago and IMMEDIATELY started to succeed—because he realized that opportunity is not wholesale and that the man who wins must use his head a lot more than his muscles. He has been making from $20.00 to nearly $25.00 a day on the average, with some larger days for the past couple of weeks. He knows he can succeed because he is succeeding, and yet electric. units in this intensive field were as foreign to him as polar snows.

Many others who were strangers to this business a few weeks ago have come close to keeping step with Mr. S., and he is having keen competition for drawing down the largest comm. checks for men here only a short time. Of course, older men in this office naturally expect to do that and better—as you will if you come here with health, strength and that brain of yours functioning along success lines.

The families of the men in this organization are meeting here for their first get together one evening this week for the new Fall season. You would feel proud to have your family in such good company—with such a wealth of reasonable optimism as you find here! There is a success spirit in this business that you will glory in, just because it is here that you can succeed in a big and growing way!

We have set aside from 11:00 a. m. to 3:00 p. m., Wed., Oct. 3, for the interview of interested men. Come within those hours to Suite 329 at 9 So. Kedzie-av. if you are in earnest about succeeding, and have the will to succeed. We can do everything for a man who thinks straight and works consistently, and the sky is absolutely the limit for men of that broad caliber!

COMMONWEALTH EDISON COMPANY

Pick Four Jurors on First Day of Trial of Samuel Insull and 16 Others—Mother of Tragedy Victim Testifies

SAMUEL INSULL, HIS SON, AND FIFTEEN OTHERS PLACED ON TRIAL IN FEDERAL COURT ON CHARGES OF USING THE MAILS TO DEFRAUD INVESTORS. Three pictures of the former utility magnate and his son, Samuel Insull Jr., as they appeared on the first day of their trial before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson. During the day four jurors were accepted by both sides, with the likelihood of completing the panel today. Fifteen other officers and directors of Corporation Securities are on trial with the Insulls. The trial climaxes the affairs of Insull, who fled to Europe after the crash of his empire and was finally captured in Turkey and returned to the United States. (Story on page 1.)

FIRST PICTURES OF FIRE WHICH DESTROYED NOME, ALASKA, AND LEFT HUNDREDS OF RESIDENTS HOMELESS AND PENNILESS. Left: An actual picture of the $3,000,000 blaze in Nome on Sept. 17. It was taken by A. C. Grabbert of Kelso, Wash., a dentist who was in Nome to prospect for gold. He ran for miles along the arctic beach to secure the photograph. At right: Two coast guardsmen with two refugees of the fire who lost their homes and belongings. Aid has been rushed to the stricken community.
